-To-day is the anniversary of the Battle of New Orlcans.

- No meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held last night.

- The bad sidewalk at the Front Street Methodist Church has received the needed repairs of late.

- Some of the busy merchants on the wharf had a little pleasant relaxation tor themselves and families, last night, in the way of a private masque.

- How sharply the damsels of uncertain age do look at us now. Oh don't ladies; don't now ! Some other fellow did it! We're sure there must be some mistake.

- The City Court will be in session this morning. No new cases have accumulated during the wock's absence of the Mayor, but there are several continued cases to be tried.

- We learn that a new pilot boat was launched at Bald Head on Wednesday last, and that she was named after the wife of the junior member of the firm of E. Peschau & Westermann, of this city.

- Look out for that great disciple of good-natured pleasantry, bad spelling and sound doctrine, the philosophic Josh Billiogs. He will give a funny reading at the Opera House on February 4th.

- A colored convict by the name of Champ Artis was pardoned out of the Work House on Tuesday, when he was h red by the Superintendent to continue at work in the institution as a carpenter.

- The regular hop of 'L'Arioso Picasure Club last evening drew out the most brilliant assemblage which the season has so far witnessed. As the favorite of our ultra fashionables L'Arioso will contillue to bear the palm.

- A vew idea seems to have suggested itself to the authorities in regard to cleansing the city, as we notice that trash removed from other streets is thrown out on Sixth street for the purpose of forming a road. How will this work?

-It is suggested that now is the proper season for trimming trees. The shade trees in Wilmington, especially those in our most important thoroughfares, are sadly in need of the pruning process, and
