WASHINGTON, Feb. 17-1 A. M. The discussion in conference was begun by Morton, who was followed by Judge Thurman, in an able, ringing speech. Garfield spoke next, taking the ground maintained by Republican counsel. Mr. Bayard spoke for an hour and a half with much warmth and eloquence. Edmunds came next. Then Hoar, Abbot and Hunton. By this time it was half-past 3 o'clock, and still the issue was undecided.

Judge Bradley then produced an elaborate written opinion, weak and somewhat inconsistent, but taking very much the same ground as his Republican associates. Among other things he maintained that an ineligible elector when appointed could become eligible by resigning before he voted. After this opinion the vote was taken.

The feeling among Democrats is naturally one of deep indignation. There is little of loud denunciation. but men look and speak as if a great and unexpected crime had been com-mitted. The very air of the courtroom seemed oppressive when the proceedings were read. Judge Campbell properly declined to make any further argument before a body which could enunciate such a decision. Even the Republicans looked ashamed of what had been done.

It is believed that, Mr. Conkling and other Republican Senators disapprove of the fraud of counting Louisiana for Hayes, but it is deemed doubtful if they will make a stand to L. Q. W.

> The Feeling at Washington. |Richmond Dispatch Special.] WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.

To-night the Democrats are utterly at a loss to know what course to pursue in view of the unreserved manner in which the majority of the Commission have placed themselves on record as the most bitter and shameless of partisans.

The Democratic Commissioners, finding the majority were determined to refuse to do anything that might endanger the chances of Hayes, offered resolutions placing the Louisians case in all its phases, so as to let the full scope of the Republican position go before the country, and its gross unfairness go into history with their names. Even the most conservative Democrats with whom I have conversed to-night are unsettled in their former determination to abide by the result of the arbitration, and are not sure they would not be justiin defeating by parliamentary tactics the resolution to put Hayes into the Presidency at

THE SACRIFICE OF EVERY PRINCIPLE OF FREE GOVERNMENT AND FAIR DEALING.

They say: Can we longer remedy the shameless partisanship of the Republicans on the Commission is an open question? We agreed to stand by the judgment of a tribunal which, under the electoral act, swore to ascertain the law and the facts, and the truth, and decide accordingly. And are we now in honor boun abide a judgment made upon a direct violation of their oaths and without investigating the disputed questions.

SOUTHERN DEMOCRATS as a class, though indignant and sorely disappointed, seem more inclined to tread the ways of peace, to allow the partisan eight to complete their faithless work, submit to the inauguration of Hayes, and trust him to pursue a Southern policy more just than that of his predecessor.

Charges Accumulating. We learn that cases for larceny and other crimes are accumulating in Justice Gardner's Court against Primus Moore, colored, who was arrested at the place called Oak, ley, a few miles up the North East branch of the Cape Fear river, a few days ago, on the charge of stealing and slaughtering stock, the property of Mr. W. Such energy and perseverance under difficulties is sure, sooner or later, to meet with its reward, and an instance in point is shown in the fact that a night or two ago one of these determined fellows entered the field in question and got a gentle reminder that he was intruding upon forbidden ground; at least one of the spring guns was found discharged the next morning, while there were evidences in the disturbed soil in range of the weapon to show that there had been a struggle, a fall and a "drag out;" or, at any rate, that the wounded man had been mable to use one of his legs, the appearances indicating that he had dragged it after him. The guns, it should be understood, are elevated just sufficiently to shoot intruders in the leg, without killing them. Subsequent to the shoot ing alluded to, some party or parties visited the garden and stole the guns, but they are now placed in such a manner as to preclude the possibility of stealing them with safety, as they are so arranged, with a small wire connecting them, that the disturbing of one will cause the discharge of another pointing in that immediate direction. These guns are only placed in position after night. The depredations upon Mr. Barnes' garden have baen frequent lately and a considerable quantity of cabbage turning &c., have been stolen from Obtaining Money Under Fraudulent Pretenses. A colored man by the name of Isaac Stocks was arrested yesterday, charged with having obtained money under fraudulent pretense from one Albert Wells (not of the Louisiana Returning Board). It appeared from the evidence that Wells applied to a number of persons at a house on Brunswick, between Second and Third streets, about 12 o'clock Friday night, for change for a $2 bill; that Stocks proffered to change the note, which was given into his hands, when he gave him fifty cents and two quarters in fractional currency and what appeared at first glance to be a $1 bill, but which proved upon a closer inspection to be a revenue snuff stamp, very nearly of the size of a one dollar note. Upon discovering the cheat, Wells tried to get his money back, but failed; whereupon he procured a warrant for Stocks' arrest. Upon this evidence defendant was bound over in the sum of $100 for his appearance at court. Stocks, we learn, had previously borne a

The arrangements, we learn, are such as to ensure a pleasant and enjoyable evening to all who may be present on the occasion. A small admission fee will be charged, which will be appropriated to buying books for the school, &c. Mr. Taylor and his assistants are accomplishing a good work, the redeeming and elevating effects of which deserve every encouragement in their tabor of love, while the children should also be stimulated and made to feel that the public generally take an interest in their advancement and welfare.
