A Wounded Buck Disarms a Hunter, Takes off His Gun and Fires it.

To the Editors of the Georgetown Times: As the tove for the chase, next to that of women, is said to be the deepest implanted sentiment in the heart of men, giving rise as it does to the most exciting employment of the human faculties, it naturally follows that whatever wonderful happens, not in keeping with the general order of things relative to it, is of interest and worthy of note. In view of this fact, the writer, with the hope of contributing to the pleasure of your readers, proposes giving through your pages an authentic account of a most remarkable occurrence which happened to one of his young friends while out hunting with his father a tew days ago near South Island.

Bright and early one calm, beautiful morning, these two ardent lovers of the chase sallied out with gun and dogs in anticipation of a fine day's sport at au old buck, known to be living in a quiet corner near the roadside. On arriving at this intended drive, there, as usual, was seen the track of the old buck just gone 10. The old gentleman, after putting his little son at a stand, followed on in close pursuit with his pack, whose rapid bark soon (admonished them of the fact that the old back was up and leading the way; a little while after was heard the unmistakable report of Master Nierrod's gan, who, seeing the noble animal coming for him, reserved his fire until within close range; then, with steady nerves and unerring aim, gave him the full contents in his side. This well-directed fire brought the old buck to the ground, but no sooner down than up again. The pack, however, was not long in bringing him to bay, and then came the tug of war. With undimited courage, this brave little hunter rushed in to take hold, in hope of ene mraging the dogs to do the same, but nen re his desired object was accompl shed, found himself knocked down and the buck on top. This was certainly an awkward predicament to be in, though it only the more inspired the little hero with greater courage, who, jumping up, caught hold of the buck by the tail, to which he held with all the tenacity of the bull dog. It was at this critical stage of the night that one of the most remarkable events ever before known to occur in an encounter with a deer, took place. During the scuffle that ensued, the buck, through some unknown way, got his hoot fastened between the ingter and guard of the gun, and, knocking off his assailants, away he went with the gnn attached to his leg, which, after being carried for some distance, went off, and came near shooting its owner. The old gentleman, in the meantime, hearing the noise, rode in, and seeing the deer making off with his son's gun-a terrible state of affairs, indeed-gave chase on horseback, ran over and knocked him down; then, with dogs, son, chunks and knife, feel upon the poor old buck and finally ended his career. Bit, butchered and chunked him to death, as you see!

This, Mr. Editor, is an unexaggerated account of this most wonderful hunt, related simply as told to me, and actually did occur.

In concluding, the writer would beg to say to say to the lovers of the chase at McDonaldville: Take warning, gentleman, from the above! Be eareful how you approach a wounded buck in future while at bay, e se you too may, in like manner, find yourself disarmed, your gun taken off, and fired in return, by that noble animal whose life you seek to destroy. The Carolina Central to be Extended. At this time it is impossible to tell when the Carolina Central Railway will be extended further West, and we can only theorize as to its progress; but the great desideratum of the people of the West as well as the East, is the extension-the completion-of this great thoroughfare from Wilmington, on the coast, through our beautiful, salabrious and fertile mountain region to the Mississippi Valley, intersecting some of the East Tennessee roads, about Knoxvillethus opening from ocean to ocean, through the most picturesque, grand and productive section of the Union the greatest line in the Southpand passing through the best region for manufacturing facilities in the world, would be a far greater blessing to our people, the South and the counby at large than any other. We would thus be in direct communication the great grain and stock-raising West, which is now, on account of H. R. Prevens, Esq.: Matthews, Roberts, Grainger, Fremont and Johnson be put into harness

But to Rutherford and her prospects: The people of Rutherford are very much in earnest about completing the road to Rutherfordton. Some o her most prominent, enthusiastic and influential citizens propose to health, and after using a few bottles was fully restored to need to ne ed on the road. We, as a native of Rutherford and a lover of her soil and people, would be glad to see the iron horse prowling and neighing over her hills and plains. We are not so picayunish and selfish as to want the road to go no further west-though for a while it might be of less advantage to Shelby than if our depot should be the permanent terminus. Our cause is a common one-let us work together to accomplish it.

Astonishing Exposures in New York.

A New York letter says: "Very astonishing exposures are being made relative to the heavy expenditures of the public dock department and the utter worthlessness of the mass of work done under their auspices. Nearly five million dollars have been wasted. It is complained that Philadelphia and Boston, with their water fronts and harbor improvements and constantly increasing terminal facilities are toking much trade from New York, which only great effort can regain. The new line from Baltimore to Chicago is doing much also for that city, which is now fast monopohzing the coffee trade. When the Welland canal enlargement becomes completed, together with the harbor improvements in Montreal, vessels of 1,200 tons will run from Chicago to that city."

Public Report Policeman.

I have not enjoyed good health for several years past, yet have not allowed it to interfere with my labor. Every one belonging to the laboring class knows the inconvenience of being obliged to labor when the body, from debility, almost refuses to perform its daily task. I never was a believer in dosing with medicines; but, having heard the Vigitinia spoken of so highly, was determined to try it, and shall never regret that determination. As a tonic (which every one needs at some time) it surpasses anything I ever heard of. It invigorates the whole system; it is a great cleanser and purifier of the blood. There are many of my acquaintances who have taken it, and all unite in praise of its satisfactory effect.

have taken it, and all unite in praise of its satisfactory effect.

Rs. erially among the aged class of people, it imports to them the one thing most needful in old age—nights of calm, sweet repose, thereby strengthening the mind as well as the body. One aged lady, who has been suffering through life from Scrofula, and has become blind from its effects, having tried many remedies with no favorable result, was induced by friends to try the Verenters. After taking a few bottles, she obtained such great relief that she expressed a wish for her sight, that she might be able to look upon the man who had sent her such a blessing.

Yours respectfully,
O. H. P. HODGE, Police Officer, Station 6.

Heartfelt Prayer.

H. R. STEVENS, Esq. H. R. STEVENS, E-Q.

Dear Sir—I should be wanting in gratitude if I falled to acknowledge what the Vecetime has done for me. I was attacked about eleven months since with Bronchitis, which settled into consumption. I had night sweats and fever chills; was distressed for breath, and frequently spit blood; was sliemasciated, very weak, and so low that my friends thought my case hopeless.

I was advised to make a trial of the Vegetime, which, under the providence of God, has cured me. That he may bless the use of your medicine to others, as he has to me, and that his divine grace may attend you is the heartfelt prayer of your admiring, humble servant.

BENJAMIN PETTINGILL P. S. Mire is but one among the many cures your medicine has effected in the place.
