LONDON, March 25. The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Augsburg Gazette says the re-practically, though not nominally, practically, though not nominally, from the conduct of public affairs, gains ground rapidly. It is also stated that he intends to reside abroad some length of time, probably staying temporarily at Malta, whither the Duchess of Edinburgh will shortly proceed. The Czarewitch will be appointed regent during his absence. The correspondent asserts that statements from high and well-informed quarters corroborate this report.

The Indian Bureau Gen. Alfred M. Scales, of North Carolina, in a speech in the House of Representatives, last Thursday, gave the expenses of the Indian Bureau as "To keep up this Indian Bureau and its agencies two superintendents are required, at $1,000. There are sixty-nine agents at $1,500 each, making $103,500. Then there is the Iowa agency, $500, and seven special agencies, $10,500; clerks, &c., $4,600; five inspectors, $15,000; traveling expenses of same, $7,500; Iudian bureau, $69,880; other expenses, books, &c., $10,000; commissioners of the Indian board, $15,000; and they ask, in addition to that, for $5,000 more. which would be $20,000 a year. These items make in all a sum of $245,000. Then there is spent at each agency $6,000 a year, making $456,000. The total is thus $701,000."

This, of course, says the Baltimore Gazette, is not one half the expense of the bureau, for it may be safely estimated that for every dollar these chaps were paid legitimately they stole at least three.

OBITUARY.

HON. A. O. P. NICHOLSON. telegram from Nashville announces the death of Chief Justice Alfred O. P. Nicholson, of the Supreme Court of that State. He was born in Williamson county, Tenn., August 31, 1808; graduated at Chapel Hill University, North Carolina, in 1827, and commenced the practice of the law in his native State. Taking an active part in politics, he was elected a member of the Legislature in 1833, serving six years, when he entered the United States Senate, serving from 1840 to 1842. He was a member of the Tennesses Senate from 1843 to 1845, and in nessee Senate from 1843 to 1845, and in the latter year was elected Chancellor of the Middle Division of the State. In 1846 and 1847 he was president of the Bank of Tennessee, and was elected Printer of the House of Rep-resentatives by the Thirty-third Con-gress, and Printer of the Senate by the succeeding Congress. From 1853 to 1856 he was editor of the Washington Daily Union. He was elected a Senator in Congress from Tennessee for the term commencing in 1859, and ending in 1865, but was expelled in July, 1861. He was a delegate to the National Union Convention held inPhiladelphia in 1866.

Goode's Amendment to the Election

That if any person, with a view to the election to or obtaining votes for the office of President, Vice President, or the place of Senator, Representative, or Delegate in the Congress of the United States, or to the appointment to any office or post of honor or emolument under the government of the United States of himself or any other person, shall use force or duress, by menace or violence to life, limb. other person, shall use force or duress, by menace or violence to life, limb, property, or liberty, or shall commit bribery, or use money, property, or other thing of value, corruptly to influence any elector, voter, officer, or other person in or in respect to any election or appointment to any such office or post, he shall upon conviction, thereof, be fined not less than $500 nor more than $3,000, and be imprisoned not more than one year, at the discretion of the judge trying the case.

Goode's Victory over Blaine. The victory of Mr. Goode over Mr. Dynamite Boanerges Bobadil Blaine is conceded by all the newspaper correspondents. The Louisville Courier-Journal has a special dispatch from Washington which refers to the debate as follows: "Mr. Blaine, who has been singularly quiet recently, came to the front in a skillful line of attack, designed to break down a bill which would cut off this fruitful source of corruption. He was a special work. corruption. He was repeatedly on the floor, and often out of order, but the floor, and often out of order, but unluckily managed to get into a debate with Mr. Goode, of Virginia, who, though a new member, gained over him a victory as complete as that of Lamar. After a long parliamentary struggle, Mr. Goode's amendment was adopted, and also Mr. John Young Brown's substitute for the original committee bill." committee bill."

The Louisville Courier Journal says: "The second installment is even stronger than the first, instifying all that was looked for."

We begin in January

" PHILIP NOLAN'S FRIENDS. By EDWARD EVERETT HALE.

This is an historical romance. The scene is laid in the southwest, at a time when that territory was first Spanish, then French, and then American, and

That Lass o'Lowrie's,"

By FANNY HODGSON BURNETT.

The friends of "SCRIBNER" who have read "Surly Tim's Troubic," "One Day at Arie," "The Fire at Grantley Mills," and others of Mrs Burnett's short stories, will not need to be assured that they have a rare treat before them. The scene of the new novel is laid in an English mining town, and from the first page to the last the interest is unflagging.

