THE MUNICIPAL QUESTION.

Communications in reference to the municipal election are pouring in on us; and we have decided that it will be best to decline publishing any of them, as they would only serve to heighten the excitement now prevailing. Some of these communications favor while others oppose the Democratic nominees now in the field, and we cannot see that their publication will be productive of good. Had we printed in the STAR of to-day the communications we received yesterday, we are satisfied that there would have been four times as many offered for our issue of to-morrow.

> Latest By Mail. Hayes Depreciating. [Special to Richmond Whig.] WASHINGTON, March 15, 11:45 P. M.

The President's appointments since the selection of his Cabinet give little hope to expect an era of reform and pacification. There seems so far to be no disposition to select any better than the machine politicians who made up the Grant dynasty. Some of the last executive appointments are indecent and scandalous, such as Fred Douglas, to be Marshal for this District, and Tyner, of Indiana, to be First Assistant Postmaster-General, and Boutwell, of Massachusetts, to revise the statutes of the United States.

Douglass is an insolent negro, noted for his hatred to the white race. As an oratorical mindelout of the Republican party Grant was willing to Senator from Ohio. give him something, but he never put him, as Hayes has done, into a position of the highest official responsibility. An arrangement is to be made by which he is to be kept out of the customary functions of the marshal, in giving introductions at the presidential levees, but the question is fitly put, "If he is not good enough for this, why should he be forced as an associate on the gentlemen of the bar and many prominent citizens who have business with the United States Marshalf" Even the negroes and white Republicans of the District ob-cratic friend of General Key, to the postmastership at Petersburg, and will send in the nomination to-morrow. This may be presumed to be correct, as the Doctor has expended much valuable time in behalf of his friends, Riely and Young, and the latter had once the office almost within his grasp through the intervention of Tyner. Jorgensen appears somewhat disgusted, and says he presumes your correspondent likes Hayes' administration as well as if Tilden were

President. MOSBY WANTS THE BEST HAVES CAN GIVE HIM.

Yesterday a letter from Judge Bond lauding Colonel J. S. Mosby in high terms, and commending him to the grateful attention of the President, was picked up in the Senate lobby and handed to a Senator ; so it is not worth while for me to keep secret any longer the fact that the Col onel now asks of the Government full recognition of the sacrifices he has made for the Republican party. He would prefer to be one of the legal assistants of the new Attorney-General.

The few Southern Democratic Senators who met at Senator Gordon's room last night did not make any formal resolution. Sundry proposisions were made as to the best course to pursue in view of the new attitude of the administration towards the South, but it was generally agreed that the best thing to do was to let the President pursue his own course without formal suggestions from them, and they should get home as soon as practicable. They think it would be indiscreet to press Mr. Hayes to early action in regard to Nicholls or Packard, as every day's delay improves more or less the hold they have upon power in their States, and the President can act with more freedom when the Senate shall have adjourned and left out in the cold

Kellogg and Corbin, the representatives of whatever claim Packard and Chamberlain may have. Father Taft left the city in anger against Hayes for not retaining him in the Cabinet, and as he is known to be opposed to Haves' Southern policy, the President is very uncasy lest he should succeed John Sherman as

St. Patrick's Day.

This is "St. Patrick's Day in the morning, and our friends of the Hiberman Benevolent Association will celebrate it with more than usual spirit. The procession will be formed in front of Temperance Hall at 9 o'clock, a. m., and, headed by the Cornet Concert Club, will march through various streets to St. Thomas' Catholic Church, where Holy Mass will be offered, after which the line will again be formed and parade through several of our principal streets to the Opera House, where an oration appropriate to the occasion will be delivered by Hon. Edward Cantwell. The address will of course be public, and our citizens generally, and the ladies particularly, are earnestly and cordially invited to be present. After the address the Association will take up the line of march to their hall, where the annual election of officers

We have not time to notice in detail all the beautiful pieces that were sung, but suffice it to say that all of them were rendered with much spirit, in good time, and without a jar throughont the whole evening. It was a decided improvement upon the first concert, which is sufficient praise. Our Methodist friends may certainly feel that they have achieved success.
