FIFE MORNING TO THE STATE OF TH

VOL. XVII.---NO. 46.

WILMINGTON, N. C., TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1875.

WILMINGTON AND CINCINNATI.

The Wilmington and Mt. Airy Narrow Gauge Railroad-Something for Our Capitalists to Consider.

A letter was received by W. P. Canaday, Esq., Mayor of this city, a few days since, from Mr. John M. Brower, a prominent manufacturer and dealer of Mt. Airy, Surry county, in reference to the proposed narrow gauge railroad from that place to Greensboro, the charter of which allows it to be run to Wilmington, in which he says that the friends of the road in that section are now canvassing the proposed line between Greensboro and Mt. Airy and are meeting with success beyond their most sanguine expectations. He thinks our city ought to come forward and secure the terminus of this road, for, as he says, it will open up a great country that has never been developed to our market, as will be seen by the map of this State and Virginia. Mr. Bower, and others for whom he speaks, wishes to ascertain the feelings of our people on the subject, and if Wilmington wants a direct connection with that section, a canvass for stock on the line from Greensboro' to our city will be commenced immediately upon the close of the canvass on the line between Greensboro' and Mt. Airy. Mr. Brower closes his letter with the expression of a desire to learn as soon as convenient how much can be done here in aid of the proposed enterprise.

There is much in the proposed line to commend it to the favorable consideration of our people, as it would undoubtedly open up to our market a very desirable section of the State. The route, if run on the east side of the Cape Fear, would embrace the counties of Surry, Stokes, Forsyth, Guilford, Chatham, Moore, Harnett, Cumberland. Sampson and New Hanover; and if run on the west side of the Cape Fear it will go through New Hanover, Brunswick, Cumberland, Harnett, Moore, Chatham, Randolph, Guilford, Forsyth, Stokes and Surry, taking Fayetteville in its course. Either route would embrace the Chatham coal | to re-occupy. tantitem, while a direct line from Greensboro to this port would make Wilmington the nearest and most accessible point on

A direct line to Wytheville, Va., taking Mt. Airy in its course, connecting with the line at the former point to Cincinnati, Ohio, was one of the early railroad schemes suggested by one who has always taken a prominent part in the system of internal improvements for the benefit of this section. An air line by this route would place Wilmington within a little more than 400 miles of Cincinnati, thus constituting Wilmington the peareest port to the great valley centre on the Atlantic seacoast.

The line to Greensboro and thence to Mt. Airy, completed, it will then be in order to agitate the question of extending the line as above indicated, which would open up to our market the vast products of the Mississippi Valley and the great West.

Wilmington has a great destiny before her, and it only remains for her enterpeising, wide-awake citizens to take the necessary steps to secure it. Every available means should be used to this end, and we believe we have among our business community, men of the necessary calibre and stamina to keep pushing her on her onward and upward course in the pathway of prosperity.

Magistrate's Court.

Before Justice Cassidey, yesterday Candis French, colored, was arraigned on the charge of committing an assault and battery on the person of Susan Williams, also colored. Judgment suspended on the payment of costs.

The same defendant, arraigned on a peace warrant sworn out by Susan Wil liams. Case dismissed at the cost of the defendant.

The same defendant, charged with violating a city ordinance by using profane and obscene language on the streets. Judgment suspended on the payment of costs.

Scott McKoy, colored, a witness in the above cases, having, in giving in his testi mony, rendered himself liable to the charge of perjury, was arraigned for the same and ordered to give bond in the sum of $200 for his appearance at the next term of the Superior Court.

The Athletics-The shooting Match-Four Entries.

We learn that there were four entries made yesterday for the shooting match to take place at the Athletic Club grounds on Thanksgiving Day. One of the four, we hear, at a distance of one hundred yards, put four out of five shots into the bull's eye, and that at a distance of two hundred yards the same party put four out of eleven shots into the bull's eye, an evidence of good shooting which would indicate the probability of lively times among the marksmen on the occasion referred to.

Some excitement was caused at the Opera House last night by all the lights going out just before the time had arrived for the curtain to rise. The audience were left in the dark for some minutes, and 'tis said that the timid Mr. Fitzsimmons drew very close to the brave Miss Arabella. He was always afraid of the dark, he said. Some disarrangement of the meter was the cause of the accident.

