[Special to Richmond Whig.]. The situation last night was somewhat mixed. The Republicans are very anxious to get out of the woods, and are very uneasy lest the electoral count may be defeated. In their extremity they are making a variety of professions of fair treatment to the Southern people which have about as much substance as the east wind. members to forego any dilatory opposition to the count. These promises in respect to Louisiana and South Carolina will probably be put to a test to-day, and they will be offered the opportunity of voting for a joint resolution recognizing the State governments of Nicholls and Hampton.

Mr. Ellis, of St. Louis, yesterday declared his purpose to offer such a joint resolution. The Republican leaders who have pretended that Hayes was ready to throw off the carpet-baggers yesterday attempted to evade the issue by saying that Hayes' policy ought not to be anticipated. It is an awkward issue for them, inasmuch as if they redeem their assurances and pass this resolution through the Senate it may alienate from Hayes the carpet-bag element in that body and lead to some very serious results not satisfactory to the managers of the Returning Board fraud.

The President is disposed to take a sensible view of the Louisiana situation. He recognizes the fact that the Nicholls government is the one that the people of Louisians heartily prefer. Putting everything together, the friends of Louisians are really masters of the situation, and are able to dictate terms to Hayes' friends. They can defeat the electoral count if they choose. The Republicans know this. The present conduct of Grant in respect to Louisiana is more creditable to him than that of Haves. All that the latter may do will be from necessity, while Grant acts from free choice, and his course is free from trickery and selfish motive I feel sure that ere many hours the ells will be on firm ground.

I fear the time has gone by for di plomacy to defeat Hayes, just as the time for fighting went by in November and December. A great cause has, I fear, been lost for want of L. Q. W.

[Special to Norfolk Landmark.] WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 26.

There are bitter speeches being made. The sensation was Hewitt's speech, and he counselled submission before anarchy. Mr. Cate, of Wis consin, stigmatized it as cowardice and Yeates, of North Carolina, roared out that the South had trusted the Northern Democrats, and they had played the coward twice. Great confusion prevailed, when Hoar, of Massachusetts, turned on Hewitt, and he was infiladed by Cox.

You may feel satisfied, however, that Mr. Tilden neither advocated the Electoral Commission, nor endorses the course of the faithless Democrats in their surrender of their present rights. He has not advised because he believed it would have been an insult to the Democrats who supported him, and these Congressmen to have even intimated that their intelligence was unequaled to their duties under the circumstances, and that Hewitt returned to the charge on Hoar, and dealt the Massachusetts Senator elect some hard blows for his alleged deceit of the Democrats by drawing them into support of the bill under the promise that it gave power to go behind the returns.

Hoar answered Hewitt in a speech in which he made vehement denial of having given any such impression as was attributed to hie by Hewitt. If he had done so he would have been worse than Benedict Arnold. Morton is suggested strongly, but it is contended that his position as commissioner shuts him out. He could, however, resign, as Thurman did. Hamlin is talked of, and Sargent also. Conkling is not trusted by his Republican associates, especially by Morton and his party. It is now arranged that Hayes is to be sworn in quietly at the White House, on Sunday at noon, by the Chief Justice, in the presence of the Cabinet and a few select friends.

Two Unsuccessful Attempts at Robbery-An Exciting Chase-An A tempt to shoot the Thief, &c.

