be imitated. She lived for years on a fine estate on Haw river, where she dispensed a generous and elegant hospitality to the many friends of her distinguished husband, and to strangers who passed along the great thoroughfare upon which she lived. She was a devont Christian and a member of the Episcopal Church, and did not show her religion by formal observances, but in private devotion. No fond husband ever had a more devoted wife. No children a more affectionate, provident mother. No slave a kinder mistress, and no poor neighbor a more charitable friend. Her like and life will not be seen again. In her end the grave had no victory and death no sting.

The "squeeze" in the New York Pork Market.

There was a further "squeeze" in the pork market on Thursday. The price opened at $22 and was run up to $22 50, with $22 75 bid late in the day. The stock on hand will be reduced to about 4,000 barrels, after deducting 5,000 barrels taken for export to-day. There is said to be a sufficient short interest still uncovered to absorb the whole of this. The "corner" in lard was less severe. Prices stood firm all day at 15@15+ on light sales.

Improvement is still the order of the day in Oakdale, the most noticeable of which is near what was formerly the Southern Cemetery, where a fine lot, something larger than the Confederate enclosure, of selecting delegates to the Baptist State has but recently been faid out, and which commands several avenues of approach. Where this lot now stands was formerly a low gully or pond, usually partly filled with water, and presenting a rather uninviting appearance, but seven feet of earth banked up, leveled, oval-shaped and ornamented with its beautiful border of evergreen makes it look quite differently.
