Several large shots had passed through his body, and Mr. Hatch lingered till Sunday morning, when he died. As yet there is no clue as to who the cowardly assassin is, but we are glad to hear that the citizens of the neighborhood are making every effort to find out the guilty one.

Randall's Chauces. Condensed from a Richmond Dispatch

Washington Telegram.] More than half of the Democratic members of the House are now here, and the fight over the Speakership increases in intensity of feeling. The friends of both Randall and Kerr ex press confidence in the strength of their respective candidates. Each new arrival is immediately booked on one side or the other. Randali's friends seem more confident than these of Kerr, and it looks, from demonstration to-night, as if Randall is to be successful. The first formal declaration by a State delegation was made to-night. The Pennsylvania delegation met, and resolved to support Randall and do anything proper to further his success. Both Randall and Kerr seem to depend upon the action of Southern members. None of the Southern members are here. Senator Gordon believes Southern members are pretty nearly equally divided between Randall and Kerr, but says any opinion as to how they will finally decide is mere speculation. Lamar, who is counted for Randall, and who it is supposed will exert vast influence with Southern members, is expected to-morrow. Randall's friends My they can count mnety votes sare. That number would insure his nomination on the first ballot.

Mr. Wood in conversation said that he regarded the scramble for this high place as very undignified, and he would not consent to be a party to it. Some of those who are ever ready to jump at conclusions assert that Mr. Wood will now throw his strength for Randall. The much greater probability is that his influcast in favor of Kerr. Mr. Wood to night desired your correspondent to state that his action in withdrawing his name was solely on his own volition, and that he had consulted with no one. He said that he had conversed with no one on the subject of the committees, had made no pledges and received none, and that so far as he was concerned his friends were at perfect liberty to vote for any one they pleased for Speaker.

Pleasure and Benevolence.

We hear of a very pleasing incident of the late Thanksgiving Day. A number of young gentlemen of this city went for a frolic to one of the neighboring Sounds, and while in the modst of their sport decided to unite in becoming patrons of the poor. One gave a barrel or flour, another | year. several cords of wood, a third a number of pairs of shoes, and so on with the whole party-articles of utility and value being subscribed by all-to be distributed as necessity may require, through the kind ladies of the Benevoient Association. We had advised that an opportunity be given by the ladies for all who met about the city for pleasure or instruction to remember the poor in a substantial way on that day, but here is a spontaneous offering, made at a place where no such facilities had been provided and where there was nothing calculated to suggest the act but the promptings of generous hearts, and we must say that an example is presented by it that is worthy of all commendation, and we cannot think of those young gentlemen but with sentiments of respect and esteem. Neither do we believe they enjoyed their second Day's Proceedings of the 39th Annual Session of the North Carolina Conference of the M. E. Church South.

The exceeding inclemency of the weather yesterday morning interfered, no doubt, with the attendance of delegates and also of members of the congregation at the opening of the Conference. There were, however, a great many present, and before the proceedings had progressed the church was quite well filled, some fifteen more delegates having arrived since the close of the last session and taken their seats on the

The exercises began promptly at 94 o'clock, Rev. Robert O. Burton having taken the chair and announcing hymn No. 907 of the collection, "Lift up your hearts to things above," which was sung by the assembled body, all standing, after which Rev. Mr. Burton offered up a tervent prayer.

The Bishop presiding then took the chair, and the calling of the roll of clerical and lay delegates by Rev. Dr. Craven, the Secretary, took place.

On motion of Dr. Craven it was ordered that the calling of the roll be hereafter dispensed with. The minutes of the first day's proceedings were then read and no amendments being offered, were approved. The Bishop called upon the Chairman of the Missionary Board to come forward and receive a number of religious pampblets by eminent divines of the church. The Bishop took occasion to make some remarks regarding their nature and the benefit to be derived from them by those for whom they | of January as the proper time. were intended.

Rev. A. H. Redford, Agent of the Southern Methodist Publishing House located at Nashville, Tenn., came forward and was colored, were arrested Wednesday night introduced to the Conference. Church, South, and the latter a member of the South Carolina Conference, approached ference by the presiding Bishop. They were invited to take seats upon the floor of the Conference.

The consideration of the applicants for admission to Elder's Orders was then entered into, they being the "probationers" of the fourth year. The Committee on Ex amination having reported favorably on the following names, they were admitted to Elder's Orders, viz: Revs. Frederick G. Swindell, Robert M. Brown, Jas. Willson and Edward Howland.

The Chairman of the Missionary Society announced that the Board were now ready

The question "Who will remain on trial" after the first year? was then taken up. The ministers of one year's standing being called upon to give their reports of work done under their several charges, which were passed upon by the Conference.

The reports and examination of the following gentlemen being found satisfactory. they were passed to Deacon's orders, viz: Revs. Lucien J. Holden, Lucius E. Stacy, H. W. F. Stamy, William H. Watkins, Revs. D. P. Goode and N. S. Norton, under the above question, were continued

Revs. J. C. Smith and J. H. Cunniggim, who were called upon under the above question, were not present, but were discontinued by their own request as expressed by those representing them in the body.

