Hunting Up Evidence Against Brigham Young.

Hon. Sumner Howard, District Attorney of Utah, informed a reporter last evening that the object of his visit to this city was to hunt up a certain witness for the purpose of producing him before the grand jury of Utah, now in session investigating Mormon affairs of that territory.

Good Farming.

Mr. Joseph L. Rhein, on his farm near this city, planted, in February last, 20 acres in English or garden peas, which he commenced picking on the 30th of April, and finished the middle of May. He sold from the 20 acres over 1,500 bushels peas in the Baltimore and New York markets at a net profit, after paying cost of picking, boxes, express, etc., of $1,400, or about $70 per acre.

North Carolina Still Ahead.

A business letter from a large fruit dealer of New York, yesterday, to a fruit shipper of this city, says: "As per enclosed returns you will see that your crates of peaches sold for $3.50 each, while my enclosed circular places the market at $1.75. This will be readily understood when I assure you that the North Carolina fruit brings much larger prices than any other shipped to this city."

Dismissal of an Indian Bureau Clerk. WASHINGTON, July 15. L. S. The Outlook in France.

LONDON, July 15. Reuter's Paris correspondent telegraphs as follows: The Bonapartist committee met yesterday to receive the report of the results of M. Rouher's visit to Chislehurst and a subsequent interview with M. Poirou, Minister of the Interior. It is stated that the Bonapartists claim government support for 250 candidates, whereas 100 have been accepted and 35 taken under consideration.

Catholic Action at Montreal.

MONTREAL, July 15. At a meeting of presidents and officers of Irish Catholic societies of this city to-night the following is one of the series of resolutions passed: "That we make an earnest appeal to our co-nationalists and co-religionists with whom the solemnities of the burial of the dead is ever a matter of religious respect, to abstain on the occasion of the funeral of the deceased T. J. Hackett to-morrow from display or demonstration that could be interpreted into opposition to the sacred rite; that we shall hold up to public execration the man or men so regardless of national honor as to imperil the national character by an unseemly act or word at such time and amid such surroundings."

Contending for the Long Range Championship.

NEW YORK, July 16. To-morrow the first of four competitions for places on the team to represent America in the international long range match for the Centennial trophy, will take place at Creedmoor. The match will practically be the contest for the championship between Great Britain and this country, as no other country has accepted the challenge of the National Association this year. It is probable that the person of the American Team will differ somewhat from that which contested for the prize last year.

Mysterious Disappearance of Some of the Louisiana Rotarians.

NEW ORLEANS, July 16. It is now ascertained that the returns of Verrier Parish, upon which the indictments of the Returning Board are based, are missing. An examination of the office of the Secretary of State shows them to be gone, and it is said they are in the possession of David Dudley Field, in New York. A prominent State official said: "My information is that they were stolen from the records of the Congressional Investigating Committee, and that Mr. Field has kept a close watch over them since. It is impossible to secure an indictment tity everywhere. There is a darkey in Franklin as black as ink, who is praying the Lord to give him a white skin as a special favor.

Winston correspondent of the Raleigh Observer: Last night about 11 o'clock, the large tobacco manufactory of Messrs. P. H. Hanes & Co. was discovered to be on fire, and before any material assistance could be rendered, the place was one sheet of flame. Two fire engines from Salem were early on hand, but could do nothing beyond saving several small wood buildings near by. The supply of water is totally inadequate for engine work.

The Charlotte Observer says an agent of the Catholic Colonization Society, of Philadelphia, has purchased 30,000 acres in Transylvania and Henderson counties in North Carolina. He has made arrangements for the removal of these large numbers of families of people, who expect to come to them about the first of September, settle on them, and there make their homes. These families are from eight different States of the Union, including Maine in the East and Wisconsin in the Northwest, and locating here they will turn their attention to farming, stock-raising, &c. They are practical, industrious men and women.

