By WILLIAM H. BERNARD. WILMINGTON, N. C .: WEDNESDAY MORNING, May 23, 187'

AN IMPORTANT ADDRESS We publish to-day the essential parts of an address issued by the State Board of Education, which is of prime importance to the people of North Carolina. Not only are the teachers interested in the matter, but every parent, and, indeed, every citizen who appreciates the advantages of education, and who desires to see the stigma removed from North Carolina that according to white population there is a greater per centage of ignorance than in any of the thirty-eight States. Such is the fact as the census of 1870 most clearly reveals. We had occasion two years ago to examine the reports, and we were shocked to find that our good alphabet. This must continue as long as the white people of North Carolina take so little interest in education, and as long as fathers work their children all the year round rather than allow them to have any schooling if only in the primary branches.

The movement recently set on foot to establish a school at the University for the special education of teachers, is very wise and very timely. It must result in great and assured good to the people at large in the end.

North Carolina has had for a hundred years good classical schools. It is not too much to say that the school at Oxford in 1820, and, which under different teachers continues until the present, is second to none in the land. Johnston, Lindsay, A. G. Brown and Horner, four very famous teachers, have been among the number who have conducted a classical school at that place. Mr. Johnston, fifty years ago, had no rival in the State but W. J. Bing- the line ready to advance at the ham. Mr. Horner has never been surpassed in the South. The present Fetter school is every way deserving of patronage. Then there were the admirable schools at Warrenton, Hillsboro, Louisburg, Raleigh and other points, that have proved very in London. The Liberals are so sengreat blessings in the past. To-day sible of this growing feeling, if not there are several schools for boys of for Turkey, at least for war on bevery high repute in different sections half of England's interests, that of the State. The old Bingham Gladstone will make an active camschool still flourishes under the paign, and will speak in many parts fourth of the name, and it is second of the Island. On the 30th inst. he to no school in the South, we sin- begins the anti-Turkey crusade a cerely believe.

But whilst we have had, and, still have, these excellent classical schools. there has been a sad deficiency both in the number and character of schools of a lower grade. Good teachers have not abounded sufficiently to meet the wants of the State. The Normal School to be instituted at Chapel Hill will, to a large extent meet the demands and supplement the deficiencies. Teachers will be sent out properly taught her people to the struggle. Her deed a gem of its sort, and has an

The Raleigh News says of the departure" in education in North Carolina:

"There have been great advances in the art of teaching. Old-fashioned teachers will be surprised at the extraordinary efficiency of the new methods, as developed by such accomplished experts as Professors Ladd and Owens and their coadjutors. They have already distinguished themselves by successful work in this direction. Professor Ladd is a brilliant presiding offlcer and conductor of such schools, a good lecturer, powerful in arousing enthasiasm among his auditors. Professor Owens is widely known as an able and learned instructor. The Board will certainly add to this force one, probably two professors, the best obtainable in the State.'

And then the Raleigh Observer has some judicious remarks upon the same subject, a part of which we copy: "Normal teaching is not only a science but an art. It requires for imparting it something besides learning and literary accomplishments. College Professors, no matter how deeply imbued with knowledge and successful in imparting it from their professorial chairs, unless they have likewise been trained in normal methods, are unequal to the task of imparting those methods. They must be inculcated by experts in this particular art, by men who have not only studied its principles, but have been accustomed to carry them into practice in the arena of the school.

"The ....zorities of the University who are determined to do everything in their all classes, the poor as well as the rich, have thrown their halls, recitation rooms, laboratories, museums, and library open to

It further urges:

"Let all who wish to become teachers, let all who are already teachers, male and female, assemble at Chapel Hill on the 3rd of July, or as soon thereafter as possible, and let us have a grand Revival of Educa-

We like this; it is so much better for the press to unite in making a common cause in the educational advancement of North Carolina than to be warring and antagonistic upon questions of mere party interests The editor who can cause the seeds of virtue and intelligence to spring up in the virgin soil of our youthful mind has accomplished more good than he could possibly accomplish if he had caused a party triumph in some village or township. The one may bring blessings to thousands the end; the other merely serves the

We join our brethren in wishing this new enterprise the fullest success, and in the promise of a hearty co-operation to do what we can to make the Normal School at the University a powerful instrument in the intellectual regeneration of North Carolina. As the News well says, let the University of the State become the University of the people.

THE WAR.

