The Chief Justiceship. |Special to Charleston News and Courier. |

COLUMBIA, May 8. The situation in regard to the Chief Justiceship remains apparently without change; but I have it from trustworthy sources that within the next two or three days Gary's supporters in the Senate, whom he now uses to defeat Willard by deferring the election, will desert him, and that Willard will then be elected beyond peradventure. What is to be the moving cause to effect this result, I am not at liberty to disclose.

For Associate Justice the only two recognized candidates now in the field are Gen. Kershaw and 'Col. A. C. Haskell. The latter, I am informed, has twenty votes pledged to him on the first ballot.

JUDGE WRIGHT'S CASE. The Wright investigating committee intend making their report to the House to-morrow. The report will be a recommendation that a joint resolution be passed by both Houses, or a joint commission raised, to prepare an address to the Governor to declare Wright's seat vacant. The evidence will all be submitted with the

The United States and the Foreign War.

NEW YORK, May 8. There is much discussion in official circles as to the position which the United States hold with regard to the two European governments now at war. It is said the Turkish Minister may have had a point in view in promptly communicating to Secretary Evarts the fact of the declaration of war, and that the failure of the Russian government to notify the United States of the beginning of war, may involve this government in trouble, unless steps are taken to avoid it. It is stated that agents of the Turkish government in this country are practically engaged in purchasing and shipping munitions of war to Con-

It is also said that the Russian government has emissaries scattered along the coast, who are in communication with the Russian fleet, with instructions to report the departure of any vessels with war material for Turkey, so that the Russian fleet might intercept and capture them.

NEW YORK, May 8. A non union moulder named J McKeever, was shot in this city this morning about 6 o'clock, while going peaceably to his work. Three union men walked up to him, and each fired a shot into his body, and escaped. They will probably be captured. McKeever is fatally wounded.

A New Mineral.

[Charlotte Observer.] North Carolina has been said to be the finest undeveloped mineral field in the world, and each day's investigation of it adds proof to the assertion. Mr. W. W. Flemming, of this city, found asingular looking mineral in Western North Carolina some time since, and sent it on to his father-in-law, Rev. be something altogether new to the scientific and mineralogical world. occurs in Octahedral crystals—is yellowish brown, with grayish opalescence and is essentially a columbate of uranium oxide and lime. It has been named Hatchettolite, and is fully described in the May number of the American Journal of Science in a paper by Dr. J. L. Smith, of Louisville, Ky.

Lutheran Synod. A correspondent of the Raleigh Observer, writing from Salisbury, May 5th, says:

"I yesterday visited St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church, where the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of North Carolina is holding its session. They seemed to be working harmoniously, and are nearly through their business, though it is early in the week. The officers are: Rev. L. A. Bickley, D. D., President, and Rev. W. Kimball, Secretary. The clerical members of the Synod are: Revs. Samuel Rothark, J. B. Davis, D. D., G. D. Bernheim, T. W. Dosh, D. D., C. H. Bernheim, W. H. Cane, W. A. Julian, L. A. Bickley, D. D., W. Kimball, R. L. Brown, E. P. Parker, W. R. Kelchie, H. M. Brown, V. Stickley, R. W. Petrea, E. N. Wingard, S. S. Rahn, with a lay delegate for each; also Rev. - Bowman, D. D., of Charleston, is the delegate from the South Carolina Synode.

"Messrs. Linn, Lutz and Cook are to be set apart for the ministry, being to-day ordained by the Synod. Dr. Bowman is to preach the ordination sermon. These young ministers are citizens of this State, having lately finished their theological course in the Seminary in Philadelphia, Pa, and appear to be well equipped for the good work. W. L. K."

A Wilmington Episode. [Tarboro Southerner.]

It was in front of the Manning House. A rank Tar heel from Mt. Olive, sporting No. 9 brogans, with much dignity and condescension employed the services of a boot-black to give him a shine.

