OPENING OF THE CENTENNIAL.

Yesterday the American Centennial of Independence opened with great eclat. Philadelphia was all animation and loveliness, so to speak. The telegraph informs us that there were fifty thousand persons on the grounds, which is indeed a much smaller number than we thought would be present.

Spirits Turbulent.

The Charlotte firemen will celebrate the 30th of May. — Ribeson will declare for Vance for Governor, and Ashe for Congress, says the Democrat. — Spewmorrow Agricultural Club holds its sessions regularly in the Brownsville section of Granville County.

MEMORIAL DAY.

MAY 10th, 1876.

After a season of storm and rain the day set apart upon which to carry out the beautiful custom, once a year, of repairing to our lovely "City of the Dead" and decorating the graves of the fallen heroes there sleeping who gave up their lives for the "Lost Cause," dawned upon us in all the beauty and splendor of glorious sunshine, undimmed by a passing cloud.

THE PROCESSION.

In accordance with the published programme, formed on Market street, under the direction of Col. J. L. Cantwell, Chief Marshal, at 8 o'clock, p. m., a salute having just previously been fired at the foot of Orange street by the Cape Fear Light Artillery. The first Division was under the charge of Assistant Marshals C. L. Dudley, M. A. Curtis and J. B. Huggins, and consisted of the Cape Fear Artillery, under the command of Capt. H. G. Flanner; the Wilmington Cornet Concert Club, the Wilmington Light Infantry, under the command of Capt. M. P. Taylor; the Chaplain, the Ladies' Memorial Association, the Children's Memorial Association, and Schools in charge of their respective teachers. The second Division was in charge of Assistant Marshals Wm. Calder, Marsden Bellamy, J. W. Perdew, and F. W. Kerchner, and was comprised of the Association of Officers of the Third North Carolina Infantry, bearing a tattered and battle-scarred flag upon which was inscribed "May 20th, 1776" and "May 20th, 1861," the former in the upper and the latter in the lower margin; organizations from other Confederate Army and Navy forces, including survivors of the old Cape Fear Light Artillery, the Eighteenth North Carolina Regiment of Infantry, and Southerland's Battery; Confederate Officers, soldiers and sailors, members of fire companies, civic associations, citizens on foot, &c. The third Division was in charge of Assistant Marshals Robert Rankin and Norwood Giles, and consisted of disabled officers, soldiers and sailors in carriages.

AT THE CEMETERY.

Long before the procession arrived parties in carriages and on foot to the number of many hundreds had congregated upon the Cemetery grounds. Here Assistant Marshals W. M. Parker and H. Volkers were in charge, or at least of the Confederate enclosure and grounds adjacent thereto, and under their direction ropes had been extended across the different avenues of approach to the Confederate lot, from which were suspended the warning words in conspicuous lettering, "No carriages allowed to pass up this avenue." A rope was also extended around the Confederate lot, leaving a space of about four or five feet upon which the crowd was not to intrude until after the procession had arrived and filed into the enclosure. Those who arrived in advance, which included a very large per centage of our white population, eagerly awaited the arrival of the procession, which soon filed up the beautiful avenue leading to the Confederate lot, the band playing one of its sweetest strains, and the splendid flow uniforms and gay trappings of the Wilmington Light Infantry set off to excellent advantage as they ascended the gentle slope from the entrance of Oakdale to the Confederate Cemetery.

MEMORIAL CEREMONIES.

The different associations, organizations, &c., having been assigned their positions inside the enclosure, and a salute having been fired by the Cape Fear Light Artillery, just outside of the Cemetery grounds, the Cornet Concert Club opened the memorial ceremonies with music, at the conclusion of which Col. J. L. Cantwell, Chief Marshal, announced music by the choir, when the following was beautifully rendered by the ladies and gentlemen composing it: Rest soldier, rest, thy labor is done, Life's battle is fought, life's work is done, Fought thou for freedom, fought thou for right, Rest soldier, in Heaven, so bright. Call it not death, for thou sleepest, Thy soul holds communion with God; Peace be to thee, thy memory is blest; Died thou for freedom, then rest, soldier, rest.

