Affecting Incident. [Raleigh Observer.]

Quite an affecting little scene was witnessed at the Penttentiary vesterday morning. Benbury Floyd, of Chowan county, aged about sixty years, was convicted of a trivial larceny in 1873, and sentenced to four years' imprisonment. He had been a good soldier and lost a leg in the Confederate service, and was said by his neighbors to have been a kind play of legal ability and learning, both on arted and obliging man. He had the part of prosecution and defence. no wife, chick or child in the world except a little blind daughter, about 15 years old, who was in the Blind Asylum. Last week Superintendent Gudger came to Gov. The scene between father and daughter is said to have been melting in the extreme. She could not see the felon's stripes and the haggard prison look, and he, poor man, could look with pride and fondness upon the fair but sightless face of his child; something pure and innocent still loved him. Throwing themselves into each others' arms they wept uncontrolably. After a little, hand in hand they went away, amid the hearty sympathies of all who saw them, the erring and the helpless. May love for his child make him a better man, and the innocence of the daughter atone for a father's

On Tuesday morning last a colored individual applied to Capt. R. P. The officer put him in irons and placed two white men to guard him. About 11 o'clock that night he asked one of the men to give him a drink of water, and as he turned to do so the prisoner grasped the gun, wrested it from the hands of the guard and knocked him down with the butt end of it.
