Arrangements for President Hayes Reception. [By Telegraph to the Herald.]

RICHMOND, June 19, 1877. In the regular proceedings of the City Council to-day a preamble and resolutions were adopted expressing gratification at the contemplated visit of President Hayes to Richment of a committee, consisting of the Mayor, the Presidents of the Board of Aldermen and Common Council, together with four members from the Board of Public Interests. to make the necessary arrangements for the reception and entertainment of the distinguished visitors, and that a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to His Excellency. It is understood that the President, in company with Secretary Thompson, who is a native of Culpeper county, in this State, and a graduate of the University of Virginia, will visit Fortress Monroe, Norfolk and Richmond sometime during the month of July-probably about the time the Southern Postal Convention meets at Old Point.

The President will then go to the White Sulphur Springs, where he has engaged a cottage, and will remain for several weeks.

The Crisis in France.

VERSAILLES, June 21. The Chamber of Deputies, by a vote of 354 against 160, rejected the ministerial demand for an immediate discussion of the direct contributions bill. The Senate is to-day discussing the committee's report on the question of dissolution. Victor Hugo is making a great speech against dissolution. The Left is applauding the speech and the Right interrupting. In the Chamber of Deputies M. Leon Renault made a speech, in which he denied having promised to bring back a King to Paris for a million francs.

A Bloody Fight.

MEMPHIS, June 21. A special from Vancebury, Ky., says that a fight occurred Monday between a gang of outlaws under the natorious George Underwood, and a vigilance committee, on Laurel Creek, in Kinnicanic Mountains. The fight lasted sometime, and nine men are reported killed. The outlaws had stolen a number of horses.

Frederick Douglass in Maryland. [Baltimore Sun, 19th.]

Frederick Douglass, United States Marshal of the District of Columbia, many years ago a slave on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, visited his old master at St. Michael's, Talbot county, on Sunday last, with a large party of colored excursionists.

The boat arrived at an early hour in the morning, and as soon as convenient Douglass called at Captain Auld's residence, where he was received by Judge William H. Bruff, Captain Auld's son-in law, who addressed him as "Marshal Douglass." "No, no," expostulated the Marshal, am Marshall Douglass in Washington; here let me be Fred. Donglass again."

"I come, first of all," he said, "to see my old master, from whom I from each body and three members have been separated for forty-one years; to shake his hand, to look into his kind old face, and see it beaming with light from the other world. have had great joy in shaking that hand, in looking into that face, stricken with age and disease, but aglow with the light that comes from an honest heart, and reflecting the glory from the spirit-world, upon whose border he is, and where we shall soon again meet. Forty-one years ago I left him. I left him, not because I love Casar less, but because I love Rome more." Mr. Douglass stated that in his book written soon after his escape he had made some statements that lapse of time and reflection had caused him to feel he had better have left unsaid, and for aught that he said that was unjust to his old master, or had wounded his feelings, he begged his forgiveness. Captain Auld told him that he had never expected to keep him in slavery; that he knew fortyone years ago he was too smart to be the 12th inst. Deceased was one of the a slave, and that when he sent him to Baltimore, after his difficulty at Freeland's, instead of selling him South, it was with the expectation that he would achieve his freedom. Douglass called upon Captain Auld again in the afternoon, just before starting to the boat, to bid him good-bye, and when they parted both men wept.

A great many young men have already secured tubs to fit, painted and dressed them off appropriately, and have tried not only their skill in propelling their crafts, but their ability to keep "right side up with care."

- Favetteville Gazette : Our Moore correspondent informs us that in that section wheat is very good, except that in some places the heads are blasted. Oats are backward, owing to the past dry wea-ther. The stand of corn is bad, owing to the dry and cool weather, and the worms have been destroying the plant. Apples are abundant—peaches scattering.

The workshop adjoining the blacksmith shop on Old street took fire Wednesday afternoon, the 13th, about 31 o'clock, and before it was discovered the whole building was in a bright blaze.