City Taxes. To-morrow (Wednesday), at 12 o'clock M., the sale of property for unpaid city taxes for the present year will take place in front of the City Hall. It was postponed last Wednesday on account of the weather. but the sale will positively take place toCOUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

Extracts from the Proceedings. A called meeting of the Board was held yesterday afternoon; present, John G. Wagner, Esq., Chairman, and Commissioners VanAmringe and Morris.

It was ordered that the matter of repairs to heaters in the county jail be referred to the Chairman with power to act.

In accordance with an order from Gov. Brogden, upon the recommendation of the Board of County Commissioners, convening a special term of the Superior Court for New Hanover county, for the trial of civil cases, to commence on Monday, the 6th of December, 1875, and continue until he business is disposed of, the following names were drawn as a special venire for

John F. Garrell, John Maunder, W. I. Gore, Robert S. Radcliffe, D. Greenwald, S. A. Craig, John E. Lippitt, Henry Grutgen, Abner Morgan, Mingo C. Hill, Wm. Kellogg, Thomas Henderson, S. W. Vick, Geo. Harriss, J. H. McGarity, F. W. Meyer, John W. Nicholson, Fred Meyer, Evander McBride, J. C. Lumsden, F. W. Foster, John H. Hanby, Christopher Hamilton, Jas. W. Green.

Bishop Atkinson at the University-Christian Love and Charity.

A correspondent, in whose signature and style we recognize the gifted and pious Mrs. C. P. Spencer, writes to the North Carolina Presbyterian from Chapel Hill as follows: "On the 24th of October, Bishop Atkinson preached twice in the Chapel of the University to large congregations, and very attentive ones, and in both sermons fully sustained his reputation as a writer and preacher of no ordinary ability and interest. The Episcopal and Presbyterian churches have both fared much more disastrously of late years than either of the other two churches in Chapel Hill. While the Methodists and Baptists contrived to have at least monthly services, and sometimes fortnighty, these have remained closed twelve months at a time, and dilapidation and decay had commenced on both buildings. The Episcopal, especially, has been greatly damaged, and it is thought will require an outlay of six hundred dollars or more to make it safe nembers of these churches begin to revive also, and interest in them is again manifested abroad. The Episcopalians are to have their building repaired for them at once. and the Bishop promises them a minister. Meanwhile, they have lay reading of their service, and a sermon on Sunday morning in the large dining room of the hotel, where once Miss Nancy Hilliard reigned supreme. " Prof. Hooper officiated there last Sunday to a small, but animated congregation.

"The comments I have heard on Bishop Atkinson's morning sermon have made me feel as if his coming here, and his text that day, had been arraigned especially by the great Master of us all, and Searcher of our learts and Hearer of our prayers. (Of course I know that it was so, but there are weak brethren who do not believe in a special Providence, and for the sake of such I express myself moderately.) I say it makes me feel as if Bishop Atkinson came here on purpose that bright and glowing October morning, and discussed so beautifully, so comfortably and so convincingly concerning the mysteries of God's word and ways, and the necessity of entire faith in Him to believe and trust where we cannot see nor understand. For there were several of his listeners of different communions, to whom that sermon came as a message from their common Lard. It com forted a mourner, silenced a doubter, and strengthened one whose faith was weak. And there were besides six young Presbyterian hearers to whom the argument came singularly in continuation of their Sunday School instruction that morning, driving in with a Master's hand the nail that had been but feebly set an hour before. "To my mind, also, it is part of the special providing when, as in this case, one of another fold is sent on an errand. broadens our Christian love and charity, and tightens the bond which unites all Protestant believers in one Church. The mark is in all their foreheads, and when they draw closer to each other they can see i more plainly, and the thought warms their hearts that we are all one in Christ.

We hope the good Bishop will come often and preach again and again with power, such Gospel sermons.

outhern Ports of Delivery. The Augusta Constitutionalist says that number of Augusta merchants will petition Congress to make Norfolk, Wilmington, Charleston and Port Royal ports of delivery. As the law stands, no importer at Augusta can receive his goods in bond and pay the duties at Augusta unless they have been originally invoiced to Augusta. And they must in all cases go through Savannah. The desire, in which the South Carolina Congressmen will probably concur, is to so amend the present act as to include Norfolk, Wilmington, Charleston and Port Royal, so that Augusta importers can import in bond from either of those ports, as also New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore.