FLORAL OFFERINGS.

Were next in order, and beautiful wreaths, garlands and bouquets, each bearing the inscription of the loved one for whom it was intended, were tendered to the Marshal, who placed them in proper position on the mound at the foot of the noble statue "to the Confederate dead," calling out each name as he did so. The following are among those who were thus remembered: First was a beautiful banner which had been borne in the procession by the Children's Memorial Association, inscribed, "To the Unknown Dead." Then came offerings to the following, in the order in which they are named: Private Henry Craig, Sergeant James F. McKee, W. W. Gregg, Lieut. Willie Quince, Brigadier-General Geo. B. Anderson, Lieut. M. J. Murphy, Maj. Gen. W. H. C. Whiting, Col. Champ T. N. Davis, Sergeant Thos. Hill, Lieut. Edwin J. Garrison, Lieutenant Richard Quince, Private Andrew J. Flanner, Lieutenant Thomas Cowan, Private Henry Sneeden, Sergeant Charles A. Sparrow, Lieut. George R. Johnson, Adjutant Jack Ellis, Col. Charles E. Lew, Sergeant W. A. Montgomery, Capt. Walker Anderson, Lieut. Daniel McNair, Capt. John Preston Giles, Capt. W. T. Muse, Private James Lester. The last was a beautiful tribute in the shape of a lyre, inscribed with the words "In Memoriam" at the top and "Edwin Fuller" at the lower end. This handsome and touching testimonial was placed on the mound for a short time, when it was removed, it being the intention of the ladies to ship it by last evening's express to the family of the deceased poet, as a token of their sympathy and appreciation. Next came the ROLLS OF HONOR, which was read by the Chief Marshal, as follows: Died during the War.—Lt. Cicero Craig, Lt. — Kelly, Col. Wm. M. Farley, Col. Alex. Duncan Moore, Sergeant Major Alex. Duncan Moore, Capt. Robert G. Rankin, Private Wm. J. Rothwell, Private Clarence Martin, Sergeant — Tennant, Capt. John F. S. VanBokkelen, Lt. Theodore Deems, Lt. Daniel Shackelford, Sergeant Jas. Theodore Shackelford, Private Edward S. DeRosset, Captain Robert C. Green, Sergt. Maj. Robert C. McKee, Major Alexander MacRae, Maj. Robert B. MacRae, Maj. Henry MacRae, Lt. Jas. Price, Lt. Willie Wooster, Capt. Jas. A. Wright, Sergt. Maj. Chas. Thomas Wright, Colonel Gaston Meier, S. Capt. Edward G. Meares, Maj. James C. Stevenson, Sergt. Geo. W. Barr, Ravenscroft Barr, Lt. Jos. Jacobs, Col. Peet, Private Willie Peck, Private Joe Hill Wright, Surgeon Robinson, Captain Willie Walker, Surgeon Walker Gardner, Lt. Robert Davidson, Lt. Frederick J. Moore, Capt. George B. Atkins, Private Thomas Cowan, Lieut. R. S. Lane, Lieut. Wm. Ancrum Lord, Privates J. F. Herring, Edward Reeves, Charles Morris, W. P. Lane, — McGuire, Robert Burns Banks, — Blumenthal. Died Since the Close of the War.—Colonel Robert H. Cowan, Capt. John S. Poisson, Capt. John C. McIlhenny, Capt. C. W. Styron, Private James Dudley, Col. John D. Barry, Lieut. Willie Kelley, Private James I. Whitehead, Capt. Willie R. Emple, Private James G. Davis. A salute was next fired by the Wilmington Light Infantry, when the various soldiers' graves scattered over the Cemetery were appropriately decorated, which closed the duties and ceremonies of the day. Among the several tasty and appropriate banners borne in the procession, our attention was particularly attracted to one borne by the pupils of the Misses Kennedy and Hart's school, which was very handsome, having on one side the representation of a broken sword, with the inscription, "The Broken Sword is Still Bright," and on the other the words, "The Folded Banner Remains Unstained." The ranks of the two military companies, we were glad to see, were fuller than we have ever noticed them. The crowd on the grounds was variously estimated at from 2,500 to 4,000. A Dranged Man Burns Himself to Death with Kerosene Oil. A horrible case of self-destruction occurred in this city Tuesday night, about 12 o'clock, the victim being Mr. Elias L. Wilson, son of the late Elias R. Wilson, well known in this community. It seems that deceased had been insane for some time and had been confined in the hospital for lunatics at the County Poor House. As he showed no disposition to commit violence, he was allowed considerable liberty, and on Friday evening last he escaped and went to the house of his mother