Mr. Turner said it was his pleasure to introduce to the Convention his newly elected colleage, Mai. W. N. Patterson, and would ask that the oath of office be now administered to the delegate.

Maj. Patterson went forward to the clerk's desk, and was regularly sworn in as a delegate from Orange

The ordinance to reduce the num ber of Supreme Court Judges to three instead of five taken up on its third reading, and passed by a vote of 55 to 26.

The following Republicans voted for the ordinance: Messrs. Bean, Bowman, Boyd, Kerr, Lowe, McCandless, Wilcox and Woodfin.

Mr. Boyd moved to reconsider the vote by which the ordinance passed its third reading. Mr. Manning, of Chatham, moved to table the metion to reconsider.

The motion prevailed. The substitute for the ordinance in regard to the reduction of Superior Court Judges, providing for nine judicial districts, to be diminished or increased by the Legislature.

Mr. Badger offered an amendment as follows: "But the General Assembly shall not abridge the term of office and judges except by impeachment." He afterwards withdrew it on the promise that the idea of his amendment should be incorporated in the bill of rights. Mr. Bowman offered an amendment to strike out the section permitting the General Assembly to increase the number of districts. He was opposed to the flexible language of the ordinance, and could not see that the object sought to be accomplished, viz: economy, could be obtained if the General Assembly was left with the power to increase at

Mr. Manning, of Chatham, opposed the amendment. He said the Commattee in reporting the substitute took into consideration the fact that in after years the increase of population in the State would demand an increase of the judicial circuits, and the General Assembly in its wisdom could provide for the demand and the necessity of calling a Convention or altering the Constitution by the expensive process of Legislative en-

Mr. Barringer favored the substitute and opposed the amendment, but gave notice of an amendment requiring its reference to the committee for revision before final adoption.

Mr. Jarvis stated that there was a ready a provision in the rules requiring every ordinance adopted to be referred to a special committee, co.n. posed of the chairmen of all committees, for revision. Mr. Barringer then withdrew his amendment.

Pending further discussion, Mr. Singletary called the previous ques-

A Colored Man Who Never Voted the Republican Ticket - The Reason

Why. There is an old colored man living at or near Rockingham, Richmond county, formerly belonging to Col. Leake, of that county, who answers to the name of Mabrey Leake. He is a man of more than ordinary intelligence and before the war was one of the trusted servitors of his master, who allowed him certain privileges not enjoyed by the servants generally. Through this means The ordinance providing for the the old man was able, by the exercise of the proper energy and economy, and after some years of patient industry, to accumulate nearly $800 in money. This amount, some time after the war commenced, he converted into silver and gold. Somewhat unexpectedly as well as unfortunately for him, when Sherman's gallant cavaliers went through that section some of them paid him a visit, having heard, perhaps, that he was the happy possessor of the small fortune alluded to, and when they departed from poor Mabrey Leake's hospitable domicil they bore with them the hard-earned accumulations of his labor and toil, leaving him only about $3 60 in money, his watch and pen knife. The old man called upon the officer in command of the detachment in that neighborhood and stated his grievances, telling him that his men had taken everything he had, with the exceptions mentioned. The officer asked the man if $3 60 was all be had left. "All!" replied he, taking the amount from his pocket and placing it in the palm of the officer's hand, which was extended towards him.

"And your watch and knife were all the trinkets they left you, were they?" asked the officer.

"My watch and knife were all," replied the old man as he took them from his pocket aud placed them also into his hand .-That comprises everything of value your men left me. I have labored hard and saved closely to get a little something together to keep me in my declining years and they have taken all but these."

"Well, replied the brave soldier, we are fighting for you, and such small favors as you have been able to grant us serve to compensate in some measure for what we have done, and are now doing, for your race."

With these sage but not very consoling remarks the officer dismissed the old man, not forgetting before doing so, however, to exchange shoes with Mabrey, who had on a very fine pair he had recently pur-

And from that day to this, it is said, if you want to make Mabrey Leake mad ask him if he votes the Republican ticket.