Among other notable papers we mention the following: A SECOND "FARMER'S VACATION," by Col. George E. Waring, descriptive of a row-boat ride of two hundred and fifty miles, in one of the most fertile and interesting of the vine-growing valleys of Europe—a region never seen by the ordinary traveler, but full of interest, in it social and industrial aspects. realized."

The Chicago Inter-Occus says: "Sr Nicholas is an institution of which Young and Old America are as proud as England is of Punch. A house without Sr. Nicholas." centinges the writer, "does not deserve to own any boys and girls; no dog should wag its little tail while pressing its nose through the area rallings; emphatically, we would observe that should the sun condescend to shine upon that house, his solar majesty would make a big mistake."

The First Volume of St. Nicholas

was a surprise even to the public that had heartily welcomed it, number by number. Newspaper crities expressed enthusiastic approval; children and parents were alike de ighted, and congratulatory letters from dissinguished men and women poured in upon the publishers and editor. Charles Dadley Warner wrote: "I do not see how it can be made any better, and if children don't like it, it is time to change that kind of children in this country." Whittier, our great poet, wrote: "It is little to say of this magazine that it is the best child's periodical in the world;" and words of hearty commendation came acress the ocean from such earnest workers and popular laverites of the young as seco. Macdonald, Christina Rossetti, and Canon Kingsley.

Beautifully bound, superbly illustrated, and filled with good things from the best writers (including three long scrial stories), the first volume of St. Nicholas, complete in itself, is a finer Christmas gift for girls and boys to day than any single book in the market, excepting

St. Aicholas for 1875.

The Sunday-School Times says: "A cleaner, purer, more trustworthy periodical for children cannot be named. The magazine does nutclaim to be religious, but it is on the side of all that is true and good, from beginning to end."

Life in California

OURING THE DAYS OF THE GOLD-FEVER

Mr. Brooks brings to this work, in addition to his well-known literary gifts, a therough familiarity with the features of that wild country and the people then flocking toward it. What he has to say of them is pervaded with a sabtle and intense savor of reality that enables the reader to follow the characters in their adventures with a positive sense of companionship. The contagion of the "gold-fever;" the great difficulties and perils which be leaguered their journey across the plains and mountains, and finally the adventurous, half-civilized, and yet, in a certain rude way, postic life in the mines of Galifornia, are all described with wonderful truthfulness and skill. Add to this the elevated tone pervading the work, and the irresistible attraction which such a narrative possesses for boys, and the value of this stirring, healthy serial becomes evident. There is to be another and shorter serial, begin ning in January and running through three numbers.

APPLETON'S American Cyclo pædia New Revised Edition.

Entirely rewritten by the a dest writers on every su-ject. Printed from new type, and illustrates with Several thousand Engravings and Maps. with Several thousand Engravings and Maps.

The work originally published under the title of The New American Cyclopedla was completed in 1863, since which time the wide circulation which it has attained in all parts of the United States, and the signal developments which have taken place it every branch of science, literature, and art, have in duced the editors and publishers to submit to an exact and thorough revision, and to issue a new edition entitled The American Cyclopedia.

Within the last ten years the progress of discovery in every department of knowledge has made a new work of reference an imperative want.

The movement of political affairs has kept pace with the discoveries of science, and their fruitful application to the industrial and useful arts and the convenience and refinement of social life. Great wars and consequent revolutions have occurred, involving national changes of peculiar moment. The civil war of our own country, which was at its height when the last volume of the old work appeared, has happily been ended, and a new course of commercial and industrial activity has been commenced.

Large accessions to our geographical knowledge have been made by the indefatigable explorers of Africer.

The great political revolutions of the last decade.

Africe.

The great political revolutions of the last decade, with the natural result of the lapse of time, have brought into public view a multitude of new men whose names are in every one's mouth, and of whose lives every one is curious to know the particulars.—Great battles have been fought and important slegge maintained, of which the details are as yet preserve maintained, of which the details are as yet preserve.

cent discoveries in science, of every tresh production in literature, and of the newest inventions in the practical arts, as well as to give a succinct and original second of the progress of political events.

The work has been begun after long and careful preliminary labor, and with the most ample resources for carrying it on to a successful termination.

None of the original stereotype plates have been used, but every page has been printed on new type, forming in fact a new Cyclopædia, with the same pian and compass as its predecessor, but with a far greater pecuniary expenditure, and with such improvements in its composition as have been suggested by longer experience and enlarged knowledge.

