From South Caralina. [Special to Charleston Journal of Commerce. COLUMBIA, May 11.

The Legislative dead-lock has at last come to an end, and there is now a reasonable prospect of an early adjournment. The votes of Cochrac and Johnson, of Sumter, ensured the his 57th year. Judicial election, which is now permanently fixed for Tuesday next. The usury bill has been defeated, and | made 115 cords of wood. there remains very little else for the Legislature to do, save to remove Judge Wright and elect his successor. The question of who is to be Chief Justice is in a more muddled condition than ever.

In the House to day, the special committee appointed to investigate the official conduct of Judge Wright, submitted a report recommending the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That J. J. Wright, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of South Carolina, be impeached for drunkenness.

The Postmaster General wrote the following letter in response to a letter from the Mayor :

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 8. Col. J. Guthrie, Cincinnati:

DEAR SIR : I thank you and the committee, of which you are chairman, for your invitation to attend your memorial ceremonies on Decoration Day. I wish I could attend, but my official duties will demand my time and prevent my acceptance. rejoice to hear you say that the soldiers that are buried in your beautiful city of the dead, whether they were the blue or the grey, will be respected alike. He who dies for a cause which he believes is just, may have done wrong in engaging in the strife, but he committed no sin. The fact that the Southern soldier staked his life on his cause, manifested his sincerity. Say, if you please, that he was mistaken; that he did wrong; but say, at the same time, that he was honest and

J. Evans Edings left this city with a tin box in his possession, containing some $1,200 or more, for the Charleston Mining and Manufacturing Phosphate Works, of which Mr. Pinckney is the agent. This money was for the purpose of paying off the hands employed at the phosphate works Saturday night. Mr. Edings was shot down and killed in his buggy about four o'clock, by parties unknown, and the box containing the money carried off. It is thought he was killed by some of the negroes employed at the works.

Some of the Circumstances Attending his Exit. An individual by the name of W. H. Harrison, familiarly known as Walter Harrison, who has been a resident of this city for several years past, where he has been engaged in the lottery business, gambling, running drinking saloons, restaurants, &c., left here rather suddenly about a week ago, and it has since transpired that he carried away with him a considerable amount of money and valuables belonging to other people. He has lately been talking of getting up another lottery scheme under the old charter, granted by the Legislature to what was known as the North Carolina Beneficial Association, by which, he represented, a hundred thousand dollars or more could be realized in a very short time. He endeavored to get the Mayor of the city to invest five or six thousand dollars in the enterprise, and approached the Sheriff of the county in like manner, but these two officials concluded, as there was such a very large amount to be realized on the scheme, they would let Walter make it. He succeeded, however, in gulling some of our less suspecting merchants to a considerable amount in this way, one firm, we understand, being his creditors to the tune of about $2,500. Before taking his departure he also managed to supply his wardrobe to quite a heavy extent, having the articles charged to his account, and stating that he would pay for them in a day or two. He also carried away with in his hands to be disposed of in his proposed lottery. He had his homestead laid off a short time since, and before leaving he disposed of that to a party here, who is in possession of the bill of sale and an execution in his hands, but the homestead exemption will probably cover that. At last accounts Harrison was said to have been in Baltimore, with his friend Matthews, trying to dispose charter of the North Carolina Beneficial in Oakdale Cemetery during the week sonable figure. When he left here he inclosing yesterday, the body being that of a formed some of his friends that he was going off on business and would shortly return. Some of them are looking for him very anxiously, and crying, as they vainly seek for that manly form on our streets,-O, Walter, hast thou gone and left us, And of thy presence thus bereft us? Or wilt thou just for a season stay, And then hasten back our bills to pay?

The Shooting and Subsequent Capture of One of the Alleged Duplin County Murderers.

Levi Parker alias Levi Cox, colored, one of the party alleged to have been complicated in the murder of Alex. McCullough, colored, in Duplin county, alluded to in this paper, has been captured. The circumstances leading to his arrest are as follows : On the morning of Thursday, the 10th inst., Parker called at the residence of Mr. R. H. Brown, in the neighborhood of Hallsville, Duplin county, near where the murder took place, and requested to see that gentleman. Mr. Brown asked Parker to walk in, and he was about to do so, when he discovered the presence in the room of another party in the person of Mr. S. D. Farrior, upon which he (Parker) darted from the door and ran off at full speed. Mr. Brown seized a gun near at hand and shouted to the fugitive to stop, and, upon his failing to do so, fired upon him, but with what effect he was unable to judge. Parker continued his flight, but Messrs. Brown and Farrior did not pursue. Subsequently, however, the fugitive was discovered in a neighboring, field by a colored man by the name of David Cox, said to be a relative of Parker, when it was found that he was badly wounded between the shoulders, though the hurt is thought not to be of a dangerous character. The facts of the fearful tragedy in which he is thought to have acted a part will probably now be brought to
