OUTLINES.

Nine steamships sailed for Europe on the 10th, taking out 400,000 bushels of grain Archbishop Bayley is at the point of death. —Lieut. Bullis, with 100 men, has entered Mexico and struck the Indians and Mexicans at Searagossa. — The Indians have been told that they must come to the Missouri river to receive winter supplies; his alarms them, as they fear if it is done bey will not be allowed to return; they have not yet agreed, and another council will be held in Washington on Monday. German surgeous have gone to Russian headquarters. — The Turks have orders 10t to hart any Russiau Generals lest they be displaced and others substituted; the campaign is thought to be nearly ended; the London Times considers it a drawn balle. — Tweed is again under examisation. — The Nez Perces attacked selve soldiers and four citizens who were scattenched but were driven off; they alterwards burnt fifty tons of freight lying i a landing. - Two cases of yellow ferer on a barque at Boston. - New York markets: Money 4@5 per cent; gold dall at 103; cotton easier at 11 5-16@ 117-16c; flour still strongly in buyers' favor, Southern $6 00@8 75; wheat feverish, excited and unsettled; corn a shade stronger at 57@584c; spirits turpentine steady at 34c; rosin at $1 65@1 70.

The "speck of war" with Mexico seems to be growing. Our telegrams report that Mexican soil has been iuvaded by Lieut. Bullis. He has one hundred men in his command, and has attacked some Indians and Mexicans at the town of Searagossa, which it is thought has been captured. If the news is true, serious trouble may come of it, and a back down or a fight follow.

The cotton crop of 1876-7 amounts to 4,474,069 bales. The crop of 1875-6 was greater by 154,244 bales, amounting to 4,632,313 bales. Of the last crop 126,197 bales were consumed in the South. The receipts at Wilmington were 113,348 bales. New Orleans heads the list largely, the receipts being 1,199,386 bales. Total exports 3,028,136 bales, of which England received 1,994,418. The total Sea Island cotton raised was 18,352 bales The States north of Virginia consumed 1,429,005 bales. There have been but three large crops, that of 1875-6, that of 1861-2, when 4,800,000 bales were made, and that of 1859-'60, when the crop was 4,669,770 bales. The smallest crop since the war was in 1866-7, when it amounted to 1,951,988 bales. With these figures it is not hard to tell why cotton is low.

Some of the Maryland Judges have got themselves in hot water. The grand jury of Baltimore have found true bills of indictment against Judges Grason and Yellott for misbehavior in office, and also a presentment against Judge Yellott for drunkenness. The presentments upon which the indictments were framed were found by the grand jury at the May term, of which Gen. John S. Berry was foreman.

The Baltimore Aun regards the action of the grand jury as presenting a very grave spectacle before the community, and will require the most serious judicial consideration. The people everywhere demand a pure and incorruptible judiciary. They can respect no other, and will not be satisfied to place the decision of legal cases in the hands of men of doubtful characters. The people mean purity and reform, whatever politicians may say or think.

Senater Conover on the Situation. [Special to Baltimore Sun.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. Senator Conover, of Florida, has arrived in Washington. In view of the nearly equal representation of the two parties in the Senate the probable course of Senator Conover is looked upon with much interest. In conversation with your correspondent to night he said that he was for Florida first and Conover next. He was a Republican in his convictions, and he should stand by the principles of that church as he understood them, but he was not a tail to any one's kite, and he should pursue an independent course in the Senate, and would vote on all questions as they came up according to his individual ideas of what was right and proper. He said he had an interview with the President, and had as-sured him of his belief in the justice and wisdom of his Southern policy. In his opinion it was just the policy to build up an honest and reputable Republican party in the South, and in a comparatively short time the South would be more solid for Re-Publicanism than for Democracy. Senator Conover said that in the light at present before him he was in-clined to vote for the admission of ing, before finally coming to a conclusion, to hear the arguments to be advanced in favor of Kellogg and Corbin. In regard to any change in the officers of the Senate, he was willing to give his support to any movement which would be for the benefit of Florida.

Mr. Curtis Declines to Say Anything in Regard to General Grant's Late Statement.

ROCHESTER, Sept. 26. George William Curtis was questiened to-day in regard to ex-President Grant's reported statement that he had asked the General, when President, to have Mr. Sumner restored to his place as Chairman of the committee on Foreign Relations, and that General Grant replied that he never interfered in the Senate, and that he charged Mr. Sumner with not telling the truth, saying that he could prove it. While Mr. Curtis evidently felt strongly upon the subject, he said that he preferred to say nothing: Mr. Sumner is dead, and for him no explanations are possible; the interviews with General Grant were private, so that he did not feel he could speak of them.

Postmaster General Key's Speech at Lynchburg.

At the banquet at Lynchburg, Va., on Monday evening, given in honor of the Presidential party, Postmaster General Key made a speech, which was very much in the vein of his Chattanooga speech, but less serious. for the use of the term "erring Court until Monday, on account of indisbrethren," he said that when he took up arms he expected the South to succeed, but instead of that it got badly whipped. He made a great error at the start and found it out. Now, perhaps, he said, those who were so sensitive about his speech at Bennington did not make that error. Perhaps they expected to be whipped when they went into the war, or may be they did not go at all. At the close of his remarks Gen. Key said that whether he was called a Democrat or not, he was a Hayes-administration man. He had probably attended more Cabinet meetings than any other member, and no secrets of the administration were kept back from him. At none of these meetings had he heard an unkind word spoken about the South.