The Telegraphic Line to amithville. The work of laying the telegraph line from Wilmington to Smithville was commenced yesterday afternoon. The line connects with the Signal office in the 4th story of the New Hanover Bank building, from thence crosses Princess street, follows it to Water street, and runs from thence to the foot of Market street. From this point a submarine or cable line will be laid across the Cape Fear River, then from the opposite side of the Cape Fear to Brunswick River, which will be spanned by the wire and from that point it will be continued to Smithville by the old county road. It is expected that the line will be completed to Smithville by the 15th of October, when an office will be established at that place im-

One Betty Faisen, colored, became offended with Julia Ford, also colored, on Saturday night, and cursed and abused her very earnestly, following up the war of words with an assault upon her with a bottle, with which she inflicted some quite severe wounds upon the arm and other portions of the body of the unfortunate Julia. A warrant was subsequently issued for Betty Faison and she was arrested and lodged in the Guard House the same night. Taking advantage of the latter's mcarceration, Julia Ford, on Sunday night, waylaid Betty Faison's little sister and gave her a severe beating out of revenge for her own treatment by the aforesaid Betty; thereupon a friend of the latter had a warrant issued for the arrest of Julia Ford.

Both parties were arraigned before Mayor Canaday yesterday morning, resulting in a judgment for $50 and the costs or thirty days on the streets, as to Betty Faison, while Julia Ford was ordered to pay a fine of $10 and costs or work for ten days on the streets.

A Disappointment.

A half hour's work by for it was a staid and highly respected citicall down the blessings of many daily other night and saw the street car at some little distance. He thought he could catch it, but it would take a run. And run he did, with the result of very rapidly drawing near to the desired object. But then came a disappointment. The car had been all the time coming towards him. As he turned sadly back a number of boys along the street, taking no account of the fact that the best of us will occasionally make mistakes, set up a noisy laugh, but the gentleman did not think it worth while to pay any attention to it, and passed on.

Papers Returned.

The valuable papers stolen from the office of Mr. Daniel O'Connor a week or two since, consisting of notes, due bills, &c., mention of which was made in this paper at the time, were all returned to the office at some time on Saturday evening last, during his absence and without his knowledge.

Hall last evening. On motion of Dr. W. E. Freeman, Col. Jno. McRae was called to the chair and Mr.

Wm. Larkins requested to act as Secretary. The Chairman explained the object of the meeting to be the consideration of the excessive tax levied by the county: Mr. S. N. Martin then addressed the meeting on the subject under consideration and concluded by moving for a recess of five minutes for consultation, which was adopted. At the expiration of the recess Mr. Martin presented the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted as the sense of the meeting.

Resolved, That a committee of six be ap-pointed by the Chair, with power to act at once if in its judgment it is desirable to commence legal proceedings to enjoin the collection of all taxes levied by the County Commissioners of New Hanover on the city of Wilmington which are in excess of the limit prescribed by law. Highway Robbery on a Small Scale One of the members of the police force, who was off duty at the time, informs us that he was taking a walk in the extreme southern portion of the city on or near Fifth street, on Saturday, when he suddenly beard the cries of some person apparently in distress, almost immediately followed by the appearance of a small colored boy, who stated, amid cries and sobs, that he had just encountered a colored girl who knock ed him down and robbed him of 50 cents which he had in his pockets. The officer instantly started for the scene of the robbery, which was near by, but was just in time to see the girl, who was apparently nearly grown, making the best sort of time in an opposite direction. He gave chase and kept up the pursuit until he reached Orange street, when he found that the girl had so far outstripped him in the race that he concluded it was useless to pursue her further. We learn that several robberies of the same character have occurred in that vicinity lately, and there are reasons for supposing they were committed by the same

Chief Engineer of the Fire Depart-The Board of Aldermen met yesterday afternoon and elected Col. Roger Moore Chief Engineer of the Fire Department. Not a few were the disappointments of Sunday. It was just the hour for morning services in the churches when the rain commenced to come so gently down. Those who had gone early were caught in the rain on their return home, and those who in tended to go late couldn't go at all. Then in the evening the sky looked threatening at the hour for service and most people concluded it would not be prudent to venture out; and then the perverse clouds didn't rain a drop after all, and everybody sat at home over their dull books and generally went to bed indulging a pretty bad Sunday humor. There is also, we understand, a large amount of freight coming this way, consisting of cotton and other products from the interior.
