THE MUNICIPAL ELECTION.

It is so generally rumored on the streets that there will be an Independent ticket for Aldermen in the Fourth Ward that we are reluctantly compelled to accept the report as true. Who are to be the candidates we have not definitely heard; but it matters not who they are, the movement is greatly to be regretted and ought not to be encouraged.

Now, we do not intend to denounce any one, whether an Independent candidate or not; but we do say that it is the duty of Democrats to support the regularly nominated ticket, whether they like the nominees or

The complications existing in our party here are greatly to be deplored: but these fights within the party ought to be made before the nominating conventions-not at the polls. When not settled before an election, these difficulties become serious. They are destructive of party discipline, and are often the beginning of divisions that ultimately result in humiliating defeat.

It is claimed, we hear, by those who favor the Independent movement that there will be no Republican ticket in the Fourth Ward. This, they say, is guaranteed. But, conceding this to be true, it is evident that the running of two Democratic tickets must engender bitterness and bad feeling that will be sure to come up hereafter, and, perhaps, in an intensified form.

We care not how hot, how bitter, how determined a contest may be over a nomination. But it ought to end with the nomination, and the whole party should then unite on the ticket and give it their earnest support. If there are grievances to be redressed, wait until the next cam paign, and then go forth, if you please, with tomahawk and scalpingknife, and see that your rights are maintained.

It will be very gratifying if, even at this late period of the canvass, some arrangement can be made that will be generally satisfactory to the Democratic voters of the Fourth Ward. We would hail it as the har binger of future good feeling and future success. But if the present status is maintained, we feel it our duty to sustain the regular ticket; for dissension in our party now means defeat hereafter. And defeat in Wilmington means ruin.

English Opinion on Cotton. Smith, Edwards & Co., a leading Liverpool authority on cotton, after having estimated the cotton crop first at 4,100,000, and then 4,200,000,now concedes the probablility of a crop of 4,500,000 bales. In their circular of Feb. 28th they say: "The American receipts have been much larger than any one anticipated, and in spite of protestations to the eontrary from America, public opinion has settled on four and a half millions as a fair estimate of the erop. This figure is not thought too

Washington Notes. [Special to Richmond Dispatch.] WASHINGTON, March 16.

The opposition to Fred. Douglass increases, and is not confined to one party or color. His friends were actively urging his confirmation to-day. A half-dozen respectable Irishmen waited on a Democratic Senator to secure his influence in favor of Douglass, but they met with ill success. The principal objection to him, on the part of the lawyers, is his lack of business qualifications for the office; and the colored people say he is not a true representative of their race, because he holds himself above other black people, and seeks the society of the whites.

Louisianians here are boasting that, with the prospect of a withdrawal of troops when the Senate shall have adjourned, Nicholls warrants on their State Treasury have appreciated twenty per centum since yesterday, and that large tax-pavers are voluntarily settling up. In one district treasury yesterday.

The new civil service rules will be ready for consideration in the Cabinet by next week at least. They will be similar to those undertaken a few years ago by the commission of which Geo. W. Curtis was president.

The Next House-How the Democrats Hope to Secure the Organization. [Special to the Philadelphia Press.]

WASHINGTON, Mrach 14. Clerk Adams is now engaged in compiling the roll of the next House of Representatives. In view of the prospective contest to secure the organization for the Republicans, it is ascertained that he will exclude all Republicans in contested cases, so that the apparent Democratic majority will stand about seventeen. ng Republican members in the city have been in conference apon the subject in the hope of devising some means by which this arbitrary proceeding may be defeated. They have decided that it is a question of such grave importance to the President in carrying out his commendable policy of reform and retrenchment in every branch of the Government that he should have the full support of the House if at all practi-

A Serious Practical Joke.