T H was in whiskey and syllabled out his words with maudlin precision. B B was of proverbial pertness and

T H--'Say, boy, what's yer charge?' B B-'Ten cents, sir.' T H-Look here! I'm darned if I ever-paid more'n s-six-pence to

B B--Eyeing askance the colossal pedals-'Yes. I charges six-pence for a trim figger; but when I polishes gun boats I allers has ten cents.'

At this juncture the precocious urchin's immediate attention was given to dodging the huge cowhide pendulum that just missed the rear bottom of his jacker.

Want to Go Home. Subscriptions are being solicited to aid the Arabs or Algerians in getting to New York, where they hope to secure work or help to get home through the assistance of the Arabian Consul and other friends at that place. The Arabs, seven in number, are all in destitute circumstances, and being unable to speak our language or understand anything said to them, sick and far away from home and friends, their condition is certainly an unenviable one. They were on the eve of starting for New York on foot, when Robert McKenzie, one of the Captains of the police force, and W. K. Price, Deputy in the City Clerk's office, feeling for their desolate condition, offered to make an effort to raise an amount sufficient to take them to New York, or at least to enable them to supply themselves with the necessaries of life until they reach there. Contributions left with the parties mentioned will no doubt be properly applied.

Returned to His Old Quarters.

Joseph Binlan, the reaman referred to in our last as having mysteriously disappeared after having been taken from the chain-gang by a shipping master and shipped on a vessel about to sail from this port, returned to the guard house the same evening, about "half seas over," to bid his late comrades and associates good by, sayawait a requisition from the Captain of the vessel he had engaged to sail upon.

Another Pounding. Our friends of the Front Street Methodist Church held another of their pleasant "poundings" on Tuesday evening. In this instance the gifts were for the poor, and from the packages of sugar, coffee, tea, &c., presented, they must have been favorably remembered, which from the number of persons present the gathering must also have been a very pleasant one.

Something More About the Pennut Mr. W. E. Worth, of the firm of Weller & Worth, 40 Vine St., Cincinnati, Ohio, writing under date of May 7th, has this to say about the peanut crop:

"I notice this morning in THE MORNING

STAR of the 5th an article on the peanut crop. The writer was not very well posted concerning the present crop in Tennessee We had in this city, on the first day of May, a stock of sixty-five thousand bags (65,000). One of the largest receivers here, who has recently been over the peanut producing section of Tennessee, states that there is at least thirty-five thousand bags yet to be marketed. The bags used will average a little over five bushels each, which would make a crop of 500,000 bushels, 200,000 bushels more than you state. It is a well established fact that the peanut growers of Tennessee-at least two thirds of them-cannot grow any other crop that will pay them as well. Twothirds of the area producing peanuts every year, will not produce twenty bushels of corn to the acre. The facilities for marketing their crops are about as poor as can well be imagined, many of them having to haul their entire products from thirty to forty miles, at great expense, and even then they can sell their peanuts at fifty cents per bushel and live, as the majority of the producers are a poor, impecunious set, who can live on a very little. The average market price here to-day is seventyfive cents per bushel. The producers pay fifteen cents a piece for bags and get about three cents each when sold. The shipments to the country so far this year aggregate about one-third as great as for the corresponding period last year. "With the present immense stock here, large stock in Norfolk, Va., and other points, no demand of consequence, and the certain fact that there will be fully half as many acres planted in Tennessee this year as there were last, I can see no hope for peanuts advancing, either this or next year, to a remunerative figure to your producers, unless this should be a more prosperous year to the laboring classes, who are undoubtedly the consumers. If the crop of ing he was going away, upon which Capt. | Tennessee should prove an entire failure rate of consumption, enough to carry us through another season. There are too many peanuts, and too few people who have that stray nickle to spend, for even so cheap a luxury."

THE PILOT FUND.

Memorial Day-10th of May, 1877. Closing Business Houses, &c. In order to afford ample time to all who wish to participate in the celebration, prepare decorations, &c., it has been suggested that all places of business, like the banks, be closed at the ringing of the 1 o'clock bell and remain closed until 6 o'clock, and that as many of our business houses as possible be draped in mourning. Surely we can do this much once a year for those who sacrificed their lives for the "lost cause," which they believed to be just and right.
