The chances are now in favor of Democratic victory in Connecticut next Monday. The Tribune's correspondent indicates as much, and there is a general feeling that the majority of last year cannot be overcome. The Greenback movement diverts from the Democrats, but the Prohibitionists get all their support from the Republicans. Besides, it is estimated that twenty-five per cent. of the supposed Greenback strength will be derived from the Republi-

The letter of the Tribune from New Haven concludes:

"Present indications point pretty posi-tively to the re-election of Gov. Ingersoll, by a majority considerably less than that of last year, and a working Democratic najority in both branches of the Legislature, which will insure the election of James English to the seat in the Senate which he now holds by Executive appointment."

THE CONDITIONS OF A BUSINESS

The truth in regard to the revival of business we are satisfied is brought out in the following from the New York Tribune, of Tuesday:

"Ever since the panic of 1873, the hope has been by many indulged, and by some writers persistently encouraged during the winter months, that with each reviving spring we were to have a revival of busi ness. By this, hopeful dealers and their well-meaning but mistaken advisers understood an improvement in prices obtained, as well as in quantities sold. Men indulged the hope that the happy times of active speculation, rapid sales, mounting prices and large profits, were in some mys-terious way to be restored. Many, instead of adjusting their transactions to the new conditions prevailing, have persisted in the old way, year after year, hoping each sea-son to witness during the next the long-delayed revival of business. But repeated disappointments begin at last to teach the needed though unwelcome lesson, namely, that we cannot expect renewed prosperity until we have earned it by some years of patient economy. We must produce at lower cost, stimulate consumption by lower prices and narrower margins, and help manfully to pull the country out of the morass of debt into which it has been plunged by inflation and over-speculations "In one sense there is revival of business, slow but steady. The quantity of products exchanged and consumed, gradually increases as prices slowly settle to the level required for legitimate business and healthful exchange. Trade reports show that receipts of nearly all important products at this market have been larger thus far this year than during the same period in 1875. Yet prices, as every market report reminds those who are indulging false hopes, do not rise, nor is there any sign of specula-tive activity. Business is building slowly on new and more solid foundations. Those will prosper most who catch the spirit of the time most promptly, throw away false hopes, clear away encumbering debts, cultivate economy and thrift, and settle down patiently to earn wealth before spend-

Mr. Hobgood will comply with the request, and we know that no such specimens of the weed ever before crossed the "big pond."

- Ribbesonian : Miss McLeod, an intelligent young lady from the West High-lands, is enjoying the hospitalities of her Scotch relations in Robeson. She is of the McLeods of Rassay, as we are informed, and has braved the dangers of the sea to visit her North Carolina relatives, the McCadums, McLeans, and McGugans, of this county. It is needless to say she has met a Highland welcome. The hearts of the Scotch in Robeson are "always warm to the fartar"

WHOLKSALE ROBBERY.

Store on Market Street Broken Open and Robbed-Arrest of Two of the Thieves-Recovery of a Portion of the Goods, &c.

The grocery store of Mr. Thomas H. Smith, on the south side of Market, between Front and Second streets, was entered Tuesday night and robbed of articles to the value, as far as can now be ascertained, of between $300 and $400. Entrance was effected through the back door, to reach which the thieves had to jump a high fence. The door has a double shutter, leaving when closed a small crack. Through this crack a butcher's knife or something of the kind was inserted, by which the bar which secured the shutters was lifted from its position. The goods were then removed from the store, passed over the fence and carried off.

As soon as the fact of the robbery became known, yesterday morning, Officers Carr and VanSoulen were put on the track, who traced the trail of the thieves from the rear of Mr. Smith's store to the residence of a colored man by the name of David Davis, who lives on the south side of Castle, between Second and Third streets, by grains of coffee which had been dropped on the way while the articles were being removed. This much being ascertained, Mr. Smith was notified and proceeded to the office of Justice Gardner, where he made the necessary affidavit, upon which a search warrant was issued and placed in the hands of the officers named, who went to Davis' house and searched it.

