SPEAKER KEUR'S LETTER.

It is Consured in Washington by Tilden Democrats and Others. WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.

The letter of Speaker Kerr, printed here this morning in favor of Gov. Hendricks for President, creates a good deal of comment, and while all concede to him the right to settle for himself his choice of a Presidential candidate, there are nevertheless those who think he has gone out of his way to advocate the claims of any candidate. Especially are the New York Tilden Democrats dissatisfied with Mr. Kerr's letter. They say they supported Mr. Kerr for Speaker in good faith, and that except for them he would not have been elected, and they feel rather sore that he should so soon take the occasion to repay their services with a declaration intended to make capital for a candidate in opposition to Gov. Tilit is not the place for a Speaker of the House to come out in an open letter in favor of any candidate, and that it would be more becoming in him to wait for the Nominating Con-

North Carolina Politics. Somebody writes to the New York Sun in the interest of . Hon. Josian Turner for Governor. This correspondent, alluding to the prospects of the Conservative party, says:
"It will be hard work, but by united effort it may be possible for the Democracy to give a majority to the State ticket next fall, and thus wipe out every vestige of the Republican rule which has proved so disastrous to the best interests of the

- In an article in Saturday's issue, relative to the removal of the County Work House, we inadvertently stated that a colored man by the name of David West was to take charge of the deserted premises and lise it for a truck garden, etc. We find that we were mistaken in so designating Mr. West. He is not only a white man, but The Wrecked Schooner.

At last accounts the cargo of corn was being removed in small beats, and the probability is that the most of it will be saved, though of course in a

WILMINGTON,

FEBRUARY 2, 1876 N. C. WEDNESDAY.

Safe Belivery of Porter. On Friday night last, as we learn from the Herald, Capt. Whit Anderson, Deputy pese, a very enviable one. Sheriff of the county, returned to Atlanta Attempted Burglary. from the Bade Coal Mines, where he had been to carry J. Flournoy Porter, as he was known here, but "Shppery Joe Porter," as the Herald designates him. Upon taking him from jall, it seems, Capt. Wise, in whose charge he left here, put one cuff on the prisoner's arm and the other on his own, thereby securing him beyond peradventure. This subjected Capt. Wise to close scrutiny from passengers, who seeing the two men chained together, and com-

Porter for the officer. He was under the necessity several times during the trip from Wilmington to Atlanta to rise and explain the true situation. The Herald adds; Upon Porter's person were found several telegrams from Chattanooga, signed by a man named Wilson, in which he stated that everything was ready when reaching the State of Tennessee on the route to the mines to have him released upon a habeas corpus, which had already been issued. Capt. Wise informed Gov. Brown of these ing visitor, in stumbling over the same, caused the noise which resulted in his disdispatches and measures taken to circumvent any such occurrence were it really a

"Capt. Anderson says Porter was very penitent all the way up, and frequently burst into tears, declaring his intention to escape from him if possible, and that he had rather die than go back to the mines.

"Just beyond Calhoun, Capt. Anderson saw him put something in his mouth, when Porter turned to him and said: "Whit, I have done it. I have been intending all the time, if there was no other chance, to take it, and now it's gone. I have had it in my possession all the time; I have taken strychnine.'

Capt. Anderson looked at him calmly for a moment and then remarked: 'Joe, that's too thin. That won't go down.' And as it to be sure that his remarks were well founded, he sat there and watched the effects. As he predicted, it was a ruse in which Porter hoped some chance to escape would present itself in the confusion of un-cuffing him and trying an antidote. But he failed, and was finally landed safely inside of the stockade and left to serve out his unexpired term of ten or twelve months.

Harbor Master's Report.

