Death of Brigham Young. [Special to the Charleston Journal of Com

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 27. Brigham Young died in this city at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The Leader Prophet and Ruler the Mormons was born at Whilling. han, Vermont, June 1, 1801. He was the son of a plain farmer, but him a plausible address early in life. He at first connected himself with the Baptist Church, and preached in that connection, though he was never regularly ordained. In 1831 he joined the Mormons, then at Kertland, Ohio, and under the leadership of Joseph Smith. His shrewdness and energy soon gave him influence with them, and in 1835 he was chosen one of the Twelve Apostles. Soon after this he was elected President, and was sent out to make converts. When Smith was killed Young was made leader, and it was under his guidance and leadership that in 1846 the Saints started for

Salt Lake, the Promised Land. In July, 1847, he made a settlement at the present site of Salt Lake City, and from this time forth Young became the very head and centre of Mormonism. In 1849 the colonists organized themselves into a State, and applied for admission into the Union under the title of the State of Deseret. This was refused, but the Territory of Utah was organized and Brigham was appointed Governor. He held this position from 1850 to 1854. At this time, from the very considerable immigration and their isolated position, Young felt strong enough to defy the government. In 1857, a Governor, who was not a Mormon, was appointed. His life off with ropes and pulleys. The bowas threatened, and a large body of Federal troops were sent to Utah by President Buchanan, to enforce his authority. A compromise followed, and the Mormons confined their hostilities to assassinations.

Polygamy was openly proclaimed in 1852, and the Prophet set the example to his followers by sealing himself to many wives. In 1874, Ann Eliza, his seventeenth wife, petitioned to the United States Court for a divorce, and pending the suit the Court decided that Young should pay $3,000 for counsel fees and make her an allowance of $900 a month. The revelation of the Mountain Meadows mas-sacre, of which Young was evidently ports from all quarters are most de-known that beaten often. B. F. Hester, the instigator, are still fresh in the minds of the American people. His death will not be regretted. It is only to be hoped that it is the death knell of the detestable set of which he was the leading light and Prophet.

TYRANNY IN PRANCE. Political Prosecutions Without the Benefit of Trial by Jury.

[By cable to the News and Courier.] PARIS, Aug. 29. The public prosecutor yesterday is sued a summons, which will be served on Gambetta. Witnesses will shortly be heard by a magistrate charged with the preliminary examination. Relative to Gambetta's trial, the Français asserts that the charge of inciting to hatred and contempt of the government has been abandoned, as it would have involved a trial before a jury at the assizes, when newspaper reports could not have been prevented. Of offences which are triable by a correctional tribunal, an insult to ministers is punishable with from five days' to one year's imprisonment and a fine of from twenty-five to two thousand five hundred francs; an insult to the President with one month to three years' imprisonment and a fine of from one hundred to five thousand francs; and attacks on the President's constitutional rights and authority with from three months' to five years' imprisonment and a fine of from three hundred to six thousand francs. Three other prosecutions are instituted. M. Chardon, Senator for Savoie, is charged with making a political speech, at an illegal meeting, and M.M.
