From the Federal Capital. Special to the Richmond Dispatch.] THE PRESIDENT'S CIVIL SERVICE OR

WASHINGTON, June 25. Until the President's order prohibiting office-holders from maintaining active connection with political committees-national, State, or local-and prohibiting assessments for political purposes, was actually issued, the army of office-holders in Washington quite freely declared that the report that the Cabinet had agreed to such a ridiculous order had been manufactured by "them damn literary fellers," the correspondents. Its publication to-day has thrown them into a flutter, and woful predictions are made in regard to its effect upon the fall elections. They

REPUBLICAN ORGANIZATION CANNOT BE MAINTAINED in the South nor in any part of the

"border States," such as Maryland, Virginia or Missouri, unless Federal office-holders are allowed to manage the caucusses and conventions, because in that part of the country the office-holders are the brains of the party, and through them the negro vote must be directed, else the party will "go to the bad."

GRANT AND HIS LATE POLITICAL OR-GANIZATIONS.

In this city the officers and Department clerks are organized into State associations, which were recognized by President Grant as eminently proper and patriotic. Every winter they held public receptions for the purpose of raising funds, and President Grant, besides other high dignitaries, attended these associations and made it their special work to force all government employes to pay assessments, and go home to vote at important elections, under penalty of being ousted from office,

Among them are laudatory epistles from Judge Dick, Keogh, Robert Douglass, Judge Settle and other North Carolina Republicans, who don't think so much of him now. The letter of Judge Settle is indorsed by Blaine, Hale, Frye and other eminent statesmen, and letters from Jefferson Davis and Alexander Stephens, written during the war, are found among Hester's certificates of character. Hester has recently become an active member of the Young Men's Christian Association, but is so badly injured at Charlotte nine months not a saint, and his late North Carolina eulogists are trying to break the force of his testimony in the exposure of their doings in Western North Carolina.

Wilmington-Rickory.

It seems from the way our Wil mington cotemporaries have been noticing the enterprise that considerable interest is being manifested in that city relative to building the short line of railroad from Lincolnton to this place -connecting with the Carolina Central. There is no enterprise in the West that would prove to be more remunerative to the business men of that city than this. The superior commercial advantages are patent to lized.

Thermometer Record. The following will show the state of the thermometer, at the stations mentioned, a 4.35 yesterday evening, Washington mean time, as ascertained from the daily bulleting issued from the Signal Office in this city:

Norfolk.... Punta Rassa,... Savanuah,..... St. Marks Wilmington

Yesterday morning, about 2 o'clock, for the first time in several weeks, the alarm bells sounded for fire. It was some time before persons in the vicinity of the Market House could ascertain the location of the conflagration, and the alarm was sounded for two or three different districts before the right one was hit upon, and it was ascertained to a certainty that the fire was in the first district, over in Brooklyn. It Taylor street, next to Fifth, and spread with considerable rapidity, destroying five houses on Taylor and Fifth streets, four of them the property of Mr. J. W. Robbins, and the fifth belonging to a Mrs. Maggie Macumber, a widow lady. One of Mr. Robbins' buildings was quite a large one, of two storys, and partly used as a store, the stock of goods, which belonged to Mr. Robbins, not being insured. Mr. R. estimates his loss at upwards of $3,000. upon which there was an insurance of $1,800, as follows: Orient, of Hartford, $700, and Howard, of New York, $400. Norwood Giles, agent; and $700 in the Virginia Home, of Richmond, Messrs. Atkinson & Manning, agents. The loss is a severe one upon Mr. Robbins, as his insurance will not, as he assures us, begin to replace the buildings, to say nothing of the loss of furniture, breakage, &c. We learn that Mrs. Macumber's building was insured in the Wilmington Mutual, but for what amount we have not ascertained.

The fire department was on hand promptly as possible, under the circumstances, but the flames had attained too much headway to render their services available in saving any of the property de stroyed.

Grave suspicions are entertained that the fire was the work of an incendiary.

Decision of the Supreme Court in Case of James Heaton.

The Supreme Court has affirmed the de cision of the court below in the case of Jas. Heaton, indicted for misdemeanor at the be remembered that defendant's counsel contended that because certain members of the Grand Jury that found the bill against Mr. Heaton had not paid their taxes it rendered all bills returned by said jury null and void. The jury was purged of the non-paying members and there still remained twelve, which His Honor, Judge Meares, ruled was sufficient to make the indictment binding and of full effect. On this point the case was carried to the Supreme Court, and the ruling of Judge Meares has been declared the true one. This decision will cover all the other cases of a similar character.

There was a fine of $50 and costs against Mr. Heaton, the case being one of those known as the "Inspectors' cases," which fine and costs will now have to be paid. There are quite a number of other cases of the same nature standing against him which will probably be decided at the next term of the Court.

Yesterday afternoon, between 4 and 1 o'clock, while one of the street cars was passing on Fourth street, between Dock and Orange, on a downward grade, the car became unmanageable in consequence of some deficiency in the brake, and was suddenly precipitated against the horse with such force that he was knocked from his feet and thrown bodily across the track, while at the same time the momentum of the car was such that the two front wheels run upon the animal before it was stopped. J. C. Hill, who was the only passenger on the car at the time, jumped out, and by exerting his entire strength was enabled to shove the car back and thus release the horse, which, after a few minutes' rest, was able to rise and proceed, after the car had been replaced upon the track, from which it had been thrown by the shock. I have therefore to warn the trade against purchasing from the said "Madame Gouraud" any of said preparations, or from dealing in the same during the continuance of the said injunction.
