The Consular Service to be Over hauled. [Special to Richmond Dispatch.]

WASHINGTON, May 12. The President said to-day that the consular service will be thoroughly overhauled and the system of appointments and management revised, with a view to advancing the commercial interests of the United States. As vacancies occur they will be filled with careful reference to that object, practicable, who are identified with the business interests of this country. It is believed that this course will tend to foster our trade with foreign ports and elevate the consulates from mere political sinecures for party favorites to the dignity of commercial agencies for the extension and protection of American commerce in all important ports.

Visit of Secretary of Navy. Secretary Thompson and many other distinguished men visited Norfolk on Saturday. A telegram to the Richmond Dispatch says:

The day was almost consumed by the Secretary and his heads of departments in inspecting the vast works of the yard, and after a short entertainment on the Franklin and at the residence of Commodore J. Blakely Creighton, the commandant of the yard, the visitors returned on board of the Lady of the Lake and left for Washington. The Secretary expressed himself greatly impressed with the naval eslablishment at this point.

Committees from the City Councils of Norfolk and Portsmouth, the Board of Trade, Cotton Exchange, Harbor Commissioners, &c., waited on the Secretary and invited him to the hospitalities of the city, but he gracefully declined any sort of formal reception, stating that he was simply in Norfolk on a business visit.

From Columbia, S. C. [Special to Charleston Jour. of Commerce.] COLUMBIA, May 12.

With the end of the Legislative dead-lock comes the collapse of the remains of the Radical Ring in the Senate and the overthrow of Chamberlainism for ever. I am sure that there will be an overwhelming wail of regret from all honest people when the announcement is made that the usurper has departed from the land of the Palmetto. He folded up his little carpet-bag this morning and silently wended his way to more congenial climes.

There have been and will be developments, I am told, which will make things exceedingly unpleasant for Republican as well as Democratic Senators. A prominent official out of whom I pumped this information would tell me nothing else. He concluded his remarks with the remark : "It's hell and damnation, I tell you," and then he closed his mouth like "an ovster on a coon's bush." It is a little strange that although the election for Chief Justice is appointed for Tuesday next, the Democrats have not yet approached the subject in their caucus. The fact that Governor Hampton favors the election of Judge Willard, has, of course, given him the inside track in the race, but the opposition to him has developed considerable strength within the past few days, and when the caucus decides to tackle the question, there will be a bitter fight and a possible bolt.

"Our First Captain."

[Charlotte Observer.] One of the most beautiful and touching incidents of the ceremonies in Elmwood Cemetery on memorial day, was the tribute of the Charlotte Grays to their first Captain, Maj. Egbert A. Ross, who laid down his life on the bloody field of Gettysburg, and whose body was subsequently removed to Elmwood Cemetery. After the flowers had been scattered

so "they" say.

A colored girl called at a residence on Second street, on Saturday last, and asked the lady of the house for some flowers. and, upon receiving the reply that she (the lady) was too worried with a sick daughter to bother with her then, the girl left. It seems, however, that she caught the words "sick daughter" and resolved to profit thereby, as it subsequently transpired that she went to several houses in that vicinity and obtained a supply of flowers from each by asking for them in the name of the lady who had first refused her. Emboldened by her success she finally determined to enlarge the scope and extent of her operations, to facilitate which she wrote, or had written, the following document:

"WILMINGTON, N. C., May 12, 1877. Mrs. —: is very sick and she sends for a bunch of flowers to put beside her bed. She says please send her some sugar and tea and flower.'

She then addressed the note to a lady on Front street, and presented it, without a signature, at the residence of the party in question. But just here the enterprising colored damsel overstepped the mark. She was too smart, and the consequence was that her last venture proved a quietus to took her departure without the much coveted "flower," &c.

Have we Kidnappers Among Us? A gentleman and his two little sons took a walk along the wharves on Sunday afternoon, when, meeting some friends, he stopped and engaged in conversation with them. He had been thus employed for some time, and finally prepared to resume his walk, when he found that one of his boys was missing. Very much distressed, and fearful that the little fellow might have accidentally fallen into the river, he commenced making inquiries, and finally s colored man informed him that a man had seized the boy and carried him on board of a vessel lying at the wharf near by, and volunteered to go and get him. He did so, but stated on his return that it-was with some difficulty he could induce the man, (who did not belong on the vessel), to let him go, and finally had to tell him that the father of the little fellow was on the wharf and would cause him trouble if he did not immediately deliver him up. The gentleman alluded to would not have thought so much of this circumstance but for the fact that the same man who seized the boy was seen to pass his house on four different occasions after he had arrived home with his children. We should regret to hear of a Charley Ross case in Wilmington.

It has been arranged that a committee of the several trade organizations of Wilmington, with other gentlemen, will leave here on the train Wednesday morning, at half past 8 o'clock, with the view of meeting the Western excursionists and escorting them to this city, where they are expected to arrive about 12 o'clock.