Charlotte Observer: Passengers by yesterday's train report that a man named Gates was killed at Durham Friday. His horse ran away, dragging him a half mile, and mauling his body frightfully. He was drunk. The news reached us yesterday evening of a great vein struck at the McGinn mine on the gold end of the property, at 9 o'clock Friday night. The vein is about 100 feet wide, and the ore is of the vein is over twenty feet. Mr. W. C. Mann, a lumber dealer from the North, has made contracts with the A. T. & O. and W. N. C. Railroads for the shipment of the ore to the coast.

Raleigh Observer: The Universal Life Insurance Company has "busted," and several Raleighites wear long faces. In an interview with a highly intelligent farmer from Franklin county, yesterday, who travelled to this city via the dirt road, we were pained to hear so much discouraging news of the cotton crop prospect. With one exception (the Messrs. Taylor, near this city), he says there is not a farm between Raleigh and his place that can possibly yield a half crop, and many of them will do well to realize a fourth. He says he never saw the prospect more gloomy and discouraging. He also represents the corn as backward and very grassy.

Burke Blade: The season for gathering and drying blackberries is now upon us, and few people know what a big thing it could be made. As it is, last year North Carolina sent North not less than half a million dollars worth of these dried berries. It looks like this year we can aggregate—but this world is made up of small things, and the Southern people have always affected to despise small things—and that is where they are weak.

We see in the Clerk's office a copy of the Journal, published at his place, March 6th, 1878. It is strange reading to us now—a day. A darkey cut down on a vein, a few days ago, and threw out one of the handsomest specimens of quartz we have ever seen. It weighs one and a fourth pounds and seems to be about one-eighth pure gold. Mrs. Jackson (Stonewall) with her little daughter, is here on a visit to her sister and friends.

Colored Military. At a meeting of the Hanover Light Infantry, G. L. Mabson's company, the following non-commissioned officers were elected: Jesse Martin, Orderly Sergeant; Frank Isler, 2nd do.; Henry Walker, 3rd do.; David Collins, 4th do.; Gilbert W. Wingate, 5th do.; John H. Sampson, First Corporal; John H. Dry, 2nd do.; David Rice, 3rd do.; Lewis B. Bryant, 4th do.; Chas. H. Miller, 5th do.; Zerah Freeman, Bugler.

A Narrow Escape. Yesterday afternoon, between 12 and 1 o'clock, the roof of the house on the corner of Ninth street and Macomber's alley, owned and occupied by Mr. W. S. Warlock, foreman of the job department of the Swan office, was discovered to be on fire by a gentleman residing next door, the family at the time being absent. Leaders, which are always kept on the premises, were quickly brought into requisition and the flames extinguished before much damage was done. But for prompt action the building would no doubt have been destroyed, and with it, in all probability, the entire block. The roof caught from a spark. There was no general alarm.

Arrival and Reception of the Charlotte Grays.

The Charlotte Grays, under command of Capt. W. L. Hand, arrived here on the Carolina Central Railway yesterday morning. The Wilmington Light Infantry, the Cape Fear Light Artillery and the Whiting Rifles met at the armory of the former company, and at about half past 5 o'clock, headed by the Cornet Concert Club, marched to the depot to receive the visiting company. Upon their arrival a brief but appropriate address of welcome, on behalf of the Wilmington military, was delivered by Mr. F. H. Dabry, of the Light Infantry, which was heartily responded to by Rev. R. H. Griffith, Chaplain of the Charlotte Grays, their arrival also being greeted by a salute of three guns by the Cape Fear Light Artillery. The companies then formed into line, and the Grays were escorted to the armory of the Wilmington Light Infantry, and thence to the Manning House, where a collation had been prepared, to which all hands proceeded to pay their respects.