When Aurora rose and donned her radiant garment at the dawn, no proud chanticleer was there to hump himself and sound shrill defiance to all the cocks of lesser note in that vicinage; no matronly hen led forth her brood of callow chicks to seek the foolish early worm; no trim pullet aired her graces in the garden, and plucked the devoted catterpillar from the dew-bespangled cabbage. Not much: gone, alas! to pot were they, and already did they steam in rich gravy on the ruddy fire of the lucky 15th Amendment."

- Raleigh News: Five car loads of iron passed through here yesterday for the Raleigh & Augusta Air-Line Railroad. - There is a good deal of sickness in the city. Dysentery and diarrhoea are the prevailing complaints. — The price of whiskey is increasing so rapidly that only the rich and proud can afford to have any bread in the house. - Wednesday afplace about three miles north of the city. -- The sale of the "late lamented" Harrison's effects at the Court House door, yesterday morning, drew together a large crowd, and the bidding was spirited, showing the high esteem in which the "benevolent" gentleman was held. Most everbody only one got "stuck" in his bargain.

- A gentleman of our acquaintance, who has a bald head, upon which ternoon quite a severe hail storm took the frisky mosquito invariably makes it a point to alight when in one of its vengeful moods, and who is also an orphan, away from home and friendless like, is talking seriously of getting the ladies to hold a festival to raise a fund with which to purchase him a wig. We know they will do it.

Drinking for a Wager. A colored individual by the name of Primus Moore, who has a reputation for excessive indulgence, at times, in the flery liquid that heats the brain and stupefies the senses, tried his skill yesterday afternoon, in the neighborhood of Second and Market streets, in drinking for a wager, being under the impression that he could swallow as much of the "ardent" without becoming intoxicated as "any other man." Inspired with this determination to excel, he took one drink after another until he had hidden twenty-two under his vest, when he concluded to retire in good order while he was possessed of the ability to do so. He then started up Market street and got as far as Fourth, when, just at the corner, the legs refused a further performance of their accustomed functions, and the body, thus deprived of its support, came down with a "thud" upon the pavement. There he took his share of the fine shower of rain that fell between 1 and 2 o'clock, and was then taken to the guard house on a dray, the drunkest man seen in many a day. In fact, it was at first thought that he was dead. The city physician was sent for, who found him almost pulseless, and in a decidedly dangerous condition, but by the prompt application of the proper remedies the pulse finally became more regular and healthy, but at last accounts his condition was still considered somewhat precarious, his breathing resembling that of a person in the agonies of dissolution.

An Affectionate Husband! Yesterday afternoon, about 1 or o'clock, a colored woman was walking in the neighborhood of Front and Chesnut streets when she was observed to suddenly reel and fall upon the pavement. It was the general impression that she had been overcome by the heat, but upon being taken to the station house, and examined by the city physician, it was found that she had received a severe cut on the head, which she subsequently declared was caused by her husband, who, in a moment of anger, had stricken her over the head with a cooking utensil known as a spider. After awhile the woman, who gave her name as Kitty King, and said she resided on Surry street, in the neighborhood of the gas works, was able to resume her feet and start for home.

Deserted Wife In Search of Her Husband-A Pitiable Instance of Priendlessness and Destitution. One of the most pitiable objects we have met with in some time we encountered at the station house yesterday morning. This was in the shape of a young white woman, or girl, who was found wandering about the streets early that morning, and carried to the City Hall until some other disposirently not more than fifteen or sixteen years of age, but says she is going in her twenty one; is bare-footed, scantily clothed. hair in tangled meshes, and hanging loosely about the head, partially enveloping a face that would doubtless appear both youthful and attractive if properly renovated and submitted to the manipulations - Stationary or lower pressure, of a fashionable hair dresser. Though a petite creature, to all appearances scarcely large enough or of sufficient age to leave off short dresses, she is accompanied by a baby, and says that she has been married about three years. She tells a pitiful story. According to her representation her home is at Core Creek Station, Craven county, some ten or twelve miles from Newbern. Her father, she says, was a stockholder in the Atlantic & North Carolina Railroad, but he is dead and she now has a stepfather. She was married in South Cordon, who has been living about ten miles from Raleigh, where he deserted her and the baby about Christmas, since which time she has heard from him but once. She has been searching for him, and made her way down to some station on the railroad where she branched off and travelled through the country, finally getting on a steamboat on the Cape Fear River and coming to this city. She is entirely destitute, and will, we understand, be furnished transportation to Goldsboro by the county, where she will try to get passage to her old home near Newbern.