Russia has no doubt gained a victory at last, and has captured Ardahan. At first the Muscovites were repulsed with heavy slaughter, but old State-good and true in so many they renewed the fight and succeedrespects-stood Z in the educational ed. Our last dispatches explained the value of the victory, and it is unnecessary to recapitulate. The following is the Russian account, which we have not published before. It is the report of Gen. Melikoff:

"The outworks of Ardaban, its fortifications, citadel, sixty guns, immense stores of provisions and ammunition, and the camp formerly occupied by four battalions of Turks, lie at the feet of the Czar. On May 17th the admirable fire of our artillery between three and six o'clock in the afternoon made a breach in the walls. At six o'clock the Erwan, Tiflis and Baker regiments and the sappers advanced to the assault. The enemy could not withstand the onslaught and fled, leaving a great number of their dead. At nine o'clock our troops traversed the whole town and fortifications the bands playing the National anthem. The troops are full of enthusiasm. Our loss is believed to be 1 officer and 50 soldiers killed, and 4 officers and 180 soldiers wounded. I cannot find sufficient words of praise for the courage and coolness of our young soldiers." Kars is closely invested by the Russians, and sooner or later must fall either by assault or by famine. The Russians have made immense preparations for crossing the Danube and are reported to have two hundred and fifty thousand men along given signal. The Czar will b present when the onward movement begins, and will himself give the

In England the war feeling is rep resented as on the increase, notably Birmingham. The war preparations are going on with great activity, and speculation is rife as to who shall command the British forces. A London telegram to the Herald says: "The most popular idea is that the Prince of Wales should take the nominal com-mand on the German plan, with General Sir Garnett Wolsey as chief of staff, as Von Moltke was to the Kaiser in the Franco-Prussian war." England will deliberate long before the awful step is taken that commits in the STAR of yesterday. It is inand disciplined, and filled with the commerce will be destroyed or very unmistakable poetic flavor. The au-may avail themselves of the occasion to rise en masse, and whilst she fights in front, she may find herself assailed throughout her possessions in Southern Asia. She will discuss more and wait longer before she says-"My voice is for war."

THE FRENCH CRISIS.

The cable dispatches to the New York Herald, dated Paris, May 19th, are of a character to excite the profoundest apprehension of a revolution or a coup d'etat which may end in the restoration of either the Legitimist or Orleanist dynasty. The correspondent telegraphs:

"In all the political vicissitudes through which France has passed since 1848, I never recollect to have seen such gloom as now pervades the community, save among the extremists of the Legitimist or Clerical factions. The gloom that succeeded the coup d'état on the 2d of December, 1851, was not greater. The worst was then known. The great usurpation had been plainly foreshadowed; the materials which made it possible had been gathering in his hands for months, and the use to which he would put them was not doubted." He says further:

"The atmosphere seems charged with electrical influences which may develop one knows not what convulsion of the elements, Even those who hope to profit by disturbances seem not altogether tranquil as to results. A tour of the workmen's districts, where the blue blouses swarm like bees, re veals an intense state of excitement. Led habitually by the most extreme Radicals and Socialists, they had of late in great numbers become amenable to milder counsels, but the natural effect of MacMahon's reaction has been to throw the workmen back en masse among the most extreme Re-publicans. So bad faith breeds distrust and reaction in one direction and reaction

We are not prepared as yet to believe that the President, Marshal MacMahon, has sold himself to either of the factions that Republicanism may be overthrown. He is not a great man, and he is probably misled-did not himself foresee the full meaning of his own action and what direful consequences might follow his unprovoked and unconstitutional course. He is, as we said, yesterday, a thorough-paced Imperialist, but he is, or has had credit of being, a man of honor. To yield himself a pliant tool in the hards of either the Legitimists, Orleanists or Bonapartists in order that he might overthrow the very government he has sworn to support and perpetuate, would be an act of treason infinitely greater than that of Arnold. The Herald correspondent says:

"Whatever may be the President's per-sonal views, doubtless the men at the head of the Cabinet will drive him to acts which will end in revolution, and, probably, in civil war. It is necessary to recollect that we have here a constitutional ruler dismissing his Cabinet, not because the majority opposed it in the Chamber, but because of the majority sympathizing with and supporting it. In other words, the Marshal has taken issue with the nation under the most absurd pretence that he alone understands and represents its interests. The constitution of a Ministry thoroughly reactionary renders inevitable, therefore, the following chain of events:-The prorogation of the Chambers for a month is to give the new Ministry time to organize, but on the Legislature's reassembling the Min-istry will meet an exasperated Chamber and be beaten by overwhelming majorities on the first measures presented. Then will follow a dissolution and a general election in three months, which will be too short a time for the ministerial agents to control the returns. The next Chamber will consequently be more republican than the present one and stronger in the support of their indignant constituencies. The faction in power, defeated and humiliated in every contest with the majority, will certainly push the Marshal to a coup d'etat. Every thing will then depend upon the old soldier's sense of honor and patriotism. I do not believe he wants to play the part of Monck; he certainly has not the stuff in him to play the part of Cromwell.'

The French Chambers, let it be mentioned, is divided into four parties or sections. The Right, or Legitimists; the Right-Centre, or Orleanists; the Left-Centre, or Conservative Republicans; and the Left, or Radicals. The Bonapartist faction has a few representatives. M. Simon was of the Left or Republican. They have control of the body. A new election will probably follow, and we have no doubt the Republicans will triumph, although the MacMahon strength is considerable, and the church party is vigorous, aggressive and numerous, and is thoroughly imperialistic or anti-Republican.