From Capt. B. G. Bates, Harbor Master, we have the following report of arrivals of vessels at this port for the month of January: Steamers, 16; barques, 19; brigs, 22; schooners, 12; total, 69. Aggregate tonnage, 23,593; aggregate foreign tonnage, 10,770. The report of the pilots of soundings on Bars and Rips, at low water, is as

We learn that Col. E. R. Brink, postmaster at this place, has received a report to the effect that a dwelling house belonging to him and located near Leesburg, Pender county, was destroyed by fire Monday night. The building was valued at $3,000, upon which there is an insurance with Messra. Atkinson & Manning, of this city, of $2,000.

A Hangsome Craft. The new pilot boat Henry Westermann, under command of Capt. Jno. R. Newton, made her first appearance in our waters yesterday. She is the property of Mr. Newton and others, was constructed by Mr. E. Daniel, at Bald Head, and is 41 feet length of keel, 16 feet 8 inches in width of beam, and 5 feet depth of hold. She was launched about three weeks ago, and her present visit is for the purpose of fitting out, receiving necessary papers from the Custom House, &c. She was generally conceded to be one of the neatest crafts affoat by those who inspected her yesterday.

More Trampe. Never before has Wilmington been invaded by such an army of tramps as are now holding high carnival in our midst, They represent many different nationalities and nearly all trades and occupations, even to seamen, who are coming here from Norfolk, Charleston, and other places, seeking a berth in some vessel. Yesterday we heard of numbers of these tramps on the "hills," where they were going from house to house begging for food or for money to procure them a night's ledging. Some are quiet and inoffensive in their personal appearance and manners, and are doubtless deserving of sympathy and aid, while others look every inch the desperado, ready for any emergency or any crime by which they may be able to better their condition physically and financially.

The Out-Boor Poor.

The first day of the month is usually what may be termed a "gala day" with the out-door poor, when the poor and maimed and halt and blind of the county assemble for the purpose of drawing the pitiful rations heretofore allowed them by the County Commissioners. The duty of uing the orders for rations, etc., has been entrusted to the Committee on Poor, peisting of Commissioners Merris and Van Amringe, who officiate for alternate months. Last month, we understand, the sum expended for this purpose was reduced from about $500 to something in the neighborhood of $300, and 'Squire Van Amringe, who officiates this month, proposes, we learn, to still further reduce the expenditure, making it about $200. A large number of paupers presented them-selves yesterday for their usual allowance. but all but the very destitute and the blind were offered the alternative of going to the Poor House, which they refused. About 8 o'clock yesterday morning the family of Dr. T. B. Carr, on Market, bctween Front and Second streets, were aroused by some noise, which, from the nature of it, and the fact of the unsettled state of morals now prevailing in the community, they immediately conjectured to be caused by a burglar. Mr. I. N. Carr instantly sprang from the bed, armed himself, and proceeded to examine the premises in search of the supposed intruder, but could find no trace of any one in the house and was about to abandon the investigation, when, upon opening the door of the conservatory, in the rear part of the building, a man was discovered hastily descending the steps, at whose retreating form Mr. Carr discharged three barrels of his revolver, but without any apparent effect. A lot of wood had been left in the conservatory, and it is supposed that the enterpris-

The Fair and Festival. Considering the dismal weather of last night, the ladies of the First Baptist Church had every reason to feel gratified at the number and spirit of the friends and patrons who called to see them and their pretty wares and to indulge the pleasures of taste under their skillful direction. The tables on the first floor were loaded with things good enough for a king and served by maidens fair enough to charm the cool cash right out of the pockets of even the least susceptible, while on the second floor were displayed specimens of ornamental and decorative work of the ladies' own contrivance and construction, mainly, some of which was so very pretty that some enthusiastic gentlemen when they beheld it were moved to raise it even out of the classification of "fine art" work and make for it a new name and class under the sungoing so far as to call the display a gallery of "superfine arts." The Cornet Concert Club attended, and, supercharged by the contemplation of the scene inside, would now and then sally forth to pour out their surplus of harmony on the evening air. Altogether, everybody seemed pleasedthe ladies by a generous patronage; the patrons by the full return of their money's worth with plenty of pleasant attentions thrown in: the concertists by the general inspiration of the occasion and the consciousness of having tooted well; and, some said they'd like to try it all over Opera House-Fifth Avenue Troupe. This evening we have at the Opera House Mr. Augustine Daly's famous Fifth Avenue Theatre Company, of New York, in the "Big Bonanza," a humorous sensation play, in which the company have met with great success in New York, New Orleans and other cities, and elicited very favorable comments from the press. We have the promise that it will be presented here with "entirely new scenes, elegant dresses, superb stage effects, and a cast comprising all the favorites of the Fifth Avenue Theatre." We feel assured that Mr. Daly will give a performance worthy, the support and encouragement of the playgoers of Wilmington, and bespeak for him a large audience. Since his previous visit here, when he won a very favorable reputation, he has made considerable improvements in his company, as we learn from newspaper reports.

