GOV. VANCE'S MESSAGE. Fellow-Citizens of the Senate and House of Representatives: I congratulate you on the progress made toward renewing the prosperity of North Carolina, and gladly avail myself of your invitation to contribute such suggestions as I may deem best calculated to aid your deliberations in behalf of the public good. I am so newly inaugurated into the Executive office, however, that I am not possessed of the minute information in regard to the various parts of the governmental machinery which would make my suggestions of value; but such ideas as I have, of a general nature, in regard to the condition and wants of our people, I shall make known to you frankly.

Among the first things to engage your attention will doubtless be the best methods of adapting your legislation to the recent amendments to the Constitution, and of giving eftect to the expressed will of the people in that regard. Too much care cannot be exercised in this matter, as our county government, on the average, costs twice as much as that of the State. Owing to the fact that in several of the counties the non-property holding portion of the voters is in a large majority, and that bad men have taken advantage of this state of things, many of them have been brought to the verge of absolute rain. Their citizens have been ruled by ignorant and corrupt officials; the most enormous taxes have been imposed; whilst shameless profligacy and extravagance have marked all their proceedings. To such an extent has this evil gone that many of the richest and fairest portions of North Carolina have been shorn of their wealth, their produc. tions decreased, and their resources dried up in a manner resembling the desolation of trampling armies. Industry has been checked; idleness and fraud have been encouraged; local justice put in contempt, and every interest tending to prosperity and good government, in a measure, suffocated. The truthful representation of these evils, more than all things else, induced the people of the West to hasten to the relief of their Eastern brethren by the adoption of the Constitutional Amendments. That relief being happily made possible, it remains for you to apply it.

any detailed scheme for your adoption, but will simply suggest-1st. That whatever system of county government you adopt shall be

I shall not venture to recommend

2d. That you violate the elective principle in the selection of county officers as slightly as possible. I am attached on principle to the plan of making all authorities who levy taxes and execute laws directly responsible to the governed. In regard to the Adicial branch my opinion is different. It seems to me that all the grievances complained of may be remedied, and these essential principles preserved. In, perhaps, a majority of the counties of the State the government of Commissioners has worked well, and the people are satisfied with its operations. I would not recommend any change greatly radical, for my opinion is that public sentiment will rapidly cure the evils complained of without the necessity of any considerable departure from the principle of elective representation. The plunderers of our counties had before their eyes the examples of those who had robbed both the State and the Federal treasuries, and now that we have checked the one and altogether stopped the other, we may reasonably hope that the smaller villains will gradually give place to better men, and a corrected public morality will powerfully assist in restoring confi-ment of the government. By the 17th section of article III of the new Constitution, it is made your duty to establish a Department rection. North Carolina is essentially and peculiarly an agricultural State, more exclusively so, perhaps, than any on the Atlantic slope, if not in the Union; yet has she done less to encourage this, her greatest interest, than any other interest of her people. For the most part her legislation and A communication was received the genius of her people have been from His Excellency the Governor directed toward the attainment of announcing that he had appointed as other objects. nestly recommend this subject to your maturest consideration.

I transmit herewith a memorial from the Raleigh Grange, asking for the establishment of this department, and commend it to your favor.

As your honorable body, after its next adjournment, will not meet again, unless specially convened, for two years, I recommend the immediate establishment, of such a board as is contemplated by the Constitution, which could at least make a beginning in the great work, and could gather up much valuable information which might enable your successors to enlarge and improve upon your work. In aid of the board, the statistical labor should be immediatev undertaken. If the Secretary of State were ordered to furnish the necessary blanks, and it was made to list the taxable property of the State, to take at the same time from each tax-payer, on oath, the amount, character and value of his productions for the past year, with the acreage in cultivation, a most accurate and valuable table of the wealth of the State and the condition of our people could be had every year at a most insignificant cost. And if the products of the whites and blacks were kept separate, it might be made of service in stimulating the industry of the blacks and increasing otherwise the value of their citizenship. In this connection I have the pleasure of sending herewith a memorial embracing the result of a conference between Agricultural Societies, the Patrons of Husbandry and the Trustees of the University, in regard to the importance of protecting the farmers against imposition in the purchase of commercial fertilizers. To do this they ask for a small appropriation to aid in the establishment of au "Experiment Station" at Chapel Hill, and the employment of a practical chemist. With the means already on hand at the University, I am assured they can accomplish their object at a very slight cost to the State, and all practical agricultulrists agree in pronouncing it a necessity. I earnestly recommend the proposition to your favor. TO BE CONCLUDED.

Desperate Vagrant.

Henry Graham, a half-witted colored outh, who has long been a source of annoyance on account of his vagrancy, was lately turned over to Commissioner Duncar Holmes, who has charge of the county prisoners, who was disposed to make him "use ful as well as ornamental." Having been presented with a pair of new shoes, and receiving permission from the watchman to come to town, he proceeded to trade off dence and integrity in every depart- his shoes for a pistol. His Capture and Escape-How the Sheriff's Posse Missed their Game. The party who had signed the bond of Charles Southerland, a well known colored man of this city, indicted for forgery, notified the sheriff Saturday afternoon that he would no longer be responsible for him. An officer was thereupon dispatched to arrest him. Charley was found with his market basket and a little boy, just on the eve of making his purchases for Sunday. Upon being acquainted with the officer's mission he requested to be allowed to see his attorney. This little boon was granted when he asked further to be permitted to interview his bondsman, to see if he could not induce him to "hold over" until Monday. which was also granted, but the bondsman peremptorily refused to grant his request Finally, as a last favor, he asked the officer the duty of each persons appointed to accompany him to a certain grocery store on Market street, where he had left his basket and little boy, in order that he might send the little fellow home with what he had purchased. The officer kindly con-his little boy was standing, said a few words to him and returned. In the course of their search they visited the house of a colored woman by the name of Harriet Quince, on Market, between Eleventh and Twelfth streets, Charley to surrender himself. Having a decided objection to such an arrangement,