We think it more than probable that the speculations of the Herald correspondent are well based, and that everything in the end will depend upon MacMahon's patriotism and honor, whether France shall be given over again to the horrors of revolution, or whether by a masterstroke he shall place upon the throne a narrow-brained, self-willed Bourbon. The present excitement cannot continue long without violent outbreaks, and President McMahon will find himself gravitating towards a strong personal government where the military arm and the fixed bayonets rule the hour and win the victory. France must be soon pacified, or there will be a row. We invite the attention of the North Carolina press to the exquisite-But we are still of the opinion that | ly beautiful peroration of Judge Edward Cautwell's address published necessary enthusiasm they will be. greatly damaged, her Indian subjects thor has the literary faculty, and with it a refined taste and delicate fancy. He has but few equals in the State as an artist in words.

How to treat Grant when he enters England is the puzzling question. Is he to be received as Mr. Grant, the American citizen, or as ex-President Grant, a sort of ex-King, or as Gen. Grant, a distinguished soldier. Ex-President Van Buren went to England and was treated simply as a distinguished American citizen. The Herald says:

"It is understood that the government at Washington will intimate to the English Ministry that ex-President Grant will be expected to receive the honors paid to Louis Napoleon and Louis Philippe. This, however, simply concerns official etiquette. In private circles General Grant will receive unbounded hospitality."

The University Normal School. The State Board of Education have issued an address to the teachers of the State concerning the establishment of a Normal School in conrection with the University for white males. The following is the scheme:

1. The school will be open not only to these desiring to become teachers, but to all those now engaged in teaching. Females are invited to attend also.

2. The session will be during the summer vacation of the University. It will begin on Tuesday, the 3d July next, and will continue for at least six weeks. The school will be held in one or more of the University recitation rooms or laboratories.

3. Normal teaching being not only a science but an art, it has been determined to place the conduct of the school in the hands of trained experts -men who have for years made normal methods a study, and have had of her sight.-Post. large experience in their practical Accordingly Professor John I Ladd, Superintendent of the public schools of Staunton, Va., and Prof. L. H. Owens, formerly Superintendent of the public schools of Petersburg, Va., now President of the Deshler Female Institute, of Tuscumbia. Ala., have been chosen as two of the Professors of the University Normal School. At least one other Professor will be chosen, who will probably be a resident of the State.

4. Regular exercises will be held daily in the following branches: Arithmetic, written and mental; analysis, grammar, geography, reading, orthography, phonetics, penmanship. Instruction will be given practically on school discipline, methods, organization, qualifications, legal relation of teacher, parent and child. A daily drill in vocal music will be

In addition to the regular daily exorcises eminent men of this and other States will deliver lectures occasionally at night for the instruction of the students. . 5. The trustees and faculty of the University will allow the use of their recitation rooms, laboratories, libraries, museum, &c., and the Professors have, at the request of the Board of Education, agreed to cordially cooperate when desired in furthering the objects of the school.

6. There will be NO CHARGE FOR TUITION. Dormitories in the University buildings will be furnished free, so that those who bring their own bedding will be at no expense on this account. Table board, not exceeding $10 per month, can be had in private families. Arrangements have been made by which those wishing to mess together can live still more cheaply than this. Facilities for cooking will be furnished to those who bring their own provisions and cooking utensils.

The railroad companies will grant half fare. Transportation can be had from Durham to Chapel Hill at from fifty cents to one dollar.

Rev.Dr.Sears, agent of the Peabody Fund, so highly approves the estab-lishment of the school that he has placed at the disposal of the Board $500. The Board adds to this $500 more, making a fund of $1,000, which will be used in defraying the necessary expenses of regular attendants on the school who are unable to pay, being applied first towards paying their travelling expenses and then towards the expense of the Board.

Although the law requires that the moneys paid by the State shall be devoted to the use of males, yet females are cordially invited to attend all the exercises of the school free of

All those wishing to become regular attendants on the school will send their names to Hon. Kemp P. Battle. at Chapel Hill, on or before the 20th day of June next.

Attendants on the school will please bring the text-books they may have relating to the studies above named. Deficiencies will be supplied by the Beard.

The appeal closes as follows: We earnestly appeal to every eacher and every man and woman in the State who desires to teach, to come forward and attend this school. Should it prove successful the Legislature will no doubt increase the appropriation, and with experience and enlarged means we may well hope to do a great work for North Carolina. Z. B. Breech - Loading Guns.

We have for many years, with great success, made a specialty of building Fine Breech-Loading Gurs to the special instructions of individual sportsmen Making for a large and select trade enables us to give greater care and attention to the fitting, shooting and general finish of our Gurs than can be given to those Gurs bought by the retail trade from manufacturers who produce for a general market. We solicit the patronage of those sportsmen who are judges of Fine Gurs and who know the importance of having their Gurs made to fit them.

We are prepared to accept orders to build Gurs of any weight, gauge, proportion or style.
