OXFORD.

The Political Situation-Fourth District sure for Davis-W. N. H. Smith peaks. [Special Star Correspondence.]

OXFORD, N. C., Sept. 1. Our court, after a session of three and a half weeks, adjourned on yestirday. Judge Seymour gave satisfaction to all. The lawyers think him the best Judge who has tried causes in our court under Radical anspices. He was fairend courteous, and gave evidence of being a good lawyer. I must mention one thing to his credit. He would only receive pay for the actual time court held. Other judges-notably Judge Moore -if court adjourned on Tuesday or Wednesday, did not fail to charge for the entire week. Judge Seymour was only paid to last night. This is improvement.

The County Commissioners, who were charged with fraud, escaped through the corruption of one Norwood, who stood by them to the last, although the other eleven were for finding guilty. Norwood is soon to marry a daughter of Dic't Jones, one of the culprits. Although the ends of justice failed, they are morally guilty and are so regarded. They will not be renominated by their party, but as bad men as they are may be chosen.

Tilden and Vance Clubs are springing up in various parts of the county and the fires are beginning to burn. The Democratic Convention to nominate county candidates meets on the 16th inst. A good ticket will be put in the field. Capt. Jo Davis will certainly be elected, if there is any thing in favorable signs. Young can not carry Granville by more than 500, although he claims 900 or more. Davis will carry Johnston by at least 600 majority. Davis says he can beat Young and give him 1,000 majority in Granville.

I hope Judges Merrimon and Fowle will speak in this county before the election. I think they can do good. Last week Hon. W. N. H. Smith made an impressive speech before the Tilden and Vance Club. Capt. Davis is expected to speak here in a day or KHODOHETE.

Unrivalled Seemory-Wilmingtonians Rusticating-Gen. Leach and Gen. Clingman, Btc. [Special Star Correspondence.]

ASHEVILLE, Aug. 31, 1876. We have been going and seeing this bright mountain country since we left Henry's on Monday, until we are wearied with the beauty of our Western Carolina-if one can be wearied with magnificent scenery. It is certain that the "view" from McDowell's farm, known as "Mc-Dowell's Views," is the most splendid sight in all this portion of the State, and if its equal is to be found in America we know not where, The picture, looking to the west from this high land point, where you behold the "French Broad" winding amongst the high hills fringed by meadows of unsurpassed fertility, while to the left, coming in from the east the "Swannanoa" is gracefully winding amongst the meadows covered with magnificent crops of grass and corn, (the other crops are gathered) and, bending to the North, unites its waters with the far-famed French Broad, is most gorgeously beautiful. From this point you "I sgah" to the west, the Cumberland Mountains of Tennessee to the north, and the Black Mountains to the east; the Swannanoa Gap and the Hickory Nut Gap also to the east-mountains everywhere. All therewith many points of minor interest, are in full view from "McDowell's Views." Asheville is quite lively. Many Wilmingtonians are here and passing here daily; added to this, the excitement of the political canvass makes things look lively and enjoyable.

Why more of our people do not It will leave at 7.55 A. M. and arrive at 6.05 come here is remarkable. If they P. M., as heretofore. knew what was in store for them they would come in crowds, as they will come as soon as the conveyance

Gen. Wagener. An incident in the life of the late John A. Wagener, of Charleston, who died a few days since, was overlooked in the sketch of his life and public services which appeared in our editorial columns Wednes day last. We allude to the fact that when it was determined to organize the German Volunteers of this city, in the year 185-, some of the most prominent members wrote to Gen. Wagener to come here and give them a start. He acceded to their request, came to Wilmington, and remained here an entire month, giving his attention to the task he had undertaken of drilling the company and perfecting the members in the manual of arms. During his stay here rooms were provided for him at one of the hotels, and his expenses were paid by the members of the company. As a result of the efforts of the General, who took a deep interest in the matter, the German Volunteers soon became one of the best drilled military organizations in the South, and the members of the company who still survive have since entertained a lively recollection of his visit and an exalted opinion Weldon Railroad has been discontinued for of him personally.

A Detective in Hot Water.

W. G. Evans, a colored detective from Columbia, S. C., who came here to look after a colored boy charged with having committed larceny in that place, got himself into hot water. He came up with the boy and took the preliminary steps for his arrest, when the latter had a warrant issued for the detective, who was brought before a magistrate on the charge of assault and battery. The consequence was that the Columbia officer was ordered to give a justified bond of $100 for his appearance in the future, to stand a preliminary examination. He gave the bond and departed yesterday for Columbia to procure the attendance of necessary witnesses against the Mortuary Report. There was only one permit granted for interment in Oakdale Cemetery during the week ending yesterday, and that was for a child that died at Greenville Sound. For the month of August there were only ten interments in this Cemetery, and five of this number died elsewhere and their bodies were brought here for burial. This leaves only five for Wilmington during the mouth. During the same month in 1875 there were fifteen interments, two of the number having died elsewhere, which shows a decrease of eight for August, 1876, as compared with August, 1875. This speaks well for the general good health of the city.

A Bale of Cotton Going the Rounds. presented to the orphan asylum by a gentleman of Wayne county. Being put upon the market at Goldsboro it was bought by the Masons of that place for $100 and the money sent to the asylum. The lodge sent it to Raleigh, where it was sold again for $75. It was then shipped to Charlotte to be sold again, and we learn from the Observer that the fraternity there will purchase it and probably forward it to Wilmington, to be again put on the market. "Keep the bale in motion." It is a small one and classes stained.

Brunswick Superior Court. In the case of John Statcher, convicted of larceny in the early part of the week, an appeal has been taken to the Supreme Court, a bond of $1,000 being required for his appearance and $50 on the appeal. Up to the time the steamer J. S. Underhill left Smithville, Statcher had not given the necessary bond. The Court was still in session, being engaged on civil cases.

A Nuisance Remedied.

The old tan-yard nuisance, about which there was so much complaint a few weeks ago, has all been done away with through the skillful management of Sergeant Mc-Garrigle, of the police force. The stagnant water has disappeared, the sewer has been put in good order, and there will now be no further apprehension from that quarter.
