Tweed's Supplemental Confession. NEW YORK, April 20.

. A Herald special from Albany, N Y., says it is reported that Tweed has made a supplemental confession relative to the election of Judges of the Courts of Appeals in the spring of 1870, showing that Judges Andrews and Folger were fraudulently elected, and that Hugh Hastings, of the New York Commercial Advertiser, engineered the fraud.

The Tribune says: Tweed will certainly be released within a short time. and Sweeney and the other leaders of the ring will make a settlement. New suits will be instituted against the persons into whose hands public funds passed corruptly.

[Charlotte Call.] "The extent of region embraced in these gold fields is upwards of five thousand square miles, not including the Placer mines in the mountains, which lie scattered and less known as to area. Within the bounds stated, I am able to enumerate not less than 101 mines, all well known and for the most part productive till the war. To this number may be added many others never dignified by name and, as yet, of little importance. The name of mine, as we use it has a much broader signification than when used in the Pacific States; for there a single vein is generally, by the mining laws of the district in which it is found, cut up into portions | ment. FEDERAL POINT TOWNSHIP, ) New Hanover County.

This is to certify that I, Charles M. Epps, have taught a Free Public School in Federal Point for one month, commencing 5th of February, and ending 2nd of March, 1877, having enrolled (34) thirty-four scholars of African race, 24 boys; 10 girls. Average attendance, 24. Number of teachers, ceiver, the case was removed to STEPHEN KEYES, It seems that such vouchers as the above do not have to be acted upon by the Auditing Committee, but are simply signed by the school committeemen of the township, when they are tendered to the Chairman of the Board of Commissioners for his approval. When this particular voucher was presented to the Chairman for that purpose, noticing that it bore the names of the three committeemen, he approved it without the least hesitation, not stopping to examine the signatures with any degree of minuteess. The voucher was presented at the Bank of New Hanover and cashed. Subsequently, when the Treasurer handed in his usual monthly report, the voucher was examined more carefully by Mr. Wagner and Mr. VanAmringe, when they discovered that one of the signatures was a forgery. or at least not in the handwriting of the committeeman in question, which was Mr. Keyes, with whose signature Mr. Wagner was familiar. His suspicions being thus aroused, he determined to investigate the matter. With this object in view he took the voucher and called upon Mr. Keyes, who declared that he not only did not sign it or authorize any one else to sign it, but that Epps had already drawn his money for the month referred to in the voucher. Mr. Wagner did not see the other two committeemen, but he and others are satisfied that Mr. Horne's name was also forged, as it is his custom to use the initial letter of his middle name in his signatures. Having succeeded in working up the case, after a week or so devoted to that purpose. Mr hastened to Justice VanAmringe's office and smilingly presented himself to that

A Drowned Sailor,

A colored men by the name of Owen Jones, who arrived here yesterday, reports having discovered at the Stokley place, on Middle Sound, yesterday morning, while on a fishing expedition, the dead body of a white man, evidently that of a sailor, which had probably drifted in at the Inlet at high water and lodged on the Sand Shoals. Deceased had on thick, heavy boots, pants and two shirts, but no coat. Coroner Hewlett was notified and will hold an inquest over the body to-day. The remains are no doubt those of some poor seaman who perished on our coast during the late gale.

Fast Mail Service-The U. S. Postal Commission to Visit Wilmington.

A telegram was received here yesterday from Hon. R. R. Bridgers, at Augusta, Ga., announcing that the U.S. Postal Commission would spend Tuesday in this city and desired to have a conference with our business men generally, relative to the object of their mission, which is the improvement of mail facilities in the South. As the speedy transportation of the mails is a matter in which all, and especially the business community, should feel a deep interest, we would suggest that a general meeting, in which the Chamber of Commerce, Produce Exchange and Board of Irade shall be represented, be held with the view of making the necessary arrangements for the reception of the Commission upon their arrival and provide for the proposed consultation, which will take place at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. The Postal Commission, which received its appointment from the Government, is composed of gentlemen of prominence. They are to meet and consult with the business men of Charleston to-morrow, and suitable preparations have been made by the various .business organizations for their reception at

Chicken Thieves at Work Again. Some thief or thieves paid a visit on Friday night to the chicken coop of Mr. John Meyer, corner of Twelfth and Market streets, but finding it rather more secure than they had probably expected, they changed their minds, and, by removing some of the palings from the fence, succeeded in capturing and carrying off a goose and five eggs, which latter were undergoing the process of incubation. It seems that the severe penalties imposed by His Honor, Judge Meares, during the late term of the Criminal Court, fails to have the desired effect in frightening the thieves. People residing in the suburbs, who have no protection from such depredations by the police, are of the opinion that they should be allowed to keep a fierce dog

HARBOR IMPROVEMENTS. WILMINGTON, N. C., April 20, 1877.