The Proposed Canal Through Angola Pocosin.

At the call of Mr. Daniel Shaw, Chairman of a committee appointed at the late meeting in Pender county, to consider the question of constructing a canal from Croom's Bridge, on the west side of Angola Pocosin, to the Duplin and Pender line, on the east side of said Pocosin, a meeting was held on Friday last, on the line of the two counties named, at which Mr. Shaw presided, and Mr. Jacob James, of Duplin, acted as Secretary.

The meeting was large and enthusiastic there being about two hundred persons present, including citizens of Duplin, Pender and Onslow counties.

The main object of the meeting, as explained by the Chairman, was in reference to the exact location of the line, as to which there had been some misunderstanding, and the location as above, from Croom's Bridge direct to the Duplin and Pender line, which is in accordance with the reading of the act of the Legislature providing for the building of said canal, received the unanimous endorsation of the meeting.

The proposed canal, we are assured, will open up a large extent of country abounding in turpentine trees which have never been touched and in facilities for the manufacture of tar, besides greatly lessen ing the distance to tide-water and adding to the facilities of farmers and others in reaching market with their various productions, to say nothing of the improvement which will necessarily follow the building of the canal to the thousands of acres of land in that region belonging to the State; and which is now absolutely worthless. It is hoped for this consideration, if no other, that the necessary convict labor authorized by the bill will be furnished without unnecessarg delay, so that the work of constructing the canal may be proceeded with.

Yacht after a New Model.

Much interest was excited on the wharves. in the vicinity of the foot of Dock street, yesterday afternoon, by an experimental test, in the river at that point, of the sailing qualities of a miniature yacht, constructed after what is known as the "Catamaran" model, by Mr. Norwood Giles. It is composed of two distinct boats, about three feet in length and joined together by three beams, one at each end and one just forward of midship, in the latter of which the mast is set, being located centrally between the two boats, while to the after beam the rudder is attached. This renders the capsizing of the boat a matter of impossibility, almost, while it affords an opportunity of crowding on a large amount of canvass and thus facilitating, in the same ratio, the speed of the boat. A yacht built after this model, in New York, was made to attain the speed of eighteen miles per hour. The experiment of the Meares, as we learn Mr. Giles will call his little craft. was a decided success, and we shall expect before long to see in our waters yachts of large size constructed after the same style.

Assault with a Bendly Weapon. A colored man by the name of Raynard Lamb, was arrested on Water street, Sunday morning, charged with an assault and battery with a deadly weapon upon the person of one Warwick Perry, colored. I appears that the two men were together on Saturday night last, about 10 o'clock, on the outer edge of Brooklyn; that they stepped into a bar-room to get a drink, and further operations on that score, and she on coming out Lamb broached a subject upon which the two had previously had some misunderstanding, when Perry, wishing to avoid a discussion which he knew would lead to a difficulty, started to leave his companion and go off in another direction, when Lamb drew a knife and plunged it into the right side of Perry, making quite a deep incision between the lowerrib and hip-bone, from which the blood spurted in a stream. Perry was taken to his residence and a physician summoned. who pronounced the wound a severe one, though not necessarily dangerous. Lamb was lodged in the guard house to await an examination into the case by Mayor Cana-

Mayor's Court.

The following cases were disposed by the Mayor yesterday morning: Hannah Brown, charged with disorderly conduct on the streets, was ordered to pay a fine of $10 and costs or work for thirty days on the streets. Lewis Gause, charged with disorderly conduct and resisting the police. The defendant was arrested on the 16th of March. but made his escape. He was subsequently rearrested and was recognized for his appearance, but failed to come to time. On Saturday night last, however, he was again arrested and lodged in the guard house. He was ordered to pay a fine of $10 and costs or work for thirty days on the streets, in the first case, and $25 and costs or work for thirty days on the streets, in the second Sarah McKenzie, charged with disorderly

TO ALL, PARTICULARLY INVALIDS, spring is a trying season. Indications of sickness should at once be attended to. Fatal diseases muy be caused

y allowing the bowels to become constipated and the system to remain in a disordered condition, until the disorder has time to develop itself. An ounce of prevention is werth a pound of cure, is an old and truthful saying. Therefore, we advise all who are troubled with the complaints now very prevalent-headache, indigestion, disordered liver, want of appetite, nauses, or feverish skin, to take, without delay, Schenck's Mandrake Pills. We know of no remedy so harmless and decisive in its action It at once strikes at the root of the disease and produces a healthy tone to the system. People never need suffer from any disease arising from a disorpromptly at 3 o'clock, and march to the dered condition of the liver if they would take this excellent medicine when they feel the first indications of the malady. Families leaving home for the summer months should take three or four boxes of these pills with them. They have an almost instantaneous effect. They will relieve the patient of headache in one or two hours, and will rapidly cleanse the liver of surrounding bile, and will effec-tually prevent a billious attack. They are sold by all druggists.