WASHINGTON, March 15. A very serious joke was played upon a colored man named this evening by two clerks in John H. Seaman's grocery store, corner of Ninth street and Louisiana avenue. the result of which is very unpleasant to all who participated in it. It appears that Bragg has been loitering about the store for years and that the clerks frequently played practical jokes upon him. This evening, while in the store, one of the clerks poured some coal oil on his coat. Another clerk touched a match to it. He immediately blazed up and ran into the street. The clerks smothered up the flames with their coats, not, however, until Bragg was seriously burned. He went to his home and a physician was sent for, who had him sent to the hospital. Both of the clerks were afterwards arrested and required to give bail in the sum of $3,000 each for their appearance to-morrow.

Constabulary. [Special to the News and Courier.]

COLUMBIA, March 16. Governor Hampton, for purposes best known to himself and his advisers, is now engaged in organizing a strong and effective constabulary force. He has appointed Col. Wm. Butler, of Edgefield, as chief of the force, which so far numbers fifty picked men. Butler is a native of Greenville, but now a resident of Edgefield. He is an ex-Federal and ex-Confederate army officer, and was Colonel of the First South Carolina Regulators. He is regarded as an excellent selection for this responsible

> The procession being formed, the line of march was taken down Third to Princess, down Princess to Dock, up Dock to St. Thomas' Catholic Church, where High Mass was celebrated by Rev'd Father Townsend, who, at the conclusion of the services, delivered a short but appropriate sermon on the observance of the day, supplemented with a brief though interesting account of the life of St. Patrick. The sermon of the reverend gentleman was thoroughly appreciated. The services having come to an end, the procession was again formed, the line of march being taken as follows: up Dock to Fourth street, up Fourth to Nun, down Nun to Front, up Front to Red Cross, up Red Cross to Fifth, up Fifth to Market, down Market to Fourth, down Fourth to Princess, and down Princess to the Opera House, where, on the arrival of the body, a large audience of ladies and gentlemen had congregated. The members of the Association having been seated, the Marshal, Assistant Marshals and officers of the Association escorted the Hon. Edward Cantwell, the orator of the day, upon the stage. Here were also seated the invited guests, Rev. Fathers Gross and Townsend, Hon. A. M. Waddell and Mr. F. W. Kerchner.

The president, Capt. I. B. Grainger, then introduced the orator, who delivered an able and appropriate in which he took occasion to trace the hisdown to the present day. Ireland, he said, was known to antiquity as Hibernia, or Winter's Land, and as Scotia, or the land of the Scots. An interesting and minute description of the geography, soil, climate and productions of Ireland, together with its past and present political condition, formed a great portion of the gentleman's address. He told of Ireland's past and faded glories and related some pleasing legends of the Green Isle. The history of her kings also occupied much of the orator's attention. Ireland's Patron Saint was by no means neglected, for an interesting and lengthy description of St. Patrick formed a theme upon which the gentleman touched with a master hand, breathing much that was pathetic among his remarks.

CONCLUSION of the address the line was again formed, the procession moving down Princess to Third and up Third to Temperance Hall, where the organization assembled to transact their annual business, Captain I. B. Grainger presiding. The election of officers resulted as follows:

Duprez & Benedict's Minstrels. Despite the inclement weather, a fair audience assembled at the Opera House last evening to witness the performance of Duprez & Benedict's Minstrels.

The troupe is unusually large and is really first-class, possessing all the essential elements, excellent musicians, capital dancers, and first-class singers.

"Gathering Shells by the Seashore" was very sweetly sung by Dumont, and was decidedly the best of the several ballads, though none were poor. The "Black Berry Cavalry" was cer-

The City Hall Building. The general dilapidated condition of the City Hall building, outside and in, is a source of very general comment, and is calculated to give strangers a very unfavorable impression of our public buildings. Our "City Fathers" have had the subject of providing for necessary repairs to the hall before them for consideration at various times during the past five or six years, and all this while it has been getting from bad to worse. During the late storm many of the glass were blown from the windows, especially on the western front, in one or more instances the sash being almost literally stripped, and yet, after a lapse of about two weeks, we find that none of them have been replaced. At this rate, if the policy of indifference to the necessary repairs to the building is persisted in, it will soon become to be an absolute disgrace to the city. We hope for the credit of Wilmington that the Board of Aldermen will take the matter into consideration and at least see to it that the building is put in a presentable condi-
