The two sides of the flag bear respective'y the same characters, enlarged upon and, as it were, intensified, as the obverse and reverse sides of the medal used by the North Caroand principal side having a political longing to it. Each side has a meameter on a white silk surface of seven feet in length by four feet in height, heavily fringed and corded with blue silk.

The Medallion on the obverse side shows the State arms; the figure of Liberty holding the spear and cap of freedom in the left, and in the right a scroll of North Carolina Constitution; and that of Prosperity, leaning on a horn of plenty, and presenting with her left hand an ear of corn. The sea coast and mountains of the State are indicated in the background, and the Medallion is surrounded by monochrome leaf ornarounded by monochrome leaf ornamentation, grey in color, and combining the holly and white oak.

Over the top arches a gilt scroll, inscribed "Mecklenburg Declaration, May, 20th, 1775;" and below in straight lines and lighter gilt run the words: "N. C. Mr. Moore was badly bruised on his body, and severely cut in the head and shoulder. Mr. Bassett was wounded in several places by knives.

At this juncture a negro named

The crowd of negroes was variously estimated at from 500 to 1,000. Mr.

Cotton, with unparalleled courage, took the wounded prisoner from the drug store through the crowd to the court house, and delivered him to

Sheriff Cobb, requesting the Sheriff to help him quell the riot, as his police force was disabled by wounds. Sheriff Cobb replied that he couldn't do anything, that he had tried and was powerless. Mr. Cotton then called on the Mayor, Capt. Phillips, to de-tail a special police force. He then went out to summon witnesses for the prisoners. Capt. Philips called on the colored fire company, James Redmond, Captain, who formed a Thermometer Record. The following will show the state of the thermometer, at the stations mentioned, at 4.35 yesterday evening, Washington mean time, as ascertained from the daily bulletin issued from the Signal Office in this city:

We hear of quite an amusing incident in connection with two young gentlemen who visited Wrightsville Sound on the 4th, and can only vouch for its correctness on the strength of the fact that we got the "pints" from one of the party to the transaction. It seems that they were riding down in a buggy, while several other vehicles in which were a number of ladies were jogging on close behind them. Owing to the difficulty of getting water on the route our two friends had come prepared with the wherewithal to "wet their whistles," in case they should get dry. The flask containing the same had been carefully placed behind a cloth attached to the dash-board, but the jostling of the vehicle had caused it to slide down into the bottom of the buggy. Noticing this fact, one of the party snatched it up, threw it into the lap of the other and told him to conceal it. It happined that the stopper was out, and the or or ferous fluid commenced splashing out into the lap of the young man, when his companion, with a smile that was "childlike and bland," softly whispered, "Drop it outside into the road." Gazing up into the neighboring trees, as if in seach of a squirrel, the one appealed to, deciding to obey the whispered warning, gently seized the offending flack, quietly lifted it to the side of the buggy, held it suspended for a moment and-"let her drop!" As he did so, a little urchin who was running along the road velled out at the top of his voice, "Say, mister, you've drapped yer bottle!" The attention of the ladies was attracted, the es e ice of "old rye" was gently wafted to their olfactories, they imagined they saw "spirits" flitting about the wreck of an empty flisk under their horses' hoofs, and the young men-well, "imagine their phe-

Horrible Crime. Information has come to our knowledge of a horrible crime alleged to have been committed in this city on the night of the 15 Kentucky (from Virginia)....... 1792 tell on each other, though they fight. southerly winds, with stationary tempera- 5th inst. The particulars, as far as we have been able to ascertain, are as follows: It appears that Mr. Jos. D. Ward, who is a carpenter by trade, residing on Castle, between Eighth and Ninth streets, was out at Mr. W. F. Potter's place at work on some buildings, and on the night in question, between one and two o'clock, a negro man broke into the residence of Mr. Ward, went to the room occupied by Mrs. Ward, seized her by the throat and gagged her, and then proceeded to accomplish his hellish purpose. There was no one in the house at the time with Mrs. W. except a little daughter, aged about three years, who was so badly frightened that she could not give the alarm. Mrs. W. discharged a pistol after him as he went out of the yard, but without effect.

There is no clue to lead to the detection of the fiendish perpetrator of the horrible deed, though Mis. Ward says she thinks she would know the brute if she were to see him again. His tracks were subsequently discovered, and it was found that he was barefooted.

The Case of James Heaton.

The case was called at 11 o'clock vester day morning, and the respondent to the rule put in his answer. He disavowed any intention of being disrespectful to the Court, or of obstructing the course of justice. After considerable preliminary discussion on the part of counsel, the question of the admission of testimony countervailing the statements of the respondent came up. This question was decided by the Court in favor of the introduction of any evidence the prosecution might have. Court then took a recess for dinner.

At 4 o'clock, P. M., Judge McKoy resumed his seat, when Mr. Davis arose and stated that, as the counsel for the prosecution had not been able to discover any testimony which would traverse the respondent's answer, they all concurred that the rule should be discharged; but as there appeared to have been a prima facie case against him that the respondent should be ordered to pay the costs of the rule. The rule was then discharged at Mr. Heaton's costs, who then, after a reprimand from the Court, resumed his duties at the Clerk's

A Novel Race in Prospective. The Little Katie is the name of a handsome little row-boat just launched by Mr. G. Herring, of this city. She weighs 86 pounds and cost $86-a dollar a pound. A gentleman who has his summer residence on the Sound has proposed a race between his sail boat and the Little Katie with her four oars, he to put up $150 against Mr. Herring's boat. As Mr. H. is likely to accept the challenge we may look for the race to come off soon.

A Scrub-Race at Wrightsville. We learn that there will be a scrub race at Wrightsville Sound on Thursday next, the 13th inst., in which all the boats of the Carolina Yacht Club are expected to participate. Two purses will be made up as prizes to the winning boats and a good time generally is expected.

Rev. J. B. Davis, D. D., President of North Carolina College, is in this city, and will preach in the Lutheran Church on Sunday next, both in the morning and at night, in the English language only.

CLOSING EXERCISES OF ROCKY POINT ACADEMY.

ROCKY POINT, N. C., July 5, 1876. The closing exercises of Rocky Point Academy, under the efficient management of Rev. F. A. Bishop, were consummated to-day. Yesterday the examination of the students was rigidly conducted by a committee selected for that purpose. Prizes having been offered to those receiving first and second distinction, the contest was close and spirited, but after a careful computation the prizes were adjudged to Misses Celia Duncan and Clara Helme without regard to distinction, as they were equal in proficiency.

This morning the annual sermon was preached from the 97th Psalm, 1st verse, by the Rev. J. E. Manu. It evidenced careul research, and was a strong logical argument against Atheism, growing gradually in its proportions and burning pathos until it stood a massive structure, eloquent with

In the afternoon the compositions of the girls were read, after which the prizes—a Hymn Hook and Bible—were presented with a few beautiful and touching remarks by Rev. Mr. Mann. Then followed the speeches of the boys and young men; which were so good that it is impossible to discriminate. Indeed, throughout the scholars showed careful training, and did credit to themselves, their institution and instructor.

The finale was the literary address by Dr. W. T. Ennett, which far excelled anything we had ever heard him deliver, and was in every way adequate to any literary occasion. His theme was: Education, the reserver of Moral and Religious Culture, in which he showed the necessity of nurturing with jealous care our educational institutions, through whose channels alone the dews of peaceful serenity can be sprinkled upon every hearthstone of our
