Richard C. Badger bears an honored name. Read the following and see how he brings reproach upon it. If he is to be believed the Radical party mean Revolution. If he knows what is the meaning of what he utters, then wicked, reckless, unscrupulous men are resolved to destroy the very government they profess to uphold and defend. Read what he says of the devilish purposes of his maddened and venal party, and then swear in your heart of hearts that you will from now until the day of election give your time and your talents to the cause of your country. Be true to yourselves, and "quit you like men."

"Strike for your altars and your fires, Strike for the green graves of your sires, Strike until the last armed foe expires, God and your native land."

Read this, fellow countrymen, which we copy from the Newbern letter in the Raleigh News of 29th inst. Badger, who is U. S. District Attorney, made a speech to the negroes at James City, in which he said:

That any colored man who would vote for Tilden and Vance was a criminal, unworthy the ballot, and deserving the scorn worthy the ballot, and deserving the scorn and contempt of his race. He hesitated not to say, and assure them that the United States Senate would refuse to declare Tilden elected, in the event he should receive a majority of the votes of the Electoral Cullege, and would most surely and certainly reject the returns from South Carolina, Louisiana and Florida, provided those States voted for Tilden. To crown all, not content with delading the impress that well. content with deluding the ignorant but wellintending audience; not satisfied with exciting prejudice in the bosoms of the two hundred negroes present, this man Badger, aptly styled the 'degenerate son of a noble sire,' when concluding, requested that the soulstirring melody of John Brown, which embodied the first principle and the gist of Republicanism, be sung as a special favor to him. Waving his bat and wildly gestionis included the stored among them shouling at the la in the stood among them shouling at the top of his voice and keeping time, while the negroes, perfectly wild, went throughthe most disgusting and humiliating spectacle a white man ever witnessed. God may forgive Badger, but the people never

WILMINGTON, N. C., TUESDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1876.

Steele, Bennett, Dargan, Polk and Waring are making it lively for the Radicals of the Pee Dee. Dockery has fled the country.

The color line is broken in Charlotte. Twenty-eight colored men joined the Democratic club on Friday night.

Gen. W. R. Cox is compelled to withdraw his appointments to speak, as his duties as Chairman of Demoeratic State Committee preclude his leaving Raleigh.

C. B. Cole, one of the corrept Commissioners of Granville, and Ike loung, the Revenue candidate for Congress, had a fistionff at Oxford a few days since.

Col. Wharton J. Green, of Waren, spoke in Raleigh a few nights ago. The News says: It was eloquent and pungent; its logic sound, its language vigorous and incisive, and his lelivery graceful.

Gen. W. R. Cox had a very elegant gold headed cane presented to him by the Lemocrats for his valuable services as Chairman of the State Demecratic Executive Committee. It bears this inscription: "To General W. R. Cox, from the Democratic Party of North Carolina, 1876."

Maj. A. W. Lewis, was to meet Dockery at Fayetteville. "My son Oliver" said he could not be there. Then Lewis made other arrangements, when "My son Oliver" concluded he would be there. Mai. . C. McRae will curry him down on the occasion.

The Warren Democrats will have a grand barbecue and mass meeting at Warrenton, November 1. The following gentlemen will speak: Hou. A. S. Merrimon, Hon. M. W. Ransem, Gen. W. R. Cox and Maj. Seaton Gales. Preparations are in progress to provide for a crowd of at least 5,000.

FIFTH WARD LAST NIGHT.

Grand Rally in the Banner Ward-Speeches of Col. J. W. Atkinson and Ex-Judge Cantwell.

A large and appreciative audience assembled at the Fifth Ward pole beneath the oaks last night. Several bonfires had been lighted and threw their radiance over the handsome stand with its canopy of banners. We noticed at the rear of the platform a handsome banner having the names, "Tilden, Hendricks, Vance, Jarvis," in large and beautifully formed letters. We were informed that this banner was made by Mrs. W. H. Swindell. It reflects credit upon the taste of that lady. The Tilden and Vance Guards were out in force and lent additional attractiveness to the scene.

At a short time before eight o'clock Capt. B. W. Beery, President of the Fifth Ward Club, arose, and in a few appropriate remarks, introduced Col. J. W. Atkinson, the first speaker of the evening.

Col. Atkinson made one of his finest efforts on this occasion, and for the space of an hour interested his numerous audieuce. He dwelt particularly on the fraud and corroption of the Republican party, the whiskey frauds, the squandered taxes and other glaring proofs of the failure of the present administration to honestly administer the government. The speaker addressed his auditors at length on the necessity for reform, the importance of their duty in the impending contest and charged every man to do his duty. Col. Atkinson's remarks embodied many interesting points which our limited space will not permit us to touch upon.

