The Presidential Policy of Appoint-[Special dispatch to the Baltimore Suf.]

WASHINGTON, June 3. Some of the Radical Republicans are again working themselves into a fever over the idea that the President intends appointing Democrats to office in the South. Neither the President's acts nor his utterances give any color to this assumption. There are in Washington at this very minute several highly respectable gentlemen from the South, natives of that section, who come here in pursuit of offices. They are men who were openly devoted to the Union cause during the war. One of them, who voted for Hayes and Wheeler, has had several interviews with the President and members of the Cabinet, and has received so little encouragement that he will go back home. Senator Gordon has pursued so conservative a course that it would naturally be supposed that he would have some influence, yet the President has not up to this time appointed a single person to office recommended by him.

Toombs Indorses Hayes. [Special dispatch to the Baltimore Sun.]

WASHINGTON, June 3. A dispatch from the Hot Springs of Arkensas states that in a public speech at that place Robert Toombs, of Georgia, spoke in the warmest terms of approval of President Haves and of his policy. He said that he could not indorse the manner of Hayes' accession to office, but that Hayes was the first man in forty years who had carried out pledges made previous to the election. Mr. Toombs took care to add his usual assertion that he was himself as much of a rebel as ever.

> The Fall Elections. Washington, June 4.

Hon. John G. Thompson, Chairman of the Ohio Democratic State Committee, who reached here to-day, expresses himself very confidently in respect to a Democratic triumph in that State this fall. The whole tenor of advices from Ohio is to the same effect, and we have the same news from Pennsylvania, coming from Republican sources.

Fish for England.

WASHINGTON, June 4. It seems to be settled that Mr. Fish has the refusal of the English mission, but that Mr. Pierrepont will not return before the autumn. Mr. Fish has not yet made up his mind to accept, but it is believed he will ultimately do so.

Our "Ex-Sovereign" Again.

LONDON, June 4. The London agent of the National Associated Press, to-day had an interview with ex-President Grant, while the latter was making a private visit in this city. In the course of conversation, the General expressed surprise at the warmth of his reception in England. It was, he said, entirely unexpected. He preferred not to say anything regarding the Russo-Turkish war, as his words and motives might be misconstrued. He intends visiting St. Petersburg, and will spend a month's time in that

From Herald Paris Dispatch.

The political situation has not changed here in any material particu-

Court party are much chagrined at the calm demeanor of the Republicandidate for the Presidency, should

WILMINGTON, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 6, 1877.

- Macon Advance: Our jovial friend, Mr. Jackson Johnston, has in his possession an Indian tomahawk, which he discovered on his farm near the place. It has the appearance, somewhat, of our common chopping ax, except that it has no eye, a neck being made, so that a hickory withe can be fastened around it. - News: E. B. Drake, Esq., editor of the Statesville American, is spoken of as United States Marshal for the Western District. He is an honest man, would make a faithful officer, and would give more decency to the revenue service in the west than it has ever hitherto enjoyed. The Salisbury Examiner says of him: "We know of no Republican who would give more general satisfaction than Mr. Drake, and in whose integrity the people have more confidence."

- Charlotte Observer: The case James C. Long vs Teresa Long for divorce, occupied the whole of Friday in the trial in the Superior Court, and excited some interest. The following issues were decided: (1) that the parties, plaintiff and ward some man with a wild record defendant, were married on the 22d of January, 1874; (2) that their marriage so far as plaintiff was concerned was by fraud of the defendant; and (3) that the plaintiff separated himself from the defendant as soon as he discovered the fraud so practiced

> - Raleigh News: Two sons of Rev. J. Henry Smith, D. D., of Greens-boro, Harry, aged 17, and Ebbie, aged 15, with Jesse Wharton, son of John C. Whar-ton, Esq., of Greensboro, have sarted down Haw River with the purpose of going to Fayetteville. They left Haw River Station, on the North Carolina Railroad, in boat eighteen feet long, built by Harry and Ebbie, and spent day before yesterday (Sunday) at Pittsboro with their older brother, Rev. Samuel M. Smith, pastor of the Presbyterian church at that place.

- The News says the Presbyterian church at Raleigh was crowded on Sunday morning to overflowing to hear Rev. Dr Deems. It says of the sermon: "The text was taken in Revelations, 5th chap., 9th verse, and the sermon was one of singular power and eloquence. The audience sat enrapt throughout the length of the magnificent discourse, and drank in with eagerness the scriptural truths which fell from the lips of this eloquent and learned divine. He preached in the Methodist church at night to a crowded house again. The News says the two discourses were in keeping with his reputation as one of the foremost

T. E. Hannon, Secretary of the National Board of Colonization, writes to the Asheville Pioneer that he has visited several counties in Western North Carolina, and that it is the place for colonies. The Philadelphia Association has purchased a tract of 30,000 acres. (The arrangements are not completed but may be considered so.) "I believe every acre of this large tract will be sold by 1st January, 1878. This tract, I judge, is within 25 miles of Asheville-our first colony will start sometime in August-the time has not been fixed yet but will be soon. We expect to settle about one hundred families this fall, and two hundred more by the 1st of March next."