The Grays are quite a fine looking body of men. This Company played a conspicuous part in the late struggle for Southern independence, having served in the 1st N. C. Battalion under Gen. D. H. Hill, going into the fight at Bethel at the commencement of the war and surrendering with the veterans, under Gen. Lee, at Appomattox. The company was reorganized on the 22nd of last February, their uniform consisting of gray, trimmed with light blue and silver lace. The full membership of the company comprises forty-seven men, of which thirty-eight are present. They are officered as follows: Captain, W. L. Hand; 1st Lieutenant, C. W. Alexander; 2nd Lieutenant, W. B. Taylor; 3rd Lieutenant, R. B. Alexander; Orderly Sergeant, H. D. Duckworth; 2d do., T. J. Black; 4th do., H. H. Hill; 5th do., W. S. Alexander; Corporals, G. W. Pennington, Lindsey Davis, H. M. Ramsour, S. J. Thompson.

The names of the privates are as follows: W. H. A. Brown, J. W. Cobb, J. J. Comick, J. L. Davis, J. T. Fennington, J. G. Freeland, M. A. Fletcher, E. T. Henderson, J. W. Hubbard, H. G. McWhirter, J. R. McCright, James Moran, E. W. Moorhead, J. A. Newell, W. H. Ryles, R. J. Sifford, G. A. Worlick, E. F. Young, S. D. Whitley, J. Walker Kilpatrick, A. A. Hand, J. P. Long, L. E. Long, W. H. Cheek.

The company spent the day in looking about the city. This morning they embarked on the steamer Waccamaw, with the Whiting Rifles, for an excursion down the river, and to-morrow morning they will take up the line of march to Wrightsville Sound, where they will spend a few days in enjoying the ocean breezes, &c.

The Grays are accompanied by eighteen citizens of Charlotte, who embraced the present opportunity to pay a visit to our "city by the sea."

Excitement Over a Lost Child—Its Final Recovery.

There was quite an excitement in the vicinity of the corner of Eighth and Dock streets, yesterday afternoon, caused by the sudden and mysterious disappearance of a little daughter of Mr. William Petteway, aged about 3 years and 6 months. The family reside on the corner of Eighth and Dock, and a few minutes before the disappearance of the child her mother, who was sitting at a window opening upon the former street, noticed the little girl playing upon the grass, and heard her remark that she was going to her grandmother's. A minute or two afterwards she was heard to enter the front gate, and nothing more was thought of the matter, especially as the child had never been in the habit of leaving home except in charge of a servant or some member of the family. Ten minutes afterwards she was missed; a thorough search was made about the premises and in the neighborhood and no trace of her could be discovered. It was found that she had not been to the house of her grandmother, and parties who went in various directions in search of the little one, returned and reported that she had not been discovered. Word was sent to the City Hall, and Chief of Police Brock sent two or three policemen to join in the search. In the meantime the family were in the greatest distress imaginable, thinking that perhaps the child had fallen into a well, or sink, or something of the sort. Finally, after about one hour and a half had elapsed from the time that the little girl had disappeared, she was discovered at the corner of Second and Ann streets, making her way in the direction of the wharf, and the hearts of her parents and friends were soon after rejoiced by a sight of their lost darling. The child is a very interesting little girl, and her disappearance occasioned general anxiety in the neighborhood.

The Bread and Water Treatment.

There was not a solitary bread and water candidate for the Mayor to exercise his treatment upon yesterday morning. In fact, the cells are now pretty well filled up. By the way, one of the Mayor's "patients" remarked a day or two ago, that she would rather work on the streets six months than be confined in one of the cells for as many days. One of the prisoners refused the "prescription" for two days, but after that she concluded to make the most of it.

Got a "Duckling."

Wm. Marsteller and four other colored men were crossing the river from Eagle's Island, yesterday morning, in a small boat, when the frail craft capsized and the five men were precipitated into the river. They were rescued without further delay than a good wetting.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Proceedings in Adjourned Session. The Board met yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, pursuant to adjournment; present, Mayor Dawson, and Aldermen Myers, Bowden, VonGlash, Vollers, Foster, King, Lowrey and Hill.

