The Fire Yesterday. Yesterday afternoon, about a quarter to 1 o'clock, the clang of bells announced the alarm of fire, which was soon found to proceed from the residence of Mr. W. L Beery, on Front, between Ann and Nun streets. The flames were bursting through the roof and had got, under such headway before the engines could get into position and get a stream on the burning building, that serious apprehensions were felt that they would be communicated to other houses in the immediate vicinity; but by the aid of blankets spread upon the roofs of the buildings nearest the fire, which - Capt. Nat. Atkinson, of Bunwere kept saturated with water thrown upon them from buckets, and the exertions of men who mounted the various roofs and prevented the lodgment of sparks, the fire was kept confined to the one building until three good streams from the "Adrian," "Little Giant" and "Cape Fear" commenced to battle with the flery element, when the seething flames began gradually to succumb and dwindle in their majesty and pale before the supe riority of the agency brought to bear against them. In the meantime the Hook and Ladder Company were not idle, all the communicating links between the burning building and the surrounding property being speedily removed through their exer tions and other necessary assistance rendered toward preventing a spread of the flames. The Bucket Companies were also on the ground and did good service. The building was quite a large one, two stories high, and, although the fire had pro gressed to such an extent before the streams from the engines could be got upon it, the lower story was preserved almost intact, as far as ravages from the fire were concern ed. The damage from water and other sources will, however, render it comparatively worthless. The most of the furniture was removed but some of it, we learn, was considerably damaged. The loss on the building and furniture will probably reach $2,000 to $2, 500, to say nothing of the damage to the beautiful grounds in front, which is no inconsiderable item. We learn that there was no insurance on the property. The fire, we understand, is supposed to have originated from some defect in th chimney, might work to be w

Thermometer Records attale it jus The following will show the state of the thermometer, at the stations mentioned, at. 4.81 yesterday evening, Washington mean, time, as ascertained from the daily bulletin issued from the Signal Office in this city:

That Republican Pole,

A rather rough looking specimen of a pole, with topmast to match, was hauled | luded to a few days since as having erected in, through the assistance of a yoke of oxen, yesterday, and deposited in front of Vance flag had been suspended, having the Court House. We hear it is intended concluded that their pole was not long to be a Republican pole. If there is any truth in the saying that it is "the longest pole that gets the persimmon," the one on Front street, from which the banner of Tilden and Vance so proudly floats, will have a decided advantage. And then as to its other qualities: It is almost as crooked as the policy, promises and performances of the Republican party, and is suggestive of "crooked whiskey" and the devious ways generally of that rapidly decaying "faction." It is of pine, which is suggestive of the present condition of "the party," who are pine-ing at the loss of Indiana and West Virginia, and over their doubtful successes in Ohio and Colorado, and who will also soon be su-pine-ly awaiting another turn in the wheel of fortune. It is of the particular quality of pine known as "long-leave," which is suggestive of the fact that Gen. Rutherford B. Hayes will soon take a long leave of his Presidential aspirations, Grant of his warm berth in the White House, and the thousands of thoroughly sated office-holders and hangers-on of their fat positions under the Government, Til-den, when we shall witness the consummation so devoutly to be wished by every true patriot and wellwisher of our long-suffering, tax ridden Republic, let us all work and weary not in the great struggle for reform.

Mayor's Court. The case of Jane Arrington, colored, charged with setting fire to the dwelling house of Mr. Harry Webb, in this city, on the night of Sunday, the 22d first, had a hearing before Acting Mayor Cassidey yesterday morning. The evidence, in his opinion, being conclusive as to the guilt of the defendant, she was turned over to the Sheriff without benefit of bail, to be lodged in the county prison, to await trial before the present term of the Superior Court.

The case of Charles Livingston alice Charles Bradley, colored, charged with making an assault upon his wife with a deadly weapon, having been proved to be of unsound mind, was turned over to the Sheriff for the action of the Board of County Commissioners. Maria Wortham, colored, charged with loud and boisterous cursing and swearing and other disorderly conduct on the streets on Sunday night last, in the neighborhood of Brooklyn Hall, also being deemed a lunatic, was turned over for the action of the County Commissioners.

Still Present in the Plesh. It seems that Royal Robinson, otherwise 'Preacher," whose death in South Carclina was announced in this paper Sunday morning, on what we considered good Republican authority, was "scotched, not killed." In other words, as reported since in a Columbia paper, he was badly beaten on account of his advocacy of Democratic principles, which was the extent of the trouble. Royal is now reported on a visit to Wilmington,