SIR: Your Committee have thought it advisable to make a visit to the public works o ascertain the damage, if any, and to learn the condition of surroundings and the general situation of affairs since the terrible storm by which our coast has been so ecently afflicted.

Wednesday, the 18th inst., was spent at New Inlet, Bald Head and on the beaches, and we are pleased at being able to report everything safe. Although considerably damaged, requiring some labor and expense to restore, there is no permanent or very serious injury to the works, the harbor or ts surroundings.

The hurricane, or cylone (which it really vas) commenced early Friday morning, the 13th inst., and continued for forty-eight hours with great violence, bringing along with it unprecedentedly high tides; in fact, the tide rose several feet higher than the highest known storm tide, levelling nearly all the hills and high ground of Smith's Island beach from the Inlet to Smith's Island proper, presenting one unbroken sheet (almost) of water from Federal Point to Smith's Island and across to Smithville. Such a sight had never before been witnessed by the oldest inhabitant or even heard of.

The apron across the Inlet, Snow Marsh Channel, and Bald Head Channel, remains intact, and has not been perceptibly affected. The breach in the old breakwater, made by the storm of September last, remains about as last reported. The suction dredge, Emma Dunn, is resting comfortably, right side up, on the top of Big Island, entirely out of the reach of navy worms or water rot. There has been considerable washing away of the hills and high grounds at Federal Point and Smith's Island.

It appears that the extreme high water made its way across the long line of Smith's Island beach, through the low places of it and between the hills, thus producing currents which soon levelled the hills and soft high ground, literally melting them down to the common level of ordinary high tide, spreading the earth over the rear marshes into a broad level foundation for a new beach, leaving, however, several tow places where the water flows over at high tides. These, it is expected, will soon close up by the operations of nature.

It will thus be seen, the importance of building up the beaches which surround the harbor by artificial means to a a uniform height above the highest tides, to prevent the water ever passing through, then secure it by binding the sand with the roots of grass, shrubbery, trees, anything that will secure it against encroachments of the winds and water. We are satisfied that it is by this means, and this only, can we ever hope to protect our harbor from similar enchroachments and damage in the future, and thereby secure the full benefit of the improvements which have been, and are now being made for its restoration to its primitive condition of usefulness. In this view of the subject we earnestly recommend the Chamber to adopt early and effi-cient measures for procuring from Con-gress special appropriations for this purpose alore outside and independent of the general appropriation for River and Har-or Improvements. The work of closing New Inlet is propressing slowly but surely under the contract with Messrs. Bangs & Dolby. Since the beginning of the year, when this work began, the weather has been peculiarly unfavorable for operating, so that up to this time only about seven thousand cubic yards of stone have been placed in position, when fourteen were expected. The well known energy of the contractors, however, affords ample assurance that this deficiency will be promptly made up as soon as the weather will permit of full operations.

Respectfully submitted, (ned) H. NUTT, GEO. HARRIS, JAS. H. CHADBOURN,

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Sohenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary diseases.

The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs; nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phiegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, the patient has restand the lungs begin to heal.

To enable the Pulmonic Syrup to do this Schenck's Mandrake Pills and Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver. Schenck's Mandrake Pills act en the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is seen relieved.

Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative; the alkall of which it is composed mixes with the food and prevents souring. It assists the digestion by toning up the stomach to a healthy condition, so that the food and Pulmonic Syrup will make good blood; then the lungs heal, and the patient will surely get well if care is taken to prevent fresh cold.

A Colored School Teacher Arrested and Bound Over to the Criminal Court on the Charge of Forging a

A colored individual by the name of Charles M. Epps, who has been engaged in teaching a public school for colored children, in Federal Point township, in this county, was arrested yesterday on the affidavit of John G. Wagner, Esq., Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, the charge being that Epps did wilfully and feloniously write a school voucher on the Treasurer of New Hanover county for the amount of forty dollars, and unlawfully signed thereto the names of the School Committeemen of Federal Point township,