- Wheat and oats are good i Sampson. Cotton backward. Wheat crop double what it was last year. Cotton crop in Nash unfavorable. Grasses and tobacco favorable. The prospect in Pender poor. Wheat in Anson favorable. Rye ditto, but oat crop short. Wheat in Catawba excellent. Corn unfavorable. Oats poor. In Anson grain crops good and large. Stands of corn and cotton good. Clover good. Grasses small. Halifax-corn, wheat and winter oats good. Cotton backward. In Montgomery cotton is looking badly, wheat good, oats poor. Not much grass raised. In Cleveland wheat is fine, oats average, corn and cotton small. Condensed from reports in Department of Agriculture in Raleigh News.

- Here is another account of the shooting of John M. Moody, which we copy from a letter in the Raleigh Observer, written from Northampton: "The man Brantly had been a witness in Court in a suit between Mr. Moody and other parties; Mr. Moody said that Brantly testified to a lie. Brantly had heard this, and passing Mr. Moody in the road while he was conversing with some man by the roadside, asked him if he said it. Mr. Moody replied, "If you said what I understood"but before he finished the sentence Brantly fired upon him, but failed to hit him at the first fire. Mr. Moody, springing from his buggy, drew his pistol, when they again exchanged shots, Brantly's second shot entering his (Moody's) right side between the third and fourth ribs, when he fell saying "you have killed me." He rose to his feet again and fired for the third time at his antagonist, and then died in a few moments. It is not known whether Brantly was struck or not. He left the scene of the shooting immediately, and had not been arrested at this writing. The above is sub-stantially the statement made by a gentleman who was present and witnessed the shooting.'

More Developments-The "Moonlight Club Society"-Oaths, Signs, Pass Words, Degrees, &c .- Rich Docu-

It would be difficult to estimate the service done to the community in the capture of the ringleaders of the band of robbers who have committed so many depredations in our midst, and in bringing to light so many evidences of the extent and enormity of their guilt. Enough has already been discovered against Nixon, Ellerby and their confreres to connect them with nearly every instance of house-breaking and theft that has occurred in the community for many months past, including the breaking into and robbing of Mr. T. H. Smith's store, nearly two years ago, and for being concerned in which David Davis, the colored baker, who had previously sustained a good character, is now serving out a term of ten years in the penitentiary. Evidences accumulate to show that Ellerby and his associates belong to a regularly organized band of robbers, who have for years past been carrying on their depredations in Wilmington. Among the documents captured by Officer Carr, alluded to in our last, are papers containing oaths, rules and regulations, degrees, signs, passwords, and fragmentary portions of by-laws, &c., of an order known as "The Moonlight Club Society," some specimens of which we give here for the delectation of our readers. The following is what is termed "The Iron-Clad, Tin-Roof Oath": "Hold aloft your right hand ! Repeat the following oath after me, inserting your name after the pronoun I. Now, then: 'I -, of my own free will and accord, feeling happy in so doing, do promise and swear by the five men which I hold in my left hand, and the five rounds suspended thereon, that I will never divulge the secrets which I have learned in this initiation; that I will give those outside of the order to understand that our ways are ways of pleasantness, and that our paths are paths of peace and superlative unctionness; that I will assist in giving to others what has been given to me; that I will always be good to widows, and buy corn-balls and candy for orphans; that I will defend fivemenship against all comers, and do my best to prove it to be more ancient than free masonry, and not half so rough or expensive; that I will pay liberally and say but little; that I will take all the degrees if I feel like it and pay cash for the same, binding myself under no less an obligation than to have my fires go out, and my pot cease boiling; my pockets to run dry, and my wife to run away, and I to be turned out of the order with the mark of a Cane on my brow.'

The following is described as one of the degrees of the order. After the candidate is blindfolded, those charged with the initiation are instructed as follows:

"You must promas to not git mad in time of initiation. At the word go for him, you must cling to him at once and down with him. While one clings the other must trip him. At the words, How is he? you must reply, All right! and at the word, Stand up, graspe him up at once and shove him about as though he is drunk, and ask, What is the matter with you, friend; can't you behave?
You will be placed into good hands to rectly. If you be bad you can confest me at what. So now it 'tis you give up your faltes. After he is through this, then I will ask again, Is he all right yet? You will reply, saying, Before I will give him up I kill him at once, and then I will reply, Don't kill him; give him to me, I can save him at once. Is he fit to eat? Yes, he is fit to eat if you will skin him alive. Sharpen your sword, get him by the nap and go for him." * * " "and reply. Whom do you want to see? Dew you want to see Red Jack of the North? And if he say he wants to see Red Jack of the North, you must reply and say he sick. If you want to see him I will call him. 'Red Jack, Red Jack, oh, Red Jack!" He will come in mask with red paddle with five holes bore in it. Shuck you must now at once; he will reply, five strikes you must bear in mind; these five strikes keep in membrance of your oath. * * membrance of your oath. * And if he don't want paddling you must send him to bed. Go to bed you sleepy head befor Gip get you. If he get you it will be money or your life. The bed will be made up like a bed should be, but when he get in the bed it must give away and let him fall three feets or four feets beneath the bed. And then he shall be taken out of the pit, then placed in a room to enjoy hisself drinking. This is the first de-

