'bout de kase?" "Gwine ter 'bide de 'cishun ? We'se too good Dimmocrats ter kick 'ginst de law dat we help fer ter 'corpe-"An' de Radikels lan's on top, jess ez I tole ver when ver startid !" "Oh, yes, yer kin crow now, but hit's moughty weak lungs dat yer's got ter blow de bellus on, for we'se had yer down-we'se sot on yerwe'se nigh oncupp!'d yer breff an'de good luck dat's sabed yer dis time is only waitin' fer ter vakate de premises when we sets down de nex' time. So, stan' fum onder, I tell yer; stan' fum onder?"-Atlanta Constitution.

We suggest this couplet from Butler as a motto for the Electoral "Is not the High Court of Justice sworn

To judge that law that serves their turn?'
-New York World. Why did not our neighbor go on a little further with the quotation? Some of the lines that immediately follow are no less pat and to the purrollow are no less pat and to the purpose. For instance, these:

"Can they not juggle, and with slight Conveyance play with Wrong and Right? Will not Fear, Favor, Bribe and Grudge The same cases sev'ral ways adjudge? As when the sea breaks o'er its bounds, And overflows the level grounds, Those banks and dams, that like a screen Did keep it out, now keep it in; So when tyrangic usurpation So when tyrannic usurpation Invades the freedom of a nation, The large o' th' land, that were intended To keep it out, are made io defend it."

REDS NO FORMAL STATEMENT OF PRIN-NEEDS NO FORMAL STATEMENT OF PRINciples, nor elaborate recital of what it will de, or expects to do, in the coming year. It can offer no stronger guarantee for its future than is afforded by its past conduct. It will labor expestly and faithfully for the silvancement of the Democratic party, and for the good of the State, which it believes to be one and inseparable.

To this end is desired at once a largely increased circulation for THE OBSERVER, and the wholesome literature it is giving to the people of North Carolina. Once in a household, THE OBSERVER, becomes a fixture. It needs only to be seen to make its way into every nook and corner of the State.
That it may be so seen, and speedily, its Fditors offer the following

MISCELLANEOUS.

We invite the attention of the public to Sours NEE'S MONTHLY, which now deservedly ranks among the BEST ILLUSTRATED PERIODICALS OF THE WORLD.

The papers illustrative of American Scenery, which have appeared in its pages, among which were included "The Wonders of the Yellowstone" and the "Grand Canon of the Colorado," have won wide spread admiration on both sides of the Atlantic; and "The Great South" articles, with their beautiful engravings, have been re-issued in book form in both Great Britain and America. For the coming year we have broader plans than ever before The magazine will be enlarged, and there will be Three Remarkable Serial Stories By AMERICAN WRITERS.

GABRIEL CONROY," BY BRET HARTE,

Of which the Boston Post says: "It is a seria that will make every new number of Scribner's eagerly sought for, if it had nothing else to recommend it."

The Canadian Illustrated News predicts that "we have found at last the American nevel."

The Louisville Courier Journal says: "The second installment is even stronger than the first, fustifying all that was looked for."

We begin in January

" PHILIP NOLAN'S FRIENDS, By EDWARD EVERETT HALE.

This is an historical romance. The scene is laid in the southwest, at a time when that territory was first Spanish, then French, and then American, and when war was imminent, to obtain the control of the month of the Mississippi. It is likely to be the great romance of the Mississippi Valley, as Garriel Conbox will be of the Pacific Slope.

"That Lass o'Lowrie's," By FANNY HODGSON BURNETT.

The friends of "SCHIBNER" who have read "Surly Tim's Trouble," "One Day at Arlo," "The Fire at Grantley Mills," and others of Mrs. Burnett's short stories, will not need to be assured that they have a rare treat before them. The scene of the new novel is laid in an English mining town, and from the first page to the last the interest is unflagging.

Among other notable papers we mention the following: A SECOND "FARMER'S VACATION," by Col. George E. Waring, descriptive of a row-boat ride of two hundred and fifty miles, in one of the most fertile and interesting of the vine-growing valleys of Europe—a region never seen by the ordinary traveler, but full of interest, in it social and industrial aspects. A rare collection of

Revolutionary Letters. A SERIES OF ILLUSTRATED ARTICLES ON AMERICAN COLLEGES. The Series includes William and Mary, Harvard, Yale, Michigan State University, Wesleyan Uni-versity, Amherst Agricultural College, Princeton, Union, Bowdoin, Triaity, and other typical institu-tions of the country. Elegantly illustrated articles

illustrated papers on American Cities, &c.

The editorial centrol and direction of the Magazine will remain in the hands of Dr. Holland, who will centribute each month editorials upon current political and social topics. Our readers may look to "Topics of the Time" for healthy opinion; "The "Topics of the Time" for healthy opinion; "The Cid Cabinet" for pure sentiment; "Home and Society" for graceful economy; "Gulture and Progress" for criticism; "The World's Work" for industrial intelligence; "Bric-a-Brac" for wit and innocent pleasantry.

Sorinner's Monthly is now recognized, both in this country and in England, as the great representative American Magazine.

Encouraged by the favor accorded to it by a generous public, we shall aim, during the Centennial year, to eclipse its former achievements in both its Literary and Art departments.

715 and 717 Market Street, Philadelphia. PROSPECTUS. The Raleigh Observer.

ON THE 16TH DAY OF NOVEMBER, 1876, and in the city of RALEIGH, the undersigned The Observer, a DAILY and WEEKLY Democratic newspaper.
Of long experience in their profession as editors, respectively of the Fayetteville Observers and the Wilmington Journal, they do not affect to doubt the soundness of the general judgment which assigns them ability to furnish a newspaper suited to the needs and adapted to the tastes of the people of North Carolina. Differing in politics in the olden time, there was never a difference between the Observers and the Journal in zeal for the interests and honor of North Carolina. To promote the one, and to uphold and add to the other will be the object of the Observer now.

Of very decided opinions on questions of public interest, and apt to give those opinions plain expression, they deem it the first duty of a newspaper to furnish its readers with the information necessary to the formation of their opinions,—to publish to furnish its readers with the information necessary to the formation of their opinions,—to publish all "the news;" and their purpose is to make The Observer now, as of old, a truthful, accurate, condensed history of the times in which we live. It was thus that "the old Observer" won its hold upon the people of North Carolina, enjoying the affection of its party friends, receiving the respect and confidence of its bitterest political fees, and commanding in its comparatively isolated lecation a circulation larger than has ever been attained by any other North Carolina newspaper, and it is thus, by like dignity and fairness that the editors of The Observer, transferred to the State Capital, hope it will deserve, and soon equal, and then surpase, its former circulation and prosperity. former circulation and prosperity.

It will be their high aim to deserve the public conndence by carnest efforts to promote the public welfare, first and foremost of North Carolina, next of fare, first and foremost of North Carolina, next of all the Southern States, and finally, and through these, of the whole Union. They think that this can only be effected by the prevalence of Democratic principles and the dismissal of the Radical party from the places and power which they have so greatly abused, and under whose baleful rule the South has been outraged and the whole country has been impoverished and disgraced.