in this city. Here Superintendent Scott found him, but it appeared that he was ill, having been attacked with convulsions, a physician being in attendance upon him, and under the circumstances, and at the earnest solicitation of the man's mother, Mr. Scott left him there. Tuesday he appeared so much better that his mother dispensed with the company that had been sitting up with him at night; but about twelve o'clock that night he again became unmanageable and finally succeeded in saturating his night clothes with kerosene oil, to which he applied a match, notwithstanding the efforts of his mother to prevent him from doing so. His clothing, of course, was quickly in a light blaze. He then ran into the yard, followed by his mother, who endeavored to secure assistance and had gone about fifteen steps, when he turned and retraced his course towards the house; but fell before reaching the door, uttering, as he did so, two or three unearthly screams. He was horribly burned and died in a very few minutes, having, as may be supposed, suffered the pangs of torment. Coroner Hewlett held an inquest, the jury returning a verdict that deceased came to his death by committing suicide by burning himself. A Case of Drowning. A colored boy, fishing in the river near Messrs. Wilder & Morion's distillery, yesterday morning about 7 o'clock, discovered the body of a white man in the river, which upon investigation proved to be that of Mr. George Dahmer, aged about 75 years, who had been residing for three years past with his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Margaret Dahmer, corner Third and Brunswick streets. It appears that he left the house about 5 o'clock in the morning, but how he came to get into the river is a mystery. It is thought by some that he might have been suffering from mental aberration; but this is mere conjecture, as it was his custom to walk down to the river every morning before breakfast. Coroner Hewlett held an inquest over his body, the jury returning a verdict that deceased came to his death by drowning, but whether accidental or otherwise is unknown. A Case of Forgery. A colored individual, by the name of Thomas Sedberry, was arrested yesterday on the charge of forgery. It appears that on the 5th instant, a colored man went to the house of one John Mitchell, colored, living in Brooklyn, and presented to his wife, Henrietta Mitchell, an order addressed to her and purporting to be signed by her husband, saying: "Pay John 75 cents." Not suspecting anything wrong, she paid the money and the man left. It was noticed that he immediately went across the street, where another man appeared to be waiting for him, and that the two exchanged hats. When John Mitchell came home in the evening, his wife mentioned the circumstance, when John said that he had given no such order. After further discussing the matter, and it being ascertained that the man with whom the bearer of the order exchanged hats had a bunch of fresh water fish for sale, Mitchell pushed his inquiries still further among his neighbors, and found out that the man with the fish was one Dick Brown. Mitchell then went down to Justice Gardner, to whom he explained the case, and a warrant was issued for Brown. When brought to trial on Tuesday the latter asked for a continuance until Wednesday, giving as his reason that he wanted to get the man who came from Mitchell's house and exchanged hats with him, saying the other proposed the exchange and promised to pay him boot.

THE PILGRIM.

This great representation on canvas of "Bunyan's Dream" will be on exhibition at the Opera House to-night. An exchange says of it: "As a piece of panoramic art, it surpasses anything of the kind we ever saw in Macon. The last, or transformation scene, is indescribably brilliant and beautiful, and must be seen to form any conception of what it is. All admirers of the beautiful in art, all refined and intelligent persons, and particularly all Christians, will greatly admire this matchless production."

WARD MEETINGS.

Meetings of the several Wards of the City of Wilmington of the Democratic Conservative party, are hereby called for Tuesday evening, May 10th, at 8 o'clock, to appoint delegates to the County Convention and a City Executive Committee for the ensuing campaign.