The Proposed Canal. The following communication from Mr. Nutt speaks for itself. It is to be hoped that our men of means will respond promptly in aid of this important enterprise, which promises so many advantages to the commercial interests of our port. The time has come when some decisive action must be taken if we would secure for Wilmington the benefits which are likely to accrue from the early completion of the proposed canal. Be ready, when the committee call upon you, to give a favorable response, for if you say anything about "hard times" they will tell you that the canal is just the thing to remedy the evil:

Poisoned by Eating Matches,

As a caution to parents, we would mention the fact that a little colored child in Brunswick county, a few days ago, was playing on the floor with a box of parlor matches, some of which it managed to extract from the box, placing them in its mouth and gnawing off the heads, which it swallowed. The child was soon afterwards seized with convulsions, which ended in its death the next evening. The father, whose name is Littleton, was in the city when the misfortune occurred.

nic and painful diseases cured without medicine. Electric Belts and other appliances, all about them, and how to distinguish the genuine from the spurious. Book, with full particulars, mailed free. Address Pulyermacher Galvanio Co., 292 Vine St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE.—No people in the world suffer as much with Dyspepsia as Americans. Although years of experience in medicine had failed to accomplish a certain and sure remedy for this disease and its effects, such as Sour-Stomach, Heartburn, Water-brash, Sick Headache, Costiveness, Liver Complaint, yet since the introduction of GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER we believe there is no case of Dyspepsia that cannot be immediately re-lieved. Two doses will relieve you. Regular size 75 cents.

GOURAUD'S OLYMPIAN CREAM .- This standard preparation has from the time of its general introduction received the unqualified commendation of the beauty and fashion of the land. Its intrinsic of the beauty and fashion of the land. Its intrinsic excellence and peculiar adaptation to the toilet has secured it an instant preference over every article with which it has competed, a preeminence due to no extravagant laudation of its merits. No lady has ever given it a trial without becoming its lasting patron, or has failed to confirm every virtue the proprietors claim in its behalf. To the sallow, tattered, red or pimply complexion, it renders a delicacy and charm the very counterpart of nature, and, unlike other preparations, contains no suggestion of artificial appliance. Reduced in price to one dollar, this really excellent article will command a wider and more extended patronage than that hitherto accorded it; but that none may forego a trial of a preparation that needs but to be used to be recommended, it is moreover temporarily effered in trial bottles at $5 cents. Warranted to contain no lead, zinc, bismuth or chalk. For sale by J. C. Munds.

DR. SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEA WEED TONIC, and MANDRAKE PILLS,-These medicines have undoubtedly performed more cures of Consumption than any other remedy known to the American public. They are compounded of vegetable ingredients, and contain nothing which can be injurious to the human constitution. Other remedies advertised as cures for Consumption, probably contain opium, which is a somewhat dangerous drug in all cases, and if taken freely by consumptive patients it must do great injury; for its tendency is to confine the morbid matter in the system, which, of course, must make a cure impossible. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is warranted to contain not a particle of opium: it is composed of powerful but harmless herbs, which act on the lungs, liver, stomach and blood, and thus correct all morbid secretions, and expel all the diseased matter from the body. They are the only means by which Consumption can be cured, and as Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Sea Weed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills are the only medicines which operate in this way, it is obvious they are the only genuine cure for Pulmonary Consumption. Each bottle of this invaluable medicine is accompanied by full directions. Dr. Schenck is professionally at his principal office, corner Sixth and Arch Streets, Philadelphia, every Monday where all letters for advice must be addressed.