At the close of Col. Atkinson's address there were loud cries for Judge Cantwell, and that gentleman arose amid long and continued applause. He opened his speech in a very eloquent manner, referring to the ground swell of sentiment that encompassed the forty millions of people in this country, which sent up the cry for Reform. After the war he had accepted; the situation as it stood and had joined the Republican party in good faith, but now that party had grown so corrupt that he felt the duty of every well meaning man to leave it. He spoke of the Constitutional Convention, how true the Democratic members were to their pledges in that body, and how derelict the Republicans had tried to be. He referred to the inequality of the distribution of offices over the country; he wanted it to be done away with. He was particularly severe upon the administration tactics with regard to South Carolina. The heads of the different religious denominations in Charleston had protested that there was no need for United States troops in that city. Radical Judges throughout the State had done the same thing. May be (said the Judge) these Judges, like myself, have turned Democrat. He inveighed against the President, not only in the case of Louisiana, but in that of South Carolina, and he (the speaker) said that if he was a member of the United States House of Representatives he would offer a resolution impeaching President Grant on these two matters alone. The speaker referred to county matters, saying that New Hanover county affairs were not now administered by honest men. After further interesting and appreciated remarks Judge Cantwell closed his speech, which had occupied about an hour and three quarters in its delivery, by declaring that on next election day he would deposit his ballot for Tilden and Hendricks, which announcement was received with loud and prolonged applause. Judge Cantwell was frequently interrupted with applause. The meeting came to a close, after a vote of thanks, moved by Col. J. W. Atkinson was returned to ex-Judge Cantwell for his able and eloquent address.

The Stevedores. There was more trouble among the col ored stevedores yesterday. An effort was made to get a number of them to assist in loading the Norwegian barque Arnon, at the lower wharf of Messrs. Williams & Murchison, but they refused to take hold at the old rates, which were from $1.50 to $2.50 per day on rosin and spirits, demanding from $3.50 to $4.50, or about double the prices formerly paid. Attempts were made to compromise on a reasonable advance, which were not successful. After losing a good portion of the day in trying to arrive at a satisfactory arrangement and failing, the crew of the ship and several white men were put on, with one colored assistant, and the work of loading the vessel was proceeded with. 'In the meantime a large crowd of stevedores and hangers-or gathered in the vicinity, but were finally dispersed without any violent demonstra-

Police Arrests. Annie J. Speight, the "irrepressible," was arrested yesterday morning for acting very disorderly on the streets. Her conduct can only be accounted for on the supposition, strange as it may appear, that she had; by some "hook or crook," imbibed too freely of the delectable beverage known in common parlance as "benzine." She evinced some slight disinclination to be taken to the "lock-up," a fact which was subsequently evidenced by the somewhat disordered and dilapitated condition of the outer garments of the officer who made the arrest, while it would be rather a forced construction of her language on the occasion to characterize it as either "sweet" or "silvery" in tone, or "sublime" in concep-

and again at Jackson, in Northampton county, on the 28th, as well as on his trip from this place to Weldon on the sight of the 27th. He went from Goldsboro to Welden on one of the numerous extra cotton trains now passing. At Fremont, Wilson and Enfield, the people having heard of his progress by the extra train, came in crowds to see him. The engineer, Law-ther, telegraphed his coming, except Foun-tain, the Radical operator at Frement who had failed to send it to Wilson, consequently only a few were at the depot when he arrived; but the news spread like wildfire, and in ten or fifteen minutes seventy five to one hundred people had assembled to see and hear him, and although he told them that he was tired and suffering from sore throat, yet they insisted upon his say ing something. At Enfield he was taken out of his bed—a bed in the car. He had to dress and go out, and make a speech, and he did it in his inimitable style. Quite a large number of ladies were present at Wilson and Enfield, and all cheered him and greeted him very warmly. He told them the skies were very bright and bright-ening to the most brilliant day. He estimated his own and Tilden's majority at not less than 8,000, and it might reach 12,000. He said he had crossed the State three times, travelling about 3,500 miles; had seen and spoken to 100,000 people, and such enthusiasm he had never witnessed and he was told by the old men that no thing of the kind had ever been seen in the State since 1840, when Morehead carried it by 10,000 majority. At Weldon he arrived at 11:30 P. M., when the Agricultural Fair Ball was going on. All was stopped and Gov. Vance was carried into the ball room and introduced to the ladies, where he had again to address them. After supper he was allowed to retire at 1:30 A. M About 9 A. M. we started for Jackson and arrived about 12, where we found 2,500 or more people, including several hundred ladies and five hundred negroes. I think Gov. Vance made here his best speech.