Prof. Gruder, of Iredell county, accompanied by his wife and son, the latter between five and six years of age, will give a musical entertainment in this city Tnursday night, the place to be hereafter designated. Prof. G. claims that he can play on a half dozen instruments at the same time, imitate a brass band with his voice perform difficult feats on the violin, imitate birds with his voice, play any tune on a padlock key, etc. The little boy is also said to be a musical prodigy, and accompanies his father on the violin, while Mrs.

Gruder is represented by the Fayetteville

Seamen's Friend Society. A meeting was appointed to have taken place last evening at the Bethel, but owing to the bad weather prevailing and the attractions elsewhere, only a limited number of members reported and it was deemed best to have a postponement until an oc casion when a fuller attendance could reasonably be expected. The Presiden therefore adjourned the meeting until Tuesday evening the 15th.

APPLETON'S American Cyclopædia

New Revised Edition. Entirely rewritten by the solest writers on every subject. Printed from new type, and illustrated with Several thousand Engravings and Maps.

The wors eriginally published under the title of Tais Naw American Cyclop and was completed in 1865, since which time the wide circulation which it has attained in all parts of the United States, and the signal developments which have taken place in every branch of science, literature, and art, have in duced the editors and publishers to submit to an exact and thorough revision, and to issue a new edition entitled Tais American Cyclop and.

Within the last ten years the progress of discovery in every department of knowledge has made a new work of reference an imperative want.

The movement of political affairs has kept pace with the discoveres of science, and their fruitful application to the industrial and useful arts and the convenience and refinement of social life. Great wars and consequent revolutions have occurred, invelving national changes of peculiar mement. The civil war of our own country, which was at its height when the last volume of the old work appeared, has happily been ended, and a new course of commercial and industrial activity has been commenced.

Large accessions to our geographical knowledge ave been made by the indefatigable explorers of Africa.

Large accessions to our geographical knewledge ave been made by the indefatigable explorers of Africa.

The great political revolutions of the last decade, with the natural result of the lapse of time, have brought into publishing a manistitude of new men, whose names are increased as manistical of new men, whose names are increased to know the particulars.—Great battles have been fought and important slegges maintained, of which the details are an yet preserved only in the newspapers or in the transient publications of the day, but which cought now to take their permanent and authentic history.

In preparing the present edition for the press. I has accordingly been the aim of the editors to bring down the information to the latest possible dates, and to furnish an accurate account of the most recent discoveries in science, of every fresh production in literature, and of the newest inventions in the practical arts, as well as to give a succinct and original record of the progress of political events.

The work has been begun after long and careful praliminary labor, and with the most ample resources for carrying it on to a successful termination.

None of the original attractions place have been used, but every page has been printed on new type, forming in fact a new Cyclopædia, with the same plan and compass as its predecessor, but with a far greater pecuniary expenditure, and with such improvements in its composition as have been suggested by longer experience and enlarged knowledge.

The illustrations which are introduced for the first time in the present edition have teen added not for the analysis of pictorial effect, but to give a second printed by the arter being the analysis of pictorial effect, but to give greater held.