As i happened there was only one of the posse stationed at that particular window, and he was not an adept in such affairs, so the fugitive had but little difficulty in making his escape for the second time, and up to the-present writing he has not been recaptured. The "Irepressible" Hides in a Trunk Yesterday afternoon' Sheriff Manning sent two of his deputies to arrest the irrepressible Annie Speight, against whom there were two charges pending in the Superior Court. The officers, upon arriving at her house, searched for Mrs. Speight, but she could not be found. They were on the point of departing, when a colored man who was in the shop winked significantly at the officers and gave them to understand that she was under the counter, and sure enough there she was found snugly stowed away in one corner. Upon being brought out she asked permission to go to her room up-stairs for a moment to arrange her dress. Permission was granted, and after the lapse of a few minutes one of the officers went to hurry her up, but could see nothing of her. The other officer went up-stairs and the two searched in every nook and corner, but could discover no indication of their prisoner, nor account for her mysterious disappearance. They were on the point of giving up the search in disgust, when one of the deputies, whose eye at the moment was upon a large packing trunk in one of the rooms, thought he detected a slight movement of the lid. He rushed to the trunk, lifted the cover, and there, to his surprise and gratification, he found the irrepressible Annie snugly ensconced in the bottom of that receptacle of clothing and other feminine gear. A Mysterious Disappearance.

A letter was received at the office of the City Marshal, yesterday, from M. W. Dyer & Co., of New York, as follows: "We are very anxious to find the whereabouts of W. S. Byles, of New York. We understand he has been in your city. As inquiry among the leading dry goods merchants | S. Bear & Bros. The defendant was found and hotels would probably develop his gullty. whereabouts. We have not heard from him for some weeks, and as he made large. collections about that time we fear he has been foully dealt with. He enjoyed our fullest confidence, and we believe him incapable of acting dishonestly. He is a man fully six feet tall, has red beard and hair, and is elegant and eloquent in conversation. Has a very red face and neck and appears to be a hard drinker. His family are in destitute circumstances, and suffering for the actual necessaries of life." If you could give us any information of his present whereabouts by mail or telegraph you would make his friends very grateful.'

We learn that a stranger answering to the above description was seen at Warsaw a few days ago. He was drinking and said he had lost all of his money.

Burglary and Attempted Larceny. On Sunday morning, between 3 and 4 o'clock, an attempt was made to rob the residence of Maj. T. H. McKoy, corner of Second and Nun streets. The thief seems to have been well prepared for emergencies, as he went deliberately to work with a screw driver and removed all the screws from the hinges which held the blinds to one of the parlor windows in position, excent the top one, which he could not reach, laid the screws carefully one side, and then forced the blind open sufficiently to allow of his entrance through the window, the sash of which he had managed to raise. It is thought that he must have had a confederate to assist him, as it seems impossible for him to have managed the thing otherwise, as with one of the hinges remaining in position he could barely press the blind open sufficiently to enter. Once inside he ade his way through the parlor into room adjoining, occupied by Judge Mc-Koy, but in opening the door he aroused that gentleman, who, thinking at first that it was his brother, hailed him by name, but received no answer. The thief, finding he was discovered, hastily retreated and escaped by the same way he had entered, before the inmates of the house could arres him in his progress.

This is what may be called "bearding the lion in his den," trying to steal from a Judge while his Court is in session. The fellow, if discovered, should be punished for "contempt," as well as for burglary.

Latest from Robbie Cronix. A letter was received from Mr. M. Cronly, yesterday, which gives some particulars in reference to the recent wounding of his son Robert, near Laurinburg. It seems that he was out gunning, and was on the point of stepping over a log, with his eyes fixed intently on a bird which he intended to shoot, when the gun was suddenly discharged, the contents penetrating his shoulder, the muzzle being at the time only about a foot from the point where the wound was made. He dropped, but recovered himself and managed to walk to the house where he was stopping, a distance of about half a mile. Upon the discovery that he was wounded a physician was sent for and a telegram sent to the family. We are glad to learn, as will the community generally, that Robbie was doing quite as well as could be expected when the letter referred to was written, and that strong hopes are entertained of his re-Stolen Goods.

Our merchants and citizens generally cannot be too particular in purchasing articles from irresponsible parties, especially in these times, when so many of our colored population are disposed to live by an appropriation of the goods of others, not only from those of our white citizens but from the worthy ones of their own color, instead of by honest toil. We mention the above in connection with the fact that on last Friday night a number of empty liquor barrels were stolen from a merchant over the railroad, who missed them on Saturday morning, and started in search of them, and, by the numbers on the revenue stamps, was enabled to identify them, finding them in possession of a responsible firm, and who did all that was honorable in regard to them. Had they fallen into less honorable hands the owner would have been unable to recover them or their value.

Got Disappointed. A raid was made on Sunday morning on the premises of Capt. J. M. McGowan, next to the corner of Second and Nun streets. It is supposed that the thiexes were after chickens. Capt. M., who had just returned home, it being about half, past 12 o'clock, heard them in his yard and went out, prepared to give them a warm reception, but they had disappeared. He deservedly celebrated and popular medicines have removed from the fence just in rear of the chicken coop, and he got the glimpte of a man entering a small house occupied by colored people, back of his lot. Another attempt was made on his premises yesterday morning, the thieves having made an effort to get into his pantry, but they were frightened off, dept ni nam our