Mayor's Court. The following cases were called and disposed of yesterday morning:

Sarah Wright, charged with disorderly conduct, submitted and judgment was suspended on payment of costs. Jno. Williams, charged with disorderly conduct. Case continued. pay a fine of $50 and costs, or thirty days on the streets.

Robert Moseley, charged with the same offence, was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $50 or work for thirty days on upon it, here and elsewhere. the streets.

Robbing Hen Rooms.

The premises of Mrs. Mary A. Dent, residing on Hanover, between Second and Third streets, were entered a night or two since and the fowl house robbed of eight fine hens, one old rooster being alone left through an act of courtesy on the part of the thief, we suppose) to arouse the family from their slumbers the next morning. No clew has been obtained to the thief or the missing poultry.

The Household Telegraph.

Since writing our articles on this subject a week or two since, we have learned that the want of a system of burglar and fire alarm telegraphy which should be at once so inexpensive, practical and simple as to enable it to be applied in the smaller cities of the country has for some time past been a subject of thought to another than ourself, and that Mr. J. W. Maes, Assistant Superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph Co., has within the current year obtained a patent for such an instrument, yesterday: which has now been for some little time doing that service and others to the satisfaction of the people of Richmond, Va., and which seems to have some practical advantages besides that of cheapness over even the American District Telegraph in-

The general plan of the new system and its operation is very similar to that of the system we have heretofore described. From a central office, wherein the electric battery is kept, and all the business transacted, wires extend through the neighboring streets, with side wires running therefrom into the stores, factories or dwellings of patrons. In each building protected a little instrument as noiseless and pretty as a French clock is placed, with invisible wires connecting every door and window with it. If a window is moved at any time (when not disconnected intentionally) an alarm is instantly sounded or transmitted to the office, or in case of suspicious noises about the premises a silent signal may be sent, with the result of almost immediately bringing the police. If a fire be discovered in the house or near, a tape is pulled and the Fire Department instantly notified thereby to report at your house or store. If a carriage, express wagon or dray is wanted at any time, a particular tape pulled makes the signal for the style of vehicle desired. If a messenger is wanted to go on an errand, carry a bundle, telegram, letters, notes, invitations, circulars, make purchases, or any other of the many services which may be required by householders, ladies, professional men and merchants, a pull of the proper tape will bring a uniformed mes senger at once, ready to do your bidding without any "back talk" or other evidence of ill-temper. A separate signal is provided for the purpose of calling a physician. When this is sounded once a messenger starts to call your family physician; if it is sounded twice together, in token of urgent need, in case the messenger finds your family physician absent he will immediately call some They already count some fifteen or twenty other-your second choice. The signals can be increased in number or varied in meaning to suit the necessities of individual customers, are perfectly simple and will be > the central office, the operator is charge is able to notify the customer standing at his nstrument of the fact that it is received The instrument is placed in the store, business office or residence of the customer by the company, at their own expense, and a small monthly rental is charged on the same for compensation. When a messenger is called, 15 cents per half-hour or 25 cents per hour is charged for the time he is employed and 10 cents each is charged for short errands from the central office, but when a messenger is called for the purpose of sending a telegram to the telegraph office or the send an order to the central office for any other service, as a particular kind of carriage, etc., no charge is made. By arrangement with the city authorities the fire and police service is also rendered free. It will thus be seen that the expense of this system to the customer is much less than is the case with these heretofore proposed, and as the heaviest items of expense with other companies seem to have been cut off in this without losing any of the practically valuable features, we are free to say that we see good prospects for success and profit to those who may organize a company here for the purpose of supplying the great necessity which undeniably exists for a good fire and burglar alarm telegraph. Mr. L. A. Angel, the Manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company in this city, has called our attention to the Kates' system, and is in possession of full particu-

The comedy "Led Astray" which Mr. Hall's Company will produce at the Opera House to-night ranks first among the great dramatic successes of our time. That the aplay possesses extrordinary merit and interest is indicated by the great success it has achieved, not only in America but in Paris, London and Vienna. After being acted for nearly an entire season in New York it has been revived there and is now being performed nightly to immense audiences. "Led Astray" will display Mr. Hall's brilliant Company to great advantage, for its representation calls for an unusual number first-class artists.