Proceedings of last meeting were read and approved.

A report of Dr. A. E. Wright, Superintendent of Health, was read and ordered on file.

A communication from the Board of Health of New Hanover county was read by Alderman Flanner, as follows:

To the Honorable Mayor and Board of Aldermen of the City of Wilmington, N. C.: The Board of Health of New Hanover county are an organized body, auxiliary to the Board of Health of the State of North Carolina, and we are in constant communication with the Board of the State in all Sanitary Matters, respectively beg leave to call your attention to the possible danger of the introduction of yellow fever into this city, and measures are maintained for preventing it.

In the opinion of this Board the existence of this dire disease in our midst is impossible unless coming from abroad, and the least mortality it entails and the violent injury, if not fatal destruction, which it inflicts upon every mercantile and industrial pursuit, justify any regulations, however rigid and severe, deemed essential to its exclusion. The long immunity which we have enjoyed has caused us to be lulled into a sense of security, or at least many respects, we are more favorably located, and have a climate less adapted to the genesis of yellow fever than our sister cities, Charleston and Savannah, yet we have had epidemic outbreaks, and they have left such marks as should excite our constant vigilance wholly in the wisdom with which we provide against them.

This fever has a perennial existence in the islands of the West Indies (few being exempt) and upon the Southern American coast; it is there always endemic, subsiding into isolated local expressions of mild character during the winter months, and breaking out with renewed violence and increased area as the warm season approaches. With some of these localities our commercial relations have long been of considerable magnitude, and during the dull season are further stimulated by the sale of idle ships which assemble there for freight, at very low figures, in the various ports of the United States. They usually come hither in ballast, which consists of earth soil or sand or gravel obtained from the vicinities of cities or towns, and there is good reason to believe that it is in many instances poisoned with municipal filth coming from the drains, middens and cesspools of the corporations. We need not stop to point out the obvious dangers of this as a source of infection. In the city of Savannah the first case of yellow fever last year were traced beyond all reasonable doubt as to their origin, to these heaps of ballast which were deposited upon the wharves and shores, and the lesson should not be lost upon us. A paramount good reason exists why vessels from the West Indies should come into our ports during the heated term, though it is feared that the cheap rates of freight induce some persons to bring them hither under charter, and disregard the risk they subject us to in making their private interests paramount to the public weal. It behooves us to meet this unnecessary intercourse with a determined front, and no measures can be relied upon to reach the desired end except such as prohibit all direct communication hitherward from the West Indies and South America, during certain periods of the year.

We would advise that all vessels coming from these ports, and others known or suspected to be unhealthy, be refused admittance into this harbor, between the 15th day of June and the 15th day of October, better absolutely, but certainly unless with a certificate, under consular seal, to the effect that no case of yellow fever has occurred in the port whence the vessel was cleared, and the ninety days immediately preceding the departure of the vessel.

Disinfection of the vessel, cargo and crew should in every instance, when admitted, be thorough, and in the most efficient manner, by the use of the most improved modern methods, extending even to the destruction of effects and property when presenting the possibility of infection.

Dumping grounds upon shores or flats, in such a location as to be contrary to the judgment of the sanitary government engineers may appoint or approve, not nearer, however, than fifteen miles to the city, should be established for the deposit of all refuse or ballast, and under no circumstances should such material be landed ashore upon the streets, or upon any other public place, or from the immediate vicinity of any large city.

All bilge liquid should be discharged into sea, and the vessel, after discharge, should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected throughout. In this connection we would allude incidentally and for the purpose of condemning it, to the reprehensible practice to which wharfmen are too often prone, of pumping the bilge water into the river while the vessel is moored at the wharf. Besides being very offensive from the odor which spreads itself over a large portion of the city, it is, in our opinion, highly prejudicial to the sanitary condition, containing, as the filthy liquid doubtless does, germs capable of initiating the most pernicious forms of contagion. It would be amiss, if, in addition to the law in reference to bilge water, the sanitary government were imposed upon the shipmaster, causing the well and other portions of the hull of the vessel to be disinfected and deodorized before the bilge and other filth is pumped out or removed; in no way, however, abating the regulation in reference to the distance from the city at which the pumping or removal is to be done.

