Two trifling cases were disposed of before Justice Gardner, yesterday morning, one of which was dismissed at complainant's costs and the other, one Mary E. The cotton compress is now running regularly from 9 to 10 hours per day, turning out daily from 500 to 600 bales of compressed cotton, and still there is plenty of the staple ready and awaiting its turn to be "squeezed." Four large foreign vessels are now loading at the wharves of the company, and as many more will be expected to take their places when they have comoleted their cargoes. The police were called last night to take charge of a man who created a disturbance in a saloon on the east side of Second street near the corner of Market. A large crowd assembled in front of the place, but about the time an officer appeared the disturber made his exit by the rear door and escaped

Wilmington Viewed by Others. The Shelby Banner says: "It was our pleasure to visit this enterprising and thriving city by the seashore two weeks back and receive some of the kindnesses of its citizens. We were pleased to meet so many well wishers of Shelby, and we assure all such persons that such wishes are highly appreciated by our citizens. Wilmington is now doing a vast amount of business and we hope that it may be increased ten fold. Produce, cotton and everything of this kind is flowing in and yet there is room for more. Her port is full. Her ships move off daily, heavily laden with the produce of the land. Improvements are going on, and all seemed to be enrobed with a spirit of Wilmington is certainly the town for our Western people. On her we shoul I depend for all of our merchandise, as we now have a direct line running to that port." The Salisbury Watchman, whose editor visited our city during the Fair, calls attention to Wilmington as the port of North Carolina. The Watchman expresses the sensible opinion that "Every North Carolinian should be proud of the fact that we have a port so well adapted to all our wants, and strive to enlarge and enhance its usefulness. Through Wilmington we can reach all parts of the world with as much ease and as expeditiously as from any other point on the Atlantic coast. Why, not then, give our trade and influence to our own seaport city and thus assist in building her up, instead of those in other States? The people of Salisbury ought to have direct communication with Wilmington." And the Asheville Citizen is moved with commendable State pride to say: "Wilmington is our only chance to build a State seaport, and very much depends upon the West to secure its being done. We have State pride enough to insist that North Carolinians stand by North Carolina."

Peck, on Front street, just after it had been opened by the clerk, and stated that they wished to look at some guns. They were shown some, when they said they wanted a better article. In the meantime the clerk stepped to the back part of the store to hang up his overcoat, and was surprised upon returning to find that the two men were gone. Nothing more was thought of the matter until Friday evening, when Mr. Peck discovered the loss of two guns, which had been taken from the show window, and which were valued at $20 each. Mr. P. was afterward informed by a person connected with some establishment on the opposite side of the street that he saw two men come out of the store with guns in their hands on the morning in question and walk hurriedly up the street. No clue has been obtained to the perpetrators of this 'artful dodge." The north side of Dock street, between Front and Second, will soon boast of a decided improvement in the shape of a fine brick ice-house, which is now under construction and rapidly approaching completion. The building is to be the property of Messrs. Henry Haar and B. H. J. Ahrens, and will, when completed, be 33 by 83 feet in dimensions, the ice compartments to be 30 feet in height and the loft 7 feet high, while its capacity will be about one thousand tons. The salesroom, which will be at the west end, will be 20 by 30 feet. The building will, we learn, be completed and ready to receive ice by the 1st of February.

A Brilliant Achievement. A party of colored men were assembled on the wharf foot of Princess street, yesterday afternoon, for the purpose, it seems, of having some settlement between them for labor performed. One of the party had charge of the funds and dealt out to each received, and at the first opportunity one of them made a dash at the sable cashier, seized a ten dollar bill from his hand and darted off with it, followed by his companion. A warrant was subsequently obtained from Justice Cassidey for the arrest of the two men, but at last accounts they had not been

The premises of Robert Winbush, corner of Seventh and Bladen streets, were invaded on Friday night and robbed of four fine turkeys. About 3 o'clock in the morning a broidery work by a young miss 16 years of | colored man was seen coming from that direction with one or more sticks of wood in his possession. We regret to learn that Charlie, son of the late John J. Conoley, met with a painful accident yesterday, which might easily have proved a very serious one to him. Charlie seems to have been riding on the forward platform of one of the street cars, and in attempting to reach a knife held out to him by a young companion standing in the street, lost his balance and fell in such a manner that one foot rested on the track in advance of the wheels. The car passed over it just above the ankle, breaking the smaller bone of the calf, as we understand, but leaving the larger bone uninjured The injury is likely to prove rather tedious to the sufferer than serious.