In the meantime, however, Officer Wal cott was dispatched to arrest Davis, who was employed in the bakery establishment of Mr. Lessman, on Second street, between Market and Dock, for fear he might get an inkling of what was going on and make his

In the house of Davis, after a thorough search, the officers succeeded in bringing to light the following articles, some of which were in the garret and some on the lower floors, and all of which were subsequently identified as among those taken from Mr. Smith's store: Two dressed chickens, two turkeys, twenty-five pounds of tobacco, twenty-five dozen eggs, twentytwo bars of soap, fifty pounds of sausages, thirteen cans of condensed milk, twelve boxes of sardines, ten pounds of smoking tobacco, one hundred pounds of flour, two hundred pounds of North Carolina bacon hams, three dozen boxes of matches, fifty pounds of rice, and two bottles of brandy peaches. These articles were recovered and restored to Mr. Smith by 11 o'clock yesterday morning.

Davis, when arrested by Office Walcott and told what it was for essaved to deny any connection with or knowledge of the transaction, but when in formed that the articles had been discov ered in his house, and was made to believe that his wife had divulged all she knew o the matter, he betrayed himself, appa rently unconsciously, by expressing sur oud lecture of Prof. Tripp's course, may be prise that his wife should have made an considered a healthful symptom as regards admission that would be likely to send him to the penitentiary.

George Lee, a colored pressman, em ployed in the job printing office of Mr. S. G. Hall, and well known in the commu nity, was subsequently arrested on the charge of being implicated in the robbery Both parties were required by Justice

Gardner to give justified bonds in the sum of $400 each for their future appearance before him, in default of which they were

It if often alleged, as some excuse for so much thieving going on in the community, that the want of employment, by which an honest livelihood could be earned, is the main incentive; but here we have a case in which both the parties charged with the crime of breaking into and robbing a store have for years been holding regular situations, and were generally believed to be honest and trustworthy.

Since writing the above we learn that, upon application, a search warrant was is sued by Justice Van Amringe, yesterday afternoon, and placed in the hands of proper officers, with instructions to search the premises of Jack Lee, said to be a brother of the George Lee alluded to above, who was believed to have been implicated in the robbery of Mr. Smith's store, and that a portion of the bacon stolen was found in his house. Jack Lee was thereupon arrested and lodged in jail, in default of security, to await a hearing before Justice Van Amringe, this morning, at 10

Too Late-The Bird Flown. A warrant was issued by Justice Van Amringe, yesterday afternoon, on the affidavit of Thos. J. Ramsey, for the arrest of Mary Jane Warsham, charged with taking several articles of clothing from his residence on Queen, between Front and Second streets, where she boarded while engaged at work in the cotton factory. Conspiracy Among Prisoners in the County Jail-A Plot to Escape Frustrated.

A conspiracy on the part of the prisoners in the county jail, among which are seve ral desperate characters, looking to speedy and wholesale delivery, came to the ears of the jailor, Daniel Howard, colored, yesterday morning. It has been the habit, during the daytime, to turn the prisoners loose in the passage up stairs, where they could have an opportunity of stretching their limbs somewhat, and taking needful exercise. The plan was to seize the jailor on one of his periodical visits and lock him up in a cell, when, by their combined etforts, they would be enabled to force their way through the barriers between themselves and liberty. Among the ringleaders in the plot are at least three or four who would not hesitate a moment, it is believed, to commit murder in order to facilitate their escape, and as the jailor has been for tunate enough to discover and frustrate the conspiracy in this instance, he will take care to provide against such a contingency in future by keeping them locked up in their cells. The plot has been under advisement, we understand, for the last two or three weeks.

Magistrate's Court.