The illustrations which are introduced for the first time in the present edition have been added not for the sake of pictorial effect, but to give greater held ity and force to the explanations in the text. They embrace all branches of science and of natural history, and depict the most famous and remarkable features of scenery, architecture, and art, as well as the processes of mechanics and manufacturers. Although intended for instruction rather than embellishment, no pains have been spared to insure their artistic excellence; the cost of their execution is enormous, and it is believed they will find a welcome reception as an admirable feature of the Cyclopedia, and worthy of its high character.

This work is sold to be subscribers only, payable on delivery of each volume. It will be completed in sixteen large octavo volumes, each containing about 800 pages, fully illustrated with several thousand Wood Engravings, and with numerous colored Lithograph Maps.

A Representative and Champion of American Art Taste!

Prospectus for 1875. EIGHTH YEAR THE ALDINE THE ART JOURNAL OF AMERICA

Issued Monthly. "A Magnificent Conception, wonderfully carried out."

The necessity of a popular medium for the representation of the productions of our great artists, has always been recognized, and many attempts have been made to meet the want. The successive fallures which so invariably followed each attempt in this country to establish an art journal, did not prove the indifference of the people of America to the claims of high art. So soon as a proper appreciation of the want and an ability to meet it were shown, the public at once railied with enthusiasm to its support, and the result was a great artistic and commercial triumph—THE ALDINE.

THE ALDINE, while issued with all the regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light, and graceful literature; and a collection of pictures, the rarest spectmens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it is bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a a unique and original conception—alone and anapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The peaseasor of a complete volume can not deplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and, there is the chrome, bestdes!

The national feature of THE ALDINE must be taken in no narrow sense. True art is cosmopolitan. While THE ALDINE is a strictly American

The national feature of THE ALDINE must be taken in no narrow sense. True art is cosmopolitan. While THE ALDINE is a strictly American institution, it do a not confine itself entirely to the reproduction of native art. Its mission is to cultivate a broad and appreciative art faste, one this will discriminate only on grounds of intrinsimerit. Thus, while placing before the patrons of THE ALDINE, as a leading characteristic, the productions of the most noted American artists, attention will always be given to specimens from foreign masters, giving subscribers all the pleasure and in struction obtainable from home or foreign sources. The artistic illustration of American scenery original with THE ALDINE, is an important feature, and its magnificent plates are of a size more appropriate to the satisfactory treatment of detail than can be afforded by any inferior page. The judicious interspersion of landscape, marine, figure and animal subjects, sustain an mabated interest impossible where the scope of the work confine the artist too closely to a single style of subject The literature of THE ALDINE is a light and grace ful accompanisment, worthy of the artistic feature with only such technical discussificions as do not in

Dear Sir: The Hunting Suit arrived in good condition by express this afternoon. It fits me splendidly. It seems to me a perfect miracle of cheapness, when I consider the quality of material and the laber involved in making it. My wife says it is the best looking suit I've got. I shall take pains to show it to my friends, and you may hear from them on their own account. With many thanks for your courteousness as well as your skill, I am respectfully yours, FRANCIS H. HEMPERLY. Prest. R. S. Asso'n, for protection of same and fish W. H. Holasino, Eso.

Dear Sir:—As to the suit recently tent me I am more pleased than ever with it, and it is the best fit I have ever had. You can use my name in recommending it for fit, color and general adaption over anything for the same purpose I have tried, either at home or abroad.

TROY, NEW YORK, February 17, 1875. ME HOLABIRD,

Dear Sir:—Have just received your water-proof suit, and to show my appreciation I send an order for two more suits. Was so well pleased with the quality and price that I went immediately to work among my brother sportsmen and hope soon to send you more orders. The cap is the only thing I ever saw to fill my idea of a shooting or fishing cap.

Dear Sir.—I used one of your Duck Hunting Coats through the season last fall and never made an investment in my life that gave me more satisfaction. I want a vest, panta and cap, of the same material.

Yours, WM. BROWN.

BARABOO, WISCOMBIN, March 25, 1875.

W. H. HOLABIRD,

Dear Sir.—Your cost is in every way preferable to the heavy and bunghar cordures that I have been using. The color is just right and, I have noticed that the ducks evidently regard me as nothing more than a harmless bunch of grass, till i gave them two barrels, when they changed their mind.

REV. R. RITERIE. SELEM. ALABAMA, January 39, 1875.

W. H. Helleren.

Dear Sir.—The suits you sent me are the Beat hat have ever been sold here, and every hunted will have one of them. It being rather inte in the season, otherwise I would erder one dozen suits now. I would like to be your agent here and sell them at your prices, as I show them your price list. Hoping to hear from you abon.

Yours truly,

B. JACOBS.