Rev. G. D. Bernheim, of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, and Rev. J. B. Taylor, of the First Baptist Church, both of this city, approached the pulpit and were duly introduced to the Conference by the presiding Bishop.

I was chosen a fraternal messenger to your body from the Christian Conference of Virginia and North Carolina at our last meeting. We were gled to meet there the messenger from your Conference, Rev. Dr. H. H. Gibbons, and we regretted the absence of the other messenger, Rev. Dr. Craven. We hope to meet your messengers st our next Conference, which meets in Salem, Forsyth county, in November next. Ours is a small body; we have only as many hundreds as you have thousands; forty churches and thirty ordained ministers and not a D. D. among them. We have no colleges, and consequently we patronize our Methodist brethren, for we like them; there is no paltry sectarianism among them. Your fraternal messengers last year were the first ever sent to our Conference, and I am the first ever sent to your Conference from ours. We claim kin with the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Mr. Long then went on to illustrate the connection, which he did in a very finished manner. His remarks were listened to with marked attention throughout and were highly appreciated.

The Bishop replied, thanking him for the kind expressions he had uttered and assuring him that they were fully reciprocated. On motion of Rev. H. H. Gibson, the Bishop was requested to appoint two fraternal messengers from this body to the Methodist Protestant and Christian Confer-

He stated that the Publishing House represented a capital of $500,-000, while its assets outside of this were $300,000. He stated the circulation of the Southern Christian Advocate, published there, to be 8,000, and rapidly increasing. North Carolina, he said, was first on the list in amount of patronage bestowed on the Publishing House, and 33 per cent. higher than that bestowed by Tennessee, the State in which the Publishing House was located. Mr. Redford's remarks were well received.

THE CONFERENCE.

Personal Sketches of Members.

Rev. Dr. Closs originally joined in the Virginia Conference and has filled nearly all the stations in the work, and is at present Presiding Elder of the Washington district. He is one of the oldest and has long been one of the most influential members of the Conference. He has represented the Church in the General Conference, has been Presiding Elder for a great many years and has always been considered a wise and safe counsellor in Church matters. He is regarded as a good preacher: fervent, clear and practical. His original ability to think, his decisive energy, directness of purpose and sound common sense would make him an influential man in any connection.

Rev. Dr. B. Craven is now about 53 years of age, and, with the exception of two years when he was stationed at Raleigh, has been President of Trinity College from its institution in 1851 to the present time. He joined the North Carolina Conference in 1857, since which he has several times represented that body in the General Conference and for many years has been Secretary of the Annual Conference. He is considered one of the ablest members and ripest scholars in the entire Methodist connection, and by force of his natural talents, industry and energy has worked his way from comparative obscurity up to his present position of honor in the denomination as a divine, a scholar and a successful teacher.

Rev. C. F. Deems, D. D., when very young (in 1840) joined the New Jersey Conference, was transferred to the North Carolina Conference in 1842. He served sometime as agent of the American Bible Society. For many years he was Professor of Rhetoric in the University of North as Professor in Randolph Macon College He was then elected President of Greensboro Female College, where he continued until 1854. He served on circuits and districts until the war, when he became agent for the Orphan's Home. He then established the Watchman, a religious newspaper, in the city of New York, and founded the Church of the Strangers in that city, of which he is still pastor.

Rev. Dr. R. S. Moran came to the North Carolina Conference by transfer from the Genesee Conference of New York in 1857. For many years he filled the principal stations in the Conference and was Presiding Elder of the Greensboro and Washington Districts. In 1870 he was stationed in this city and filled the full term of the pastorate he ball in motion !"

1874 he was located at his own request, and has since become the pastor of the Bethany Independent Methodist Church in the city

Rev. L. S. Burkhead, D. D., joined the Conference in 1849. He has filled the principal circuits and stations in the Conference, and has been Presiding Elder of the Wilmington and Shelby Districts. He is at present stationed in the city of Raleigh. Professor W. C. Doub is a lay delegate from the Greensboro district. He is a graduate of Randolph Macon College, and when quite a young man he was for some time editor of the Raleigh Star. For many years he taught school in Wake county and was Professor in Greensboro Female College until it was burned. Since the war he has served four years as Professor in Trinity College and is now Professor in Greensboro Female College. Professor O. W. Carr is a lay delegate from the Greensboro district. He is a graduate of Trinity College, where he was tutor until the war. He served during the war as captain of a company in the 46th N. C. regiment. Since the war he has been Professor of Greek in Trinity College.

Rev. J. B. Bobbitt joined the Conference in 1855. Ho has filled various circuits and stations in the Conference. For many years he has been editor of the Raleigh Christian Advocate, of which he is at present the proprietor. Rev. H. T. Hudson joined the Conference in 1851. He has filled various stations and circuits in the Conference, and was for some time Presiding Elder, and was editor of the Raleigh Christian Advocate. He is now stationed at Shelby, N. C.