A colored woman by the name of Julia Shields, an old acquaintance in police circles, was arraigned before Justice T. M. Gardner, yesterday morning, on the charge of stealing the sum of $15 in greenbacks from a colored man by the name of Alfred Pierce. It seems that Pierce is a "young man from the country," not versed in the "ways that are dark and tricks that are vain," which comprise one of the important phases of city life. He had been at work for some time in Robeson county, and having drawn his money, concluded he would like to "see the world." That being his object he naturally drifted in this di, rection, where he soon fell in with the gay and blooming young damsel alluded to, one of the belles of that charming locality known as "Paddy's Hollow." He took | this stormy month. Let it March into obher around and treated her considerably, and finally, a suitable opportunity presenting itself, she proceeded to treat herself to his pocket-book, containing the amount referred to. He discovered his loss and charged the fair creature with appropriating his funds; but of course she denied the soft impeachment, exclaiming, in the fascinating manner so peculiar to one of her sensitive nature, "La, me! you don' suppose I would do anything like that ?' But Pierce, though verdant, had his own opinion about the matter, and hence had a warrant issued for her arrest. After hear ing the evidence, Justice Gardner ordered the "one more unfortunate" to give bond in the sum of $100 for her appearance a the next term of the Superior Court, in de fault of which she was lodged in jail.

A colored youth, by the name of Alex. McIvor, was arraigned before Justice Cassidey, yesterday, on the charge of having, on or about the 7th of December last, stolen a pair of pants from Christopher Huggins. A warrant for his arrest was issued at the time, but he managed to elude the officer entrusted with it until yesterday morning, when he momentarily exhibited himself on the street and was unceremoniously "gobbled up." He was ordered to give bond in the sum of $50 for his appearance at Court, in default of which he was committed to jail.

The Proposed Monument.

We have received the following relative to the proposed monument to the late Daniel Rowell, colored, of Brunswick

To the Friends of the late Daniel Rowell: The memory of one so henorable in all the relations of life being so dear to us, and, as we believe, to all lovers of good government, it has been suggested to erect a monument to perpetuate the memory of one who proved himself worthy of rights and privileges conferred by the American people, that of suffrage, by casting his for-tunes with those who, while "accepting the situation," still maintain that we are freemen. Now, those who are disposed to contribute to so laudable a purpose will please leave their contributions with Jos. J. Gay or E. R. Taylor, who will receipt for the same and see that they are properly applied to the purpose above stated.

Heavy Robbery in Cape Fear Town-

The smokehouse of Samuel C. Nixon. an industrious and well-to-do colored farmer of Cape Fear Township, in this county, about eleven miles from the city, was broken open Tuesday night and robbed of three hundred pounds of bacon. The thieves (as there must have been more than one concerned in the robbery) also 'sucsent no positive clue to the identity of the perpetrators, but steps have been taken which will probably lead to the detection of that Mr. Motte, of the same township, was robbed of a large quantity of meat.

RIVER AND MARINE ITEMS.

- Nothing of interest from below. - The river last evening wore an unusu ally placid appearance for this particular

- The steamer Rebecca Clyde, Capt. Donnell, sailed from Baltimore for this port

- The storm signal was again flying yesterday morning, and the wind blew quite brisk during the earlier part of the day, but towards evening it moderated to an almost "dead calm."

- Capt. Edgar Williams, of the steamer Wm. Nyce, has discovered a new channel near the jettee, about one mile and a half below Market dock, the barn at that point bearing inside the creek going down the river, and which has been christened "Nyce Cut." This channel, we learn, will carry eighteen inches more water than the one generally used. - The steamer Louisa, Rumley, at Georgetown, S. C., March 22, from Charleston, reports that in passing Cape Romain sighted a vessel ashore; lowered a boat and sent it out to her, but the vessel was so high up they were unable to reach her. The captain of the schooner launched his boat and met the steamer's boat, and reported that his vessel was the Carrie Melvin, bound from Wilmington, N. C., to Georgetown, S. C.; that on Monday afternoon of the 20th, the wind blowing a gale and sea running high, she came to an anchor off Cape Romain, that during the night the chains parted and she went ashore, and that they were not more than a 100 yards from the beach then. Capt. Rumley, finding he could render no assistance, proceeded to Georgetown.
