Hon, Samuel J. Randall was born October 13, 1828, in Philadelphia. He was elected a Democratic Representative from that city in 1862, and has been in Congress ever since.

It turns out that the difficulties a El Paso are confined entirely to the citizens of Texas, Americans and Mexicans. How they will be settled is difficult to tell, as the military will not interfere, and the civil authorities are powerless.

The House of Bishops have adopted a canon for the organization of a sisterhood of deaconesses, quite similar to the plan adopted by the Convention. A resolution in regard to the separation of Church and State was disposed of in double-quick time, a hundred voices demanding that it be laid on the table, which was accordingly done.

Ten Democrats, Northern, we suppose, voted for Henry Ward Beecher in the caucus for Chaplain. Beecher is a cantankerous Republican of the war stripe. Did those ten Democrats mean to express their approval of Beecher's politics, or of his morals Possibly, they meant only to secure the services of a chaplain whose morals were representative of the Congress, and of whom it might be said that "he was the right man in the right place." Selah!

The President's first message is business, like document. He advances at once to the purposes for which th Congress was called in extra session. He asks for an appropriation for twenty-five thousand men in the army, leaving the question of increase or decrease to be hereafter considered. He asks for immediate action, as the country is largely in arrears in its army payments. He wants $32,436,764.98 for the army and $2,-003,801.27 for the navy. Other sums for the various branches of the service are also solicited. He asks for an appropriation of $200,000 to enable the United States to participate in the advantages of an International Exhibition in Paris.

We are pleased to see that North Carolina gets one office in the distribution of favors by the Democratic House. Major Seaton Gales, of Raleigh, has been appointed Superintendent of the Folding Room. He is a genial, true-hearted, eloquent gentleman, and is besides an old editor. He is the son of the late Weston R. Gales, who so long time edited the old Raleigh Register, and not the son of the late Joseph Gales, of the National Intelligencer, as the telegraph states. Maj. Gales is nephew both of the late Joseph Gales, referred to, has struck a lode that is six feet broad, of and of Col. W. W. Seaton, after whom he was named, and who married Maj. Gales's aunt. His grandfather, the first Joseph Gales, was co-editor of the Sheffield Iris, England, with the poet James Montgomery. Mr. Gales, early in this century, established the Raleigh Register. His son Weston succeeded him, and then his grandson Seaton.

- Rev. F. M. Jordan, the well known and very successful Baptist evange-dist, will begin a meeting with the Kinston Church on the 28d inst. Can't he visit Wilmington before he returns to that [Special Dispatch to the Baltimore Sun.] WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.

THE LOUISIANA SENATORSHIP. Senator Eustis, of Louisiana, has rrived. His credentials are still on the files of the committee on Privileges and Elections. It is understood that if the committee does not take action in a reasonable time a movement will be made to bring his case directly before the Senate. The merits of the case are thoroughly understood, as they ought to be after a four years' discussion, and there can be no possible excuse for any delay.

THE VIRGINIA MARSHATSHIP. In a short time the commission of Mr. C. P. Ramsdell, U. S. marshal for Virginia, will expire. Mr. Edward C. Marshall, the eldest son of Chief Justice Marshall, is an applicant for the position, and, in company with Col. Mosby, has had a personal interview with the President on the subject.

THE VACANT JUDGESHIP.

In reference to the prospective apointment of Gen. Harlan to the bench of the Supreme Court, doubt is expressed by many for the reason that the President has in conversation indicated that he would appoint no man who was not acceptable to the conservative sentiment of the South. Gen. Harlan does not fill this bill. He is not supported by the congressional delegation from Kentucky, nor by any men of prominence who can be considered as proper representatives of the conservative element of the South. Among his recommendations, however, are some from those who have been termed "copperheads" in times past, and who may now be said to belong to what is called the Bourbon element of the democracy. It need not be a matter of surprise if General Harlan should receive the appointment even after what the President has said, for the men, of changing his mind occasionally. It can, however, be repeated to-night on authority that no positive determination has been reached concerning this appointment. Influential pressure from the South has been brought to bear in favor of Mr. Breckinridge, of Missouri, and Mr. Thomas Allen Clark, of New Or-

North Carolina Abroad. "H.," the Washington correspondent of the Releigh Observer, gives this interesting information: "There are several here from North Carolina representing other States. McKenzie, of Ky., moved from Iredell county; Turner, a venerable and distinguished lawyer of Kentucky, moved from Rowan county. (He says he wants to see Zeb Vance worse than any man living.) Jones, of Ken-tucky, is of a Rutherford county family; Gause, of Arkansas, is from Columbus county; Cannon, of Illinois, is from Guilford county; Nilson, of Iowa, from Cleveland county; and Riddle, of Tennessee, is from Iredsll county. His father lived in Statesville many years, and removed from that place to Tennessee. Forney, of Alabama, is of a Lincoln county familv: he is a cousin of Judge Shipp, of Charlotte, and of the Hokes, of Lincoln county.

