THE GRAND LODGE.

Among the Hospitable Fayetteville-ians. FAYETTEVILLE, Sept. 29. Editor Sentinel: It is my purpose in this communication to give you a brief outline of the Grand Lodge and what it has done up to this time, and in another to devote more time to the proceedings proper. We left Raleigh Monday afternoon, the 27th, at 4 o'clock, and after a dusty and wearisome ride of five hours, landed in

THE ANCIENT BUT FINE CITY of Fayetteville. We were met at Sanford by a committee of Refuge Lodge, No. 25, in whose care we arrived safe. At the depot we were met by Good Templars, and headed by the LaFayette Silver Cornet Band, formed in procession and marched to the lodge room and from thence dispersed to homes assigned as among the hospitable citizens. At the lodge room a short speech of welcome was made by brother Benj. Robinson, of Refuge Lodge, No. 25, which was responded to by brother N. B. Broughton in his usual pleasant style.

A night of rest brought Tuesday morning, and the hour of opening of the Grand Lodge. At 10:30 o'clock the G. W. C. T., brother N. B. Broughton, called the Grand Lodge to order. The Committee on Credentials made a report which is too long for this short sketch. The meeting is a large one, embracing

REPRESENTATIVE MEN from all sections of the State, north, south, east and west, sending good and working members. I can truthfully say that it is thus far the most harmonious session of the Grand Lodge, and it is indeed a grand body. We have with us brother J. J. Hickman, of Kentucky, who presides over the deliberations. I cannot say too much of the kind welcome we have received at the hands of the good citizens of Fayetteville. They have, indeed, Study in Development. According to Darwin, the human race has probably been much improved by the continued selection of such of its early progenitors as, having large property in dogs, etc., were thereby enabled to move easily provide for the wants of their families. In that view of the case, some people living east of Seventh street ought to be among the most highly improved, thrifty and luxurious members of the race. We nightly hear the canine prelude, interlude and chorus ringing shrill, clear and voluminous away out in that direction, about supper time.

An Old Case. A colored man by the name of James H. Moore, who had lost a valuable ox by being run over by a locomotive on the C. C. Railway, had a warrant issued against the President of the Company yesterday, claiming as damages the sum of $500. The case will come up before Justice Gardner this morning.

Local Boats.

Probably rain to-day. — The colored firemen were out on parade yesterday afternoon. — Messrs. John A. Woody and J. H. Currie have formed a co-partnership in the commission business. — We learn that Miss Bradley, Principal of Tileston Normal School, is expected to arrive this evening or to-morrow. — John Loquar, white, and Simon Richardson, Richard Sherwood and Jeffrey Wise, colored, left the police force yesterday. — Capt. Pennypacker, lessee of the Opera House, has had an inquiry from John E. Owen, the celebrated comedian, who, if he stops here at all, will probably fill an engagement on the 9th inst.

The Board took a recess until Wednesday at 10 o'clock A. M.

Attacked by a Snake—Miraculous Escape—Death of the Reptile—Killing to Boys.

A number of white boys were out in the woods just beyond the Western place, formerly the Scheele place, gathering chinquapins on Sunday afternoon, when, the party having separated, one of the little fellows was suddenly heard to cry out as if in great alarm, shout "murder," "help," and other such exciting and startling ejaculations. The other boys, who were not far off, hastened in the direction of the sound and soon found one of the smaller boys perched upon a fence, trembling and crying with fright, while coiled upon the ground by the fence was a huge snake. An elder brother of the little boy, who had outstayed the others, was standing close by with a stick, and upon receiving the reinforcement a simultaneous attack was made upon the serpent by himself and the largest of the other boys and he was soon dispatched. It appears that the little boy, while looking for chinquapins, was suddenly attacked by the reptile, which ran up his body and wound itself round his leg. He shouted and kicked with all his might and finally succeeded in freeing himself from the snake's embrace, when he hastily sprang upon the fence. The snake was subsequently measured, a carpenter's rule being used for the purpose, and found to be exactly four feet and nine inches in length, while its circumference could not have been less than four inches. The serpent was pronounced by some to be a horned snake and by others a "stinger." The boys say that before he was entirely extinct they pressed upon his tail with a stick when a sharp, slender object, something in the shape of a needle, protruded about three or four inches. The escape of the little boy, under the circumstances, is almost miraculous, and the incident should serve as a warning to boys generally and cause them, if they will go in the woods, to be careful and watchful lest they get in a similar scrape and not get out of it in such a healthy condition.

Friday, October 23d.

If our judgment of the result likely to follow the due adaptation of means to ends is not at fault, it is a day that already has a pin stuck opposite it in the calendar of a good many people in this community as one who approaches is not to be forgotten or its arrival overlooked. The 23d is the day for the grand entrance pageant and exhibitions of Hove's Great London Circus, Menagerie, Hippodrome, and Iroquois Indians. We have seen columns devoted to glowing descriptions of the wonders of the show which have been published in the newspapers of the Southwest—in which section the Great London began its Southern tour this season; and had we the space at our disposal to-day, might give some extracts of the extent and variety of the exhibition as seen elsewhere and as it will be presented here than anything we might write. That it is an establishment accustomed to draw audiences of the first order, we think any one will be convinced who attempts to figure up the expense of advertising the two performances to be given in this city—not the least item of which must be the cost of erecting bill boards.

THE TOLLEY GUN.—COURT TESTIMONIAL.—Huron City, N. J., Sept. 20th, 1874.—Messrs. J. & W. TOLLEY—39 Maiden Lane, New York:—The 10-gauge Gun No. 978 I ordered from you gives me entire satisfaction. I was very exacting when ordering the Gun, but must say that you have more than fulfilled what I required of you. I have shot several head-headers by first-class makers, and our gun beats them all for beauty and workmanship. As for shooting quality, your gun shoots stronger and more even than any gun I ever saw. I have shown it to several good judges (including first-class gunmakers) and all agree that the action is very strong and durable, and that the gun is one of the best they ever saw. I have made some very long shots with it, using only 3/4 dr. of powder, which is all your gun requires. I have shot it at a target according to the rules of the First Field and Farm trials, and the average of 5 shots at 40 yards is: Left-pattern, 19; penetration, 38; right-pattern, 17; penetration 30; using 3/4 dr. powder. Now I am sure such a gun is seldom met with, and am very proud to be the owner of it. But the real test of your gun is in the field—there it excels all others, killing clean and handsome than any gun I ever saw, as you assured me they would. Both paper and metal shells work splendidly. Gentlemen, I have to offer you my very best thanks, and will recommend your gun to all my friends.