Beecher's Waning Popularity.

[Boston Herald.] The waning popularity of Rev. Henry Ward Beecher is seen in the Keeper. fact that on Tuesday at an auction sale of the effects of his bankrupt publishers, the stereotype plates and copyright of his ten-volume edition of his sermons, covering the period between 1869 and 1873, sold for $475, or about what the plates were worth for old type metal. At the same sale more than a thousand copies of the printed series, unbound, were sold for seven and a half cents a copy, which was very much less than the cost of the white paper on which they were printed. The plates and the copyright of the new series of sermons from 1873 to 1875, which have not been published, sold for $230. Comment is unne- should have been $2,263.29.

The Pennsylvania Election.

Judge Kelley, of Philadelphia, says that no one can tell where the lightning will strike in the Pennsylvania election. He says that the independent vote may be twenty thousand or eighty thousand, and until the day of election it will not be known which party will be the more injured.

We learn that the Table of Contents for the first issue of this magazine is about made up, and that it will appear promptly on the 15th, the day advertised. The articles are: "A Biography of Raphael Semmes," by his friend and comrade, Capt. J. N. Maffltt: "A Sketch of the History of the University of North Carolina," by Hon. Kemp P. Battle; "Evelyn's Choice"-three chapters-a novel, by John Esten Cooke; "A Critique on Lowell's Earlier Poems," by W. H. Babcock, and perhaps a scientific article by Professor Hassel. Delay in - Cautionary signals are ordered receiving the MS. makes its appearance in the first number doubtful. Poems from Paul Hayne, John H. Boner and M. V. Lanier will also appear in this number.

Mrs. Margaret J. A sketch-historical-of the University of Virginia, written by a member of the Faculty, is expected for the December number.

The magazine will be printed on fine book paper, with handsome new type. It the succeeding numbers are as good as the first promises to be, the enterprise will deserve encouragement from the entire

Prof. Cooke's Exposures of Spiritual-

Prof. Cooke, the "Exposer of Spiritualism." who will appear at the Opera House in this city on the evenings of the 4th and 5th of October, duplicates, it is claimed, the unhappy Dr. Slade's notorious slate writing, reproduces the feats of the Davenport brothers, and performs many other wonders, and then shows his audience exactly how he does each and all of these, at first sight, unaccountable things. He is assisted by Miss Lora Cooke. As an evidence of the interest manifested in Prof. Cooke's performances in other cities, we give the following from the Memphis Appeal:

"In point of intelligence, and especially as regards numbers, such an audience as attended the second appearance of Prof. Cooke last night is seldom witnessed in the Memphis Theatre. Long before the hour of opening the doors every seat was taken, and hefore 8 o'clock the aisles were crowded to suffocation. Hundreds even were turned away from the door. There could be-no better evidence of the deep interest which prevails in this community on the subject of Spiritualism. Prof. Cooke stated that, in view of the immense number who failed to gain admittance last night, he would remain one day longer in the city.

In introducing its comments upon the performance the Appeal says: "He thoroughly exposes the material tests upon which mediums and believers in Spiritualism rely for the so-called truth of their claims, and proves that false in one, they are liable and likely to be false in all."

Coroner Hewlett held an inquest yesterday morning over the body of a colored infant, in the southwestern section of the city. It appears that circumstances led to the belief that the child had been foully dealt with, and rumors to this effect were rife in the neighborhood and finally reached the ears of the coroner, who determined to investigate the matter. With this object in view the remains of the infant, which had been interred, were exhamed and examined by the city physician in the presence of the coroner and his jury. The verdict of the jury, founded upon the report of the physician, was to the effect that the child came to its death from natural causes.

Costly Guides. Mr. G. H. McAllister, a stranger in Wilmington, hailing from Bennettsville, S. C., hired a couple of colored men on Friday to show him around the city. Arriving at a point somewhere in the neighborhood of Eighth and Chesnut streets his guides suddenly deserted him, and upon examination shortly afterwards he was pained to discover that they had relieved him of his pocket book containing $15 in greenbacks. Mr. A. is now a wiser man than when he came to Wilmington, though he is under the impression that he had to pay a trifle too much for his experience.

Oriminal Court. The Criminal Court for New Hanover county, Judge O. P. Meares presiding, con venes in this city to morrow morning. We learn from Solicitor Moore that the docket is quite heavy, there being as much hard work in prospect as at any previous term of the Court, though not as many cases as at the first one. There is one capital case to be tried, that of Elijah Keeter, charged with the murder of Peter Robinson, in this city, on the night of Saturday, the 19th of August last.

Callender's Georgia Minstrels. This troupe played at the Opera House last night to a very good house, in point of numbers, and to an as enthusiastic a crowd as they could have possibly desired. We were not overly pleased with the ballad singing, though we must admit having heard a great deal worse, but the glees, plantation songs, &c., were very good, and were duly appreciated by the audience. Of the performers, Kersands is par excellence the star, and next to him we would class that "little nigger"-i. e. the "infant"who, as "Pete" in "Uncle Jasper's Home, played his part to perfection. There is a novelty in the actors being negroes that were more enjoyable. Bob Mack, as the "Shanghai rooster," was capital, his costume, cackling, crowing and other imitations of the voice and habits of that bird being life-like and very amusing.
