Old man William P. Mallett (not Merrick, as it was erroneously printed in our last), the well known colored drayman, who was seized with an apoplectic fit, at the New York steamers' whart, on Wednesday, mention of which was made yesterday morning, died last night at a quarter past 10 o'clock. He was within a few months of being 73 years of age.

Committed for Trial.

A colored man by the name of Edward Hall had a hearing before Justice Scott yesterday afternoon, on the charge of receiving goods under false pretences. He was ordered to give bond in the sum of annually.

Collision on the River-A Small Boat

Run Down by a Schooner. A young colored man by the name of Gooding, more familiarly known as "Crow," was crossing the river in a small boat, yesterday morning, at the same time that a tug, with the schooner Loretto Fish in tow, was making its way down the stream. He saw the tug approaching close upon him, and in his anxiety to avoid a collision with her, coupled with the confusion which the danger naturally caused, he failed to notice the schooner, which, ere he was aware of her proximity, came with her bows full upon his little craft, sinking it instantly. At the moment of the collision Goodring, with remarkable activity, sprang overboard and commenced swimming for life. The accident was noticed from the shore and two or three boats put out to his rescue, into one of which the young man was taken and landed safe on terra firma. The boat disappeared immediately after she was struck, and it became a matter of conjecture as to what had become of her, until finally, after the vessel had reached a point nearly opposite Messrs. Northrop & Cumming's mill, it emerged from its concealment under the bows of the schooner and drifted off, but was subsequently picked up by a boat from the shore.

An Karnest Pleader. An aged colored individual presented himself before the Chief of Police, yesterday morning, and earnestly plead for the release of a favorite sow belonging to him, which had been seized and placed in the city pound. In order to facilitate the granting of his application he stated that he was born in the year 1804, worked on the first railroad that connected with Wilmington, and was the first man engaged to labor on said road, besides which he had known the Chief for a long time, and his sow was notably a well-behaved one anyway, having been turned out for the first time "just to stretch he-rlegs allittle," and hence he thought that he should be allowed to regain possession of his favorite porker without being required to pay the usual re. demption fee. As to the success of the old man's pleadings we have not been informed.

Mayor's Court The first case before this Court yesterday morning was that of James Kelley, colored, who was arrested on Monday last and recognized to appear on Tuesday, to answer to the charge of disorderly conduct, but was called and failed, thereby forfelting his recognizance. He was sentenced to confinement in the guard house until the amount of the same ($50) was paid, but it subsequently transpired that he was accused of stealing a watch, and defendant was thereupon turned over to a magistrate for investigation, with the understanding that when relieved of this charge he shall be returned to the custody of the city authorities.

Lewis Waddell, colored, was next arraigned on the charge of being drunk and disorderly, and sentenced to ten days' confinement in a cell on bread and water.

Commissioners of Affidavit for North Carolina.

Col. Taylor, Clerk of the Superior Court, received notification from Maj. Engelbard, Secretary of State, yesterday, of the appointment of the following persons as Commissioners of Affidavits and Probate of Deeds for North Carolina in the States,&c., mentioned: Benj. F. Hillery, New York, residence New York city; Wm. J. Baker, Virginia, residence Norfolk; Geo. O. Newman, Ohio, residence Portsmouth; Alfred Robinson, Vermont, residence Bennington; Thos. J. Perry, Georgia, residence Rome; Britton R. Osten, Ontario, Canada, residence Hamilton.

Committed for Stealing a Watch, James Kelley, colored, mentioned in the proceedings of the Mayor's Court, was sent to jail yesterday afternoon, under a commitment for the larceny of a silver watch, the property of Mr. Deems Gilbert, in default of security in the sum of $100 for his appearance at the next term of the Criminal Court.

Bridge Carried Away.

The large bridge over the Burnt Mill Creek, on the old Newbern road, just beyoud Bellevue Cemetery, was swept away during the beavy rain on Wednesday, and carried for some distance down the stream.

Draining the Inundated District. A portion of the street force were en gaged yesterday in constructing a drain to carry off the immense amount of water that had collected during the late heavy rains on the lots and thoroughfares in the neighborhood of Ninth and Chesnut streets, alluded to in our last issue. Some of the boys were amusing themselves, yesterday morning, in paddling about the inundated district in a small boat. We are glad to know that the people in that section will be relieved of the nuisance which has been such a source of annoyance to them.

Arrested for Fighting. David, Price and Edward McFarland, more commonly known as "Pot Hooks," both colored boys, were arrested vesterday morning, about 9 o'clock, for fighting at the market house. Price gave bond in the sum of $50 for his appearance before the Mayor's Court this morning, and "Pot Hooks" was consigned to his old quarters in the guard house, from which he had but recently been released.

U. S. Commissioner's Court. Samuel Young, charged with selling spirituous liquors without the necessary license, thus violating the Internal Revenue laws, whose case was alluded to a few days ago, was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner McQuigg, yesterday morning, and, after a hearing of the evidence, the case was dismissed.