About a quarter to 8 o'clock last evening an attempt was made to rob the residence of Mrs. Langdon, on Market, between Fourth and Fifth streets. The thief, who was a colored man, was accidentally discovered on the upper plazza in the rear of the building, watching for an opportunity to enter the house, and in the hurry with which he retreated from the premises, upon being discovered, he dropped a child's cape and two umbrellas in the yard, which he had evidently stolen from some other dwelling. Running out at the front gate, and not being pursued, he next tried his hand at the residence of Mr. Alfred Martin, a few steps further up Market street. Mr. Martin and another male member of the family were seated in rooms in the rear part of the house, there being no lights in the front rooms. A colored servant boy had been sent on an errand, with directions to leave the article he had been sent for in the library, which is one of the front stabbed at Newbern by one McKay on last rooms of the building, and it is understood that both the front and rear doors were unlocked. Upon the return of the boy, he entered by the back door and was proceeding through the passage to the Library when he discovered the thief with an overcoat which he had taken from the banisters, two or three of which had been placed there by inmates of the house on entering that evening. The boy, as soon as he discovered the thief, attempted to effect his capture, but the fellow, who was too fast for him, dropped the overcoat and made for the front door, through which he escaped into the street. A hue and cry was then raised, the thief shaping his course down Market to Fourth street, down Fourth to Dock, and up Dock in the direction of Fifth street, closely pursued by a number of persons who had been attracted by the shouts of "Stop thief I" About midway between Fourth and Fifth streets the thief, who had also joined in the cry as a blind, passed a gentleman on the sidewalk, who, as soon as he became aware of the cause of the excitement, drew Dakdale Cemetery. We are glad to see that by a recent order of the Directors of Oakdale Cemetery Company, many trees have been cut down or transplanted, and all of the hedges have been trimmed and every lot put in thorough order. As soon as the hedges and plants begin to feel the genial influence of Spring and don their new attire of green, the very great improvement in the beauty of the grounds will be manifest to each and all: and we trust every lot owner will approve of this action of the Directors, and readily contribute their quota of the expense. It was much needed, as the neglect of a few lots mars the beauty of those which are kept in order, and, in fact, detracts from the general good order of the whole. Narrow Escape from Burning. A colored girl about ten or twelve years of age, daughter of Christopher Huggins, living near the foot of Mulberry street, made a narrow escape from death by burning yesterday morning about nine o'clock. A fire had been built in the yard and the girl was playing about it, when the skirts of her dress came in contact with the fire, veloped in flames. Fortunately her fath of his daughter, seizing the burning garments and tearing them from her body. Thus the girl escaped with but little injury; but had no one been near when the flames communicated to her person, the result would no doubt have been a fatal one.

Excitement on the street Last Night-A Brunken Soldier Clubbed by a Po-

Last night, about nine o'clock, conside rable excitement was caused on Front street by the arrest of a drunken soldier, and the alleged excessive cruelty practice by one of the policemen making the arrest Several gentlemen who witnessed the affair say that there was no excuse whatever in - The steamer J. S. Underhill the fellow's behavior for the severe blows given him by the policeman, Maulteby. The man was knocked senseless, and it is reported his skull fractured, but we were unable to learn as to the truth of the report. Maultsby claims to have acted in self-defence, and with no intention of seriously injuring the prisoner, and also that the gentlemen mentioned above did not see the whole of the affair.

The matter will be investigated before the Mayor this morning. If we mistake not the police are instructed, and it is one of the rules governing the force, that the club is not to be used except in extreme cases, where it may become necessary for self-preservation, which is not likely to happen in a case where a man is intoxicated, and if the policeman, Maultsby, should be unable to prove to the satisfaction of the Court that he clubbed the man as he claims, we trust that an example may be made of his case.

Another fact in this connection was certainly outrageous, and we call the Mayor's attention to it. Upon the arrival of the policemen at the guard house with the prisoner the wounded man was taken in charge by the janitor and thrown into a dark cell and locked up, despite the protests of a physician and others present, while the physician alluded to was not allowed to examine the head of the wounded man to ascertain the extent of his injuries, on the plea made by the janitor that he must a wait the arrival of the city physician, who had been sent for.

The Turnpike Road. Knowing that the co only the residents of the sounds, but also the people of Wilmington, feel a special interest, because it would furnish in the one case a good road to market and in the other a fine drive for the pent-up occupants of the city, we venture to make a few suggestions in its behalf, particularly as we learn that the stockholders have not the means to complete it at present, when it will so soon be needed for the increased travel incident to the warm season.

One plan brought to our attention is this Let the directors make an arrangemen with the residents of the sounds, or such as feel a sufficient interest to lend a helping hand, to haul shells (of which there is an abundance at accessible points) and place them on the road, or on such sandy portions of it as most need such improvement, receiving for the labor thus performed tickets entitling them to the free use of the road for a definite period; or, if this be considered impracticable, let the stock be placed at such a reasonable figure as to induce a large increase of stockholders, the funds secured by this means to be used in the further completion of the road. In this connection we would mention that there are a quantity of shells within a few feet of the road, at what is known as "Cool Spring Bridge," which might be utilized in improving the condition of the road bed.