What is termed as "The Grand Hailing

Sign" is as follows: "I will now give you the grand hailing sign and the word. The hailing sign is given thus: You must stand erect and hold your arms behind you. This, of course, will not attract the attention of anybody but an Odd Fellow. If one is near, and not near-sighted, he will at once approach you, and ask, 'What is up, friend?' You will reply, The mouth of the bag. He will then ask, What does that bag contain? You will reply, A cat. All of which will signify that the secrets of the order are still secure. He will then extend his left hand and you will do the same, grasping in the ordinary way. He will ask, What is this? You will reply, A shake. He asks again, What kind of a shake? and you reply, Three sixes. You will then be sure of each other, and can venture to borrow or lend money."

There were various other documents found with these, together with numerous drawings, cabalistic signs, &c., to which we have not time nor space to refer more particularly. They are, however, pretty much after the same style as those given.

A New Way to Catch Fish. A correspondent at Little Sugar Loaf, Bladen county, informs us of a somewhat remarkable feat performed by a colored individual by the name of Page Roberson, at that place recently. He was standing on a raft, when he saw a large sturgeon swimming by, upon which, being a quick and muscular darkey, he reached out his hand, nabbed the sturgeon by the tail, and drew him upon the raft. The fish was afterwards weighed and turned the scales (not his own) at 365 pounds. This may have been a "scaley trick" on the part of the darkey, but the story may be relied upon as not being "fishy."

Death of an Old Citizen. It is with sincere regret that we are called upon to announce the death, at his residence in this city, yesterday morning, of Mr. John D. Of a kind, amiable and remarkably social disposition, coupled with all the most estimable characteristics of a Christian gentleman, he has passed from us sincerely regretted by all who were so fortunate as to enjoy his acquaintance. My cow, being very gentle and in good order, returned home to-night with a new mark cut in both ears, evidently preparing the way for beef when the new mark heals. In self-defence some method of branding will have to be resorted to. Look out for your fat cows." If there is any possible way of meeting such cases we hope the proper measures will be taken. An amusing instance of the vitiated taste of a youthful bovine came to light a day or two ago, when the calf first aforesaid, with force and arms, and without the fear of the dread consequences, while mysteriously prowling around the back window of the office of one of our prominent lawyers, did wilfully and maliciously take and eat of a certain elaborate law argument, the property of the said lawyer, contrary to the custom of all good calves, and against the peace and dignity of the State, whereupon it was said that the said argument was bound in calf, and the case was thereupon dismissed sine die.

NO FEMININE ATTRACTION is so seductive as a lovely complexion such as is imparted by Gou-raud's Olympian Cream. Price in large bottles re-duced to One Dollar. For sale by J. C. Munds.

A GREAT UPRISING OCCURRED YESTER-day in the kitchen of a friend. The cook used Km. Loge's Baking Powder for the first time; and it nearly raised the roof off the oven.

Yeast has now gone out of date, be it known to all busy maids and matrons. DOOLEY'S BAKING OF YEAST POWDER is the master of the field. Corn bread, buckwheat cakes, muffins, waffles, biscuits, tea-rolls, bread, cake, dough-nuts, pot pies, fruit dumplings, etc., get their highest touch of art and delicacy from its use. All nervous, exhausting and painful diseases speedily yield to the curative influences of Pulvermacher's Electric Belts and Bands. They are safe, simple, and effective, and can be easily applied by the patient himself. Book, with full particulars, mailed free, Address Pulvermacher Galvanic Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.

There is no case of Dyspepsia that GREEN'S AU GUST FLOWER will not cure. Go to any Drug Store and inquire about it. If you suffer from Costiveness, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, or any derangement of the Sto-mach or Liver try it. Two or three doses will re-ieve you. Regular size 75 cts.

THE DUTY OF WOMAN.—To be attractive is a duty which every lady owes to herself, to her domestic circle, and to society. Not only should she endeavor to please in address and in apparel, but, whenever possible, in complexion and in feature as well. Facial embellishment is to a lady as proper, and oftentimes as necessary, as are the adornments of her raiment, the artificial graces of her conversation, of her demeanor, or other meretricious attractions upon which depend so much of her dominion and influence over man. The woman who permits herself to become unlovely, who resigns herself hopelessly to the ravages of time, and the spollation of her charms, visits upon her friends and admirers a sorrowful regret, that it becomes her to avert to the latest day. Of this social duty it may truthfully be said that she can best acquit herself by the use of Gouraud's Olympian Cream. No other preparation approaches this in excellence, in harmlessness and purity, or compares with it in the number of spontaneous testimonials that its virtues have elicited. Its advertisement has hitherto been its merit, its recemmendation by all that have used it, and not by sounding and pretentions advertising in the journals of the day. Trial bottles 25 cents. For sale by J. C. Munds. THE DUTY OF WOMAN .- To be attractive is
