A special STAR telegram from Raleigh announces that the nominees of the Conservative party for all the were yesterday elected.

The Robeson county case came up vesterday in the Convention on the motion of Judge Buxton to seat the Radical delegates. The matter was referred to a committee.

The Radicals started their game of voting for sine die adjournment in the Convention yesterday.

- The Raleigh News says that some of the Radical leaders at Ashevilie invited Mr. Spake, Independent Democratic delegate to the Convention from Jackson county, to a room, and there offered him one of the commissionerships of the W. N. C. R. R. and the Superintendency of the read to support their party in the Convention. Mr. Spake indignantly spurned the offer, and left them with the full knowledge that they had stumbled unawares upon an ionest Democrat. It is said that a very high official repeated these offers after Mr. brake reached Raleigh.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

SECOND DAY.

[Abridged from the Raleigh News.] The roll was called and every man of both parties was found to be there orthereabouts. Balloting commenced. The third was a repetition of the second. On the fourth Dr. Wilcox left Dockery and voted for Gov. Reid. This produced quite a consternation in the Radical ranks, and the "props" went to work with a vim to hold Wilcox. On the fifth Col. Dockery voted for Wilcox as a clincher, but he wouldn't clinch worth a cent; still he voted for Reid. On the sixth. Wilcox received two more votes, but this wouldn't do. He voted this time for Capt. Jarvis, which to the Rads. was " worse and more of it." In the meantime Boyd broke ranks and went for Withers. This was another shell in the camp, and now it became necessary to make parations for a home defense.

After the eighth, ninth, tenth and eleventh ballots, Dockery moved to adjourn to 10 A. M. to-morrow, which was lost by a vote of 85 to 35.

After the announcement of the result of the 11th ballot, Judge Settle, the President pro tem. of the Convention, rose from his seat and said that coming here under the expectation of performing a solitary function, and of doing that speedily, he was not prepared for a long absence from home. He had important business demanding his presence there, but there was another officer of the State government equally authorized with himself to preside until the body elected its permanent President. He would ask the consent of Convention to vacate his seat and yield it to Dr.

W. H. Howerton, Secretary of State. Mr. Turner said that if Judge Settle did vacate his seat he did not see ment of costs. why Dr. Howerton should be called to file the vacancy. He thought the Convention had some right of choice and that it was now in a condition to act for itself. Ex Gov. Reid suggested that if the body proceeded to the election of a temporary President, that sélection would make that officer the permanent presiding officer. There was nothing in the law providing for such a case. The presiding officer must be such as is provided for. Mr. Manning of Chatham, con-purred fully with ex-Gov. Reid that no Bresident could be elected for a temporary purpose without having permanent effect, and joined with that gentleman in requesting that Judge Settle would retain the Chair until the close of the ballot. Julge Settle then said that since the desire had been so strongly ex-

the House whether he should be excused from further attendance on the Convention. He put the question: "All who are in favor of excusing me from presiding over this body will say 'Aye.'" There was a dead silence, broken at length by an explosion of good humored laughter from the whole House, in which the discomfited Judge was compelled to join. Mr. Green remarked, that the moment of silence was the most eloquent he ever knew.

At 1:45 P. M. the roll was called for the twelfth ballot. Edward Ransom (Independent) rose and voted for Dockery (Republican,) and afterwards changed to Hon. D. S. Reid. Governor Reid urged Ransom to change his vote again, and, in deference to the wishes of the people, to take courage and vote for Edward Ransom as the people's choice, clearminor positions in the Convention ly expressed, for President of the Convention. Ransom replied, "He would be governed by considerations of duty.

Edward Ransom rose from his seat and said : "This balloting has gone on long enough. I have not sought this po sition; I do not desire it; I have cast my vote twice to defeat myself; but the people seem to desire that this Convention shall be organized. I have made every effort to effect a compromise; failing in this, I now cast my vote, let the consequences be what they will, for Edward Ransom. of Tyrell county, as president of this Convention." Dockery then voted for Plato Durham (Democrat). Result of fourteenth ballot : Ransom, - A special telegram from High | 60; Dockery, 58; Durham, 1. Hon. Escape of Eight Prisoners from the County Jail-The Jailor Overpower ed by Two of the Prisoners-Recapture of Five-Two Surrounded in s

Yesterday afternoon, about a quarter to 4 o'clock, the County Jailor, Daniel Howard, colored, went to the jail for the purpose of bringing out one Tamer Gardner, who wished to take the insolvent oath, and had stopped inside the room or corridor in which a number of the prisoners were congregated, when just as he had called to the Turnkey, a boy, to open the door, he was suddenly seized by Levi Pope and Jesse Nixon, two powerful men, and in the struggle that ensued eight of the prisoners, including the two mentioned, dashed out at the door. Wellington Howard, one of the prisoners, was captured by the jailor just as he was mounting the steps to a platform on the east side of the juil, from which the remainder succeeded in reaching the feuce, only a few feet off, over which they jumped and effected their escape. The jailer mounted a horse and quickly started in pursuit of the fugitives, followed soon after by Deputy Sheriff Morris and others. Charles Gaston ran in the direction of Chesnut street and was captured by Capt. Robert McKenzie, of the police force, in few minutes after his escape.

Jesse Nixon, one of the party who as saulted the jailor, was captured in the woods near the toll house, after being run down by Messrs. Thos. H. Johnson and Thos. H. Howard, who gave chase on Here a case of mistaken identity occurred, Whitney taking Gibson to be the prisoner, and quite a struggle ensued between them before the matter was fully explained and understood.

This completes the list of captured far, but at last accounts Deputy Sheriff Morris had two more of them surrounded in a swamp in the rear of Mr. Wm. A. Wright's place just east of the city. Deputy Sheriff Morris and Jailor Howard displayed much zeal and energy in their efforts to re-capture the runaways, returning from the chase just at twilight.

The names of the prisoners who either escaped or attempted to escape are as follows: Levi Pope, from Pender county; Jesse Nixon, Samuel Jones, Samuel Johnson, Charles Gaston, Washington Joy (of Pender county), Thomas Nichols, Henry Board. Langston, Wellington Howard.

The following were recaptured: Chas Gaston, Jesse Nixon, Ben Jones, Henry Langston and Wellington Howard.

The "Love Vine."

We were shown yesterday a specimen of what is known as the "Love Vine," which came from Wrightsville Sound, or somewhere in the neighborhood. The vine derives its name from a tradition to the effect that if thrown over the shoulder by a lover desirous of knowing the exact state of feeling with which he is regarded by his charmer, and the vine should grow where it falls, it would be an evidence of the warmest attachment on her part, while if it should not grow the reverse would be the case. A peculiarity of this vine is that it has no root, but grows spontaneously on vines, bushes, shrubbery, &c., has even been known to

was a certain amount of moisture existing beneath: but it has no actual contact with the ground, and is in no way dependent upon it for sustenance, except so far as the said moisture which may exist below it is concerned. But the "Love Vine" before us is an object of curiosity separate and distinct from any heretofore known, in that it is adorned with a flower, a circumstance, we are told, which has never before been known in the history of thistraditional specimen of Botanical research and investigation. A number of our oldest citizens, to whom the vine has been familiar, agree as to this fact.

food for reflection to our naturalists, should there be any such among us. And now the growing columns of advertisements under this head begin to be om inous of impending change. | Quiet citizens contemplate with anguish the next approach of the trials and discomforts ofmoving-day, and bustling matrons begin to enjoy the excitement of house-hunting, and every one who is to move seems to have an impression that the next year's dwelling will be in all points a model of comfort, where all the petty annoyances which have pertained to the present res-