Second Day's Session.

Conference met pursuant to adjournment Bishop Jabez P. Campbell in the chair. Devotional exercises conducted by the Bishop; hymn page 171.

Rev. E. Robinson read the lesson, 15th chap. 1st Corinthians, after which the roll was called and members answered to their Financial reports were then made, with the exception of those of the city pastors, whose reports were deferred until Monday, while Rev. Henry Epps was allowed until Saturday to prepare his. Bishop Campbell addressed the Conference on the rise of Methodism, and explained the formation of African Methodism in this country. He claimed that African Methodism was one of the branches of the great Methodist family, and in a strong argument showed that the African Methodist Church is a power in this country.

Benediction by Rev. Wm. H. Bishop.

The Fire Yesterday Morning. Just after going to press yesterday morn ing the alarm of fire was sounded and was found to proceed from the large brick building on the southeast corner of Market and Second streets, belonging to the estate of the late John Brown, of which Mr. L. on the first floor by Mr. G. C. W. Muller as a grocery store and by Mr. R. B. Burnett as a saloon, and on the second floor by Dr. Jas. M. Kea as a dental office and Mr. Muller as a residence—the third floor being used as a hall. The fire originated in the saloon of Mr. Burnett, and must have been burning for some time when discovered, which was a quarter after 3 A. M. as a clock in the room was noticed to have stopped at 12, a result which is supposed to have been caused by the heat. The firemen were promptly on the spot, and by a wise precaution on the part of Chief Engineer Moore no door or window was allowed to be opened until the engines were in readiness to commence operations. The doors were then broken open, when a seething mass of smoke and flame burst from the saloon into the faces of the gallant firemen, who for a moment were driven back. They quickly rallied, however, and soon the entire lower floor of the building was deluged with water and the fire extinguished. Had any ventilation been given to the long pent-up and smothered flames before the engines were prepared to combat them the doom of the building would have been sealed, but as it was, the fire was almost immediately brought under control. The damage to the stock of Mr. Muller was very heavy, principally caused by water and smoke; also to his furniture and that of Dr. Kea, by removal, and by the heat and smoke. Mr. Burnett's stock was an entire loss. The building was also considerably damaged. The insurance on the building amounted to $6,000, of which $2,000 was with Messrs. Taylor & Giles, in the Royal, of London, $2,000 with Messrs. Atkinson & Manning and $2,000 with the agency of Col. W. L. Smith. The stock was insured for $2,500 in the Home, of New York, and Carolina, and afterwards served sometime | $1,000 in the Orient, of Hartford, both represented by Messrs. Taylor & Giles. No estimate can be formed at present of the loss on the building or Mr. Muller's stock. Mr. Burnett's loss is estimated by him at from $300 to $350, upon which he had no insurance.

The cause of the fire is not known.

Another Ball. Next in order come the Red Men, who will give a grand ball, under the auspices of Wyoming Tribe, at City Hall on Wednesday evening, the 22nd inst. The contents are written instead of printed and the paper is very creditably gotten up in its peculiar style. The subscription price is $1 per year, and the proceeds will be donated to a fund for building an Episcopal Church at Hickory. The terms for advertising are very liberal, being only 5 cents a square per month, and several Wilmingtonians are numbered among its patrons in this department. Among the advertisements is one for the recovery of a small lead pencil, for which a liberal reward will be paid on leaving it at "this office." The local department is spicey. The authorities are "hauled over the coals" on account of the bad condition of some of the streets and sidewalks, and mention is made of the cutting down of a big tree in front of "this office."

Temperance Matters.

We learn that at a meeting of the Independent Order of Rechabites, held Tuesday night, a Committee was appointed to make the necessary arrangements for holding meetings in the different wards of the city with the view of arousing the public on the subject of temperance. The first meeting of the series, we learn, will probably be held in the Fifth Ward next week, the place to be hereafter designated. There is a wide field for the labors of our temperance friends and we hope they may be able to awaken an interest on the subject which will ultimately result in great good to the community.

The colored people should also be moving in this matter.

The Festival-Continuance. Notwithstanding the dismal weather of last night, the ladies of St. Paul's Episcopal Church took in some $52 at their festival, but as many who intended to patronize them doubtless thought it more prudent to remain in-doors, another opportunity will e afforded them to-night, when the festival will be repeated at the City Hall. A nice dinner and lunch will also be served up there this afternoon from 12 o'clock to 3, of which all the epicures as well as the friends of the ladies will do well to make a At 27 North Front St.

She retired apparently in her usual health about 10 o'clock, but was soon after attacked with heart disease, from which she had previously suffered much, and from the effects of which she passed peacefully away at the hour mentioned, leaving a large circle of friends and relatives to mourn their loss.
