LAST NIGHT'S MAILS.

- Blaine now appears as the champion of Holden and Ames. Holden wrote him a letter about his grievances.

- The Judiciary Committee have fixed upon four years, instead of six, as the limit of the Presidential office in the proposed constitutional amendment, making, however, the President ineligible.

-- If the South is indebted to Mr. Cox and Mr. Randall for their share in the amnesty debate, it is still more indebted to Gen: Banks for his eloquent utterances in support of the pending bill. What a contrast is nere between Maine and Massachu setts.-Richmond Enquirer.

-A meeting of citizens was held in Norfolk Friday night, to concert measures to raise funds for the Lee Monnmental Association. A strong committee was appointed who will visit all the citizens on the 19th to obtain subscriptions.

- The verdict is that Blaine has been beaten, hoist on his own petard, notwithstanding the assistance given bim by Garfield, who, having made a better speech on all accounts than Blaine, has really carried off the honors so far. - Philadelphia Times spe-

It was like pouring oil upon the troubled waters. It quenched the aroused passions and smoothed their "wrinkled fronts." The Browned Man Again-The Mystery Nolved. The mystery connected with the un known white man whose body was four d floating in the river near the foot of Nun street, on Friday morning, an account of which appeared in our paper yesterday, Rheinstein, A. David, Wm. Goodman, S. has to all appearances been solved; at least, so far as his identity is concerned. It appears that James Powers, 2nd mate of the schr. John H. Converse, Captain Plummer, which cleared from this place for Port au Prince on the 8th inst., went to the Seaman's Home about 1 o'clock on New Year's on the payment of costs. night in a very intextcated condition, mained there until about 2 o'clock, when found guilty and committed to fail, in debeen seen or heard of. A seaman stopping present term of the Superior Court. at the "Home," who claims that he was well acquainted with Powers, says there is no doubt that the body alluded to is that of the missing mate. He gave Special Coroner Van Amringe an accurate description of the deceased, so far as the latter was able to judge by the appearance of the body after remaining in the water so long, on Friday evening, and, upon being shown the articles found on the person of the drowned man, he fully identified them as having belonged to Powers, he having seen them in his possession, and having, on the very day of the unfortunate man's disappearance at night, offered to buy the policeman's silver-plated rattle, referred to as having been taken from the pock at of deceased. He also says that Powers was an Irishman, and has no relatives in this country to his knowledge.

Centennial Project Probably Spoiled. A scheme which was on foot to fit up the fine schooner Charley Bucki, Captain Bagley, now in this port, for a Centennial trip to Philadelphia, has, we learn, been abandoned. It was the design to put her in shape to accommodate about sixty persons, providing her with suitable berths and other conveniences so that the party could remain as long as they pleased, be at comparatively trifling expense, and yet have all the comforts and accommodations they would enjoy at the over-crowded hotels. The Charley Bucki is a new craft, perfectly free from all offensive odors which would attach to an older vessel, and would be in every way excellently adapted to the purpose. Captain Bagley entertained the plan above outlined, and mentioned the matter to us; but, after consultation with a few of our prominent citizens, was induced to relinquish the project as not likely to prove a success. Should any considerable number of our citizens propose to attend any. Celebration at 71 a. m. Morning the Centennial and remain any reasonable Prayer at 11 o'clock. Evening Prayer at length of time this would present an excellent opportunity.

Take Care. Complaint is made by the Signal Office that certain ill disposed parties make targets of the glass insulators supporting the Government telegraph line. More than a dozen glasses have been shot at and broken on Eagle Island. This may be considered good fun by the sportive shooter, but perhaps he is not aware of the heavy penalties attached to such recreations. By special act of Congress entitled "An act to protect lines of telegraph constructed or used by the United States from malicious injury or obstruction," approved March 23d, 1874, it is decreed that any one convicted of maliciously injuring a government telegraph line shall be punished with imprisonment for a term of three years, or by a fine of one thousand dollars, or with Bad Targets.

Complaint is made that some one has been shooting the glass insulators off the poles of the Smithville telegraph line, along the causeway on Eagle Island. We trust the shooting has been done without thought or knowledge of the serious inconvenience to the Signal Service and to the commercial public of this city which results from the breaking of these insulators. It should be understood that when one of them is shot off it is liable to seriously interfere with or entirely interrupt the transmission of messages over the line until the damage can be repaired, thereby causing serious losses to the shipping interests of the port to which the telegraph has proved an unmixed benefit. If, however, the mischief has been done from malicious motives, it may be well to remind the perpetrator that sportsmen are not so plentiful in that neighborhood but that there may be some possibility of their presence being noticed, and that in case of detection a heavy penalty is attached to the pursuit of such vicious sport. Runaway. We are informed that a borse belonging to Mr. J. L. Boatwright, of the firm of Chas. D. The U S. mail box attached to the post was knocked into a dozen pieces, and the vehicle badly wrecked, one wheel being 700 broken completely in two. The horse was also slightly injured. Of his further career, we know only that he was eventually cap'ured, and that the general results of his adventure may be summed up as above stated.