The methods for effecting this may be well defined, and should be printed in various languages, so that the harbor master or other executive officer may make them known to every ship, and leave no plea for ignorance in the matter. Should your honorable body desire information and rules as to the most effective methods of disinfection, this Board will be ready to supply them.

Some consideration also may easily be bestowed upon the rule to be adopted in cases of death aboard ship from contagious disease. To be in accord with other portions of a perfect sanitary code, no interment of a person dying from any such cause should be permitted upon shore or in the river, but should be carried out and deposited in the deep sea, being weighted sufficiently to insure its sinking to the bottom.

It is not our desire to excite any party in reference to these questions, or to draw the gravity of the interests involved in the gravest duty upon you, but to place in your honorable body's hands the means for their removal.

Very respectfully submitted. W. W. LANE, M. D., Sec'y. GEO. G. THOMAS, M. D., Sec'y.

apply to the thorough attainment of the end in view.

We, as a Board, always hold ourselves ready to give to your honorable body advice upon the various influences which operate upon the sanitary condition, whether for good or evil, and this without impugning the judgment which all possess as to the superficial aspect of such matters. But, in a strict sense, it is the province of medical men specially to investigate and inform themselves in this branch of knowledge, and they alone are competent to deal wisely with the perplexing problems which sanitary legislation involves. And we recognize fully our functions as guardians of the public health, and desire to exercise them, making it our aim to accomplish results by disseminating a knowledge of the fundamental principles of hygiene among the people, results which will prove more efficient indeed than are obtained even by the stringent laws which we advise in order to enforce the paramount claims of the public welfare against the prejudicial exercise of private rights.

Very respectfully submitted. W. W. LANE, M. D., Pres't. GEO. G. THOMAS, M. D., Sec'y.

On motion of Alderman Myers, the Sanitary Committee of the Board were instructed to put themselves in communication with the Health Officer of the city and the Board of Health of New Hanover county, immediately, and to act under their advice and instruction with regard to quarantining of vessels from the West India and South American ports.

On motion of Alderman Foster, the contract for removing night soil was given to Duncan Holmes, he being required to file a bond for $300 for the faithful performance of his duty.

A report of the Clerk and Treasurer in regard to Detectives was read. On motion of Alderman Flanner, it was resolved that the Board of Audit and Finance be requested not to audit any bill against the city until first approved by the Mayor.

The Mayor having asked instruction in regard to approving a bill of S. VanAmridge, J. P., for taking affidavits of Tax Lists, was, on motion, instructed to approve the same.

The Committee on Finance made a report and asked for authority to make several alterations, as requested in the report, which, on motion, was received and the request granted.

The Committee on Fire Department were instructed to look into the matter of false alarms.

Alderman Myers made a motion in regard to the defacing of walls and buildings by writing obscene words, &c., which was referred to the Committee on Streets and Wharves.

A report on Seventh street walk was received and action deferred. A petition of the Hook and Ladder Company was referred to the Committee on Fire Department.

A communication from the Postal Committee of Richmond, Va., asking the appointment of delegates to a Convention to be held at Old Point Comfort, was read, and the Mayor was authorized to appoint one or two delegates, as he may think proper, from the Board of Aldermen.

A communication from tax-payers doing business on Front street, in regard to having the same swept each morning by 8 o'clock, was referred to Chief of Police Brock.

A petition from retail liquor dealers, for a reduction of license tax, was read, and, on motion, the license was made $10 per month, to date from the 1st of August, '77. [The above has to be approved by the Board of Audit and Finance.]

The Board adjourned to meet at 8 o'clock this afternoon.