On Saturday evening last a colored excursion party left Marion, S. C., for this city, and about 11 o'clock that night the police authorities here received a dispatch from a party at Marion requesting them to keep a look out for one Zylphia Blackman, colored, who was on the train. It seems that the railroad agent at Marion had been robbed a night or two previously of about $300, and the husband of this woman, who was in charge of the pump at that place, had been suspected of the robbery. It was known that the woman had come to Wilmington on the excursion train, and it was thought probable that if her husband was guilty she would be likely to take the money. or a portion of it, with her, in order that she might spend it where there would be no one to question how she came by such a large amount. A party was also sent on the same train from Marion to identify the woman if it should become necessary. During Sunday, it having transpired that Zylphia Blackman and several others would not return with the excursion Sunday night, the matter of "shadowing" the woman was placed in the hands of Officers N. Carr and T. O. Bunting, who effectually carried out their instructions. They tracked her Monday to several of our leading business houses, at one of which she had purchased a quantity of clothing, made up of beaver cloth, for her husband; at another some fine goods for dresses for herself; at another an article of jewelry; and at still another a lot of furniture, altogether amounting in value to about $75. She was arrested Monday afternoon and placed in the guard house, and the articles she had purchased taken possession of by the officers, except the furniture, which had not been delivered. A telegram was then sent to the parties at Marion from whom the dispatch had been received, announcing the fact of the detection of the woman in spending a large amount of money, and her subsequent arrest and detention, to which a day night, requesting that the woman be held in custody until further orders, it being understood that as soon as a clue could be gotten upon the woman here her husband would be arrested by the authorities at Marion. When taken into custody the woman still had between six and seven dollars of unexpended money in her possession, and it was the opinion of the officers, from information elicited from her, that she

The Capital Case from Bladen.

We were informed, yesterday morning, that we had unintentionally given currency to an error in our statement in reference to the case of Mr. Robert Smith, indicted at the present term of Bladen Court for the alleged killing of Mr. James Murphy, and had intended to correct it, but subsequent ly received the following from Mr. N. A. Stedman, Jr., of counsel for defendant, which speaks for itself:

"In your issue of the 14th inst., you state that Mr. Smith's counsel had his case removed. Your statement was a mistake. The State of North Carolina, by affidavit of D. M. Sutton, one of the prosecutors, had the cause removed. Mr. Smith courted a trial in his own county; that denied, he preferred Wilmington, where he and his counsel know he will be tried by an intelligent and impartial jury. It is due to Mr. Smith to say he awaited an indictment after his discharge by the Nagistrates."

The Norfolk Virginian has the following in reference to the troupe which are to fil an engagement at the Opera House in this city on Thursday and Friday evenings of the present week: As was anticipated Mme. Duclo's Blondes attracted to the Opera House last night a very large audience, composed entirely of members of the male sex, and those who attended merely for the purpose of witnessing an entertaining performance have no cause to complain, Others who were enticed to the show by the reputation acquired by the troupe and a desire to pamper their love for the obscene, were surely not disappointed, as the last portion of the performance was well calculated to satisfy them.

The Sulphur Treatment for Diphe Under the head of a "New Cure for Diphtheria," the Pomaria (S. C.) correspondent of the Newberry Herald, says: "Our highly esteemed physician, J. A. Berley, reports one of his cases of diphtheria rapidly disappearing under a treatment of sulphur. He says: The subject was an infant, and the case an unusually marked one. The previous treatment by the parents suggested the use of sulphur, and I determined to give it a trial. I prescribed nothing but small quantities of flour of sulphur, intimately mixed with sugar, and iven three times a day. In twenty-four nours the patient had been so far relieved as apparently to experience not the least in-convenience, and was playing about as usual. I commend this to the favorable notice of the profession, both because of its results in this case, and the ease with which the remedy (if found such) can be applied. I think an occasional dose will be found efficacious as a preventive of this dangerous disease." Thermometer Record.
