A Bold Thief Bailed. Yesterday morning just before dawn a fellow of unusual slipperiness went through a large house on North Front street. He entered an open window opening on a second-floor piazza, passed through a room in which a gentleman was sleeping, then down stairs where it appears he disturbed nothing, but was probably frightened by the awakening of a small boy servant. This boy heard the stealthy steps of the man and caught a glimpse of his retreating form as it disappeared at the head of the steps. Thinking it was one of the inmates of the house, he says, he made no alarm. The burglar tried to open one or two doors on the passage, which being locked balked him again of his booty. Passing into the room by which he had entered, he gathered up two coats and other wearing apparel of the still steadily sleeping occupant, and was making his exit from the window when his foot tripped over an Indian club used for gymnastic practice, which had been left standing before the window. The noise of the falling club roused the athletic sleeper, who in a second comprehended the situation, grasped the club, jumped through the window after the fleeing thief, and close behind him, slid down the banistering of the porch. Too late to catch the invader of his chamber's peace and property, whom he discovered to be a negro, he returned to find the articles scattered on the floor and in the window, but nothing was missing.

Spirits Turpentine. —E. R. Hampton is announced as one of the editors of the Asheville Pioneer. —The colored Baptist Church in Fayetteville will soon be completed, says Public Spirit. —"What is the use of having town ordinances unless they are enforced?"—Kinston Gazette. —Several conversions reported at the revival now in progress at the Person Street M. E. Church, Raleigh. —The Shelby Banner says $100 was realized by the recent supper of the Methodist Ladies Aid Society at that place. —Some of the tar receivers of the Raleigh gas works were burned Monday evening. Damage, slight, says the News. —Col. Geo. B. Chamberlain, of Atlanta, has been appointed Supervisor of this Revenue district with headquarters at Richmond, Va. —The Government not being ready, the cases against Lips, Blackwell, Bryant, Houck and others at Statesville, for counterfeiting, were nol. pro'd. —A great deal of interest is felt in Raleigh in the Y. M. C. A. meeting held in the Baptist Church Sunday night was addressed by several of the clergy of the city and others. —We learn by the Newbern papers that Mr. James Wooten was shot in the foot by the accidental discharge of a gentleman's pistol as the train was arriving there on Monday. —The Newbern Nut Shell says an unwholesome street mite box containing deposits for the Orphan Asylum, opened and robbed it of its contents which happily were little, as it had recently been emptied by the proper persons. —Shelby Aurora: We have been struck during the progress of our Court at the fact that there were fewer cases of crime before the bar of justice than in other days. The cases of petty larceny are very much diminished, especially among the colored population. The Third Volume of reformation is going on among the negroes. They are learning the wholesome lesson that stealing don't pay. —Charlotte Observer of Sunday: Mrs. T. J. Jackson and daughter will leave this city for Richmond to-morrow morning. Mrs. Jackson will be accompanied by her brother, Capt. Joseph G. Morrison, who was the aid-de-camp of General Jackson from his promotion to his death. General D. H. New Hanover Convicts Recaptured. Some time since a number of convicts were carried from the Penitentiary at Raleigh to Morganton to assist in building the Asylum at the latter place. Not long after several of them effected their escape, and among the number were two from this county named William Johnson and Henry Johnson, sentenced for larceny. The two later made their way into Rutherford county and visited Rutherfordton. Here they were seen by Mr. Ben. Quinn, who had heard of the escape of the prisoners at Morganton and had his suspicions aroused that these were two of the convicts. Here the matter rested, however, until a week or two ago, when, as we learn from the Shelby Banner, Mr. Quinn was on his way to that place in a buggy when he came up to the same two men on their way to town to see the circus. He asked them to ride with him, which offer they eagerly accepted, when, upon arriving at Shelby, Mr. Q. quietly motioned to a passing friend and the two men were taken from the vehicle and marched off to jail. Subsequently they confessed that they had been sent to the Penitentiary from New Hanover county, one for stealing a watch, and that their names were William and Henry Johnson.

As the time when the crops shall be all housed draws near and country folks have time to attend to minor matters, active preparations begin to be made here for the revival of a number of small manufactures which seem to depend for success mainly upon a dull season in the labor market. "It's an ill wind," &c.

Those of our merchants who have been notified to remove their dry goods boxes from the sidewalks and have failed to do so, will, we understand, be prosecuted under an ordinance of the city applicable to such cases. —As the time when the crops shall be all housed draws near and country folks have time to attend to minor matters, active preparations begin to be made here for the revival of a number of small manufactures which seem to depend for success mainly upon a dull season in the labor market. Superior Court. In the Superior Court, yesterday, the case of Jeffrey Williams, convicted of larceny, heretofore alluded to, was again taken under consideration, and judgment suspended on the payment of costs—defendant being required to give a bond in the sum of $500 for his good behavior and also for his personal appearance at the next term of the Superior Court, when a suitable fine may be imposed instead of a sentence to imprisonment. The remainder of the session of the Court was taken up with the consideration of the case of Thomas Payne, charged with forcible trespass, which was finally continued over, with all other cases on the criminal docket, to Thursday, when a discrimination will be made in favor of parties who are confined in jail.
