torneys and real estate agents are involved. -- The forger Gilman's wife has become iusane and his children scattered. -An entire square of buildings were burned in Portland, N. B. - McVeagh is booked as Minister to England. - Collector Arthur, of New York, declines General Consulate to Paris. --- The Mexican local authorities at Matamoras released four raiders from jail in the face of the fact that Diaz had ordered them to be surrendered to the United States authorities. - Presbytcrian Synod of New Jersey voted against women preachers by 100 to 16. - New York markets: Money 5@6 per cent. gold quiet at 1021; cotton firmer at 115-16 @11 7-16 cents; flour very quiet and without decided change; wheat 1@2 cents better; corn 1 cent better; spirits turpentine quiet at 344 cents; rosin easier at $1 65@ 1 75.

A new complication springs up in regard to Mexico. The local anthorities at Matamoras have released four raiders from jail although the Diaz government had ordered them to be delivered to the authorities of the United States. It appears that public sentiment was so decided against the surrender of the raiders that Gen. Canales resigned rather than execute the order of his government. So it remains to be seen whether Diaz will execute his own order or yield to the clamor of the multitude. Our government awaits intelligence as to what the Mexican authorities will do before taking further steps.

It appears that the great swindling operations referred to in our last is sue are wide-spread, involving banks, attorneys, real estate dealers, and others in Chicago, Pittsburg, Cleveland, Cincinnati and other places. It is stated, also, that for eight or nine years these swindlers and forgers have been carrying on their work. Every day but reveals the utter rottenness of the country. Whilst we are learning of new robberies and fresh villainies, we are told that the wife of the forger Gilman has broken down under the disgrace of her unworthy husband, and will have to be taken to a lunatic asylum for treatment, whilst her three innocent children are to be separated from cach other to find homes among the friends of the family. A sad, sad commentary upon the villainy of one scoun-

The news from Asia is interesting. The Russians are moving on Kars, and siege gans will soon be in place. Ismail Pasha has retreated into Turkish territory, and is followed by Gen. Tergukasoff. Reinforcements for Mukhtar Pasha are on the way in large numbers, both from Erzeroum and Batoum. They may have to fight before they accomplish their design, as a column of Russians have been sent to guard the road leading from Erzeroum to Kars, in which Mukhtar Pasha is confined. " The forces hitherto kept necessarily at Ardahan and Rion have been ordered to unite with the advance on Kars. From Europe we receive intelligence that the Turkish army at Plevna numbers 130,000 men, and that they are actually suffering from scarcity of bread. Forty Turkish deserters have come to Russian headquarters with this news. They deserted on account of food. Each soldier is only allowed one pound of bread for twenty-four hours. Famished men will fight desperately. Plevna can never be taken by assault.

Notes on the State Fair. [Raleigh News.]

One of the principal features of the Fair was the excellent exhibit of paintings, drawings, &c., by the different female institutes competing for the bandsome organ premium. The following were represented each by most highly meritorious displays: The Salem Female Academy, Chowan Female Institute, the Raleigh Female Seminary and Peace Institute.

The judges were nine in number and cast their vote by ballot, resulting in the award of the premium to Peace Institute.

Mrs. McElhenny, of Wilmington, makes a handsome display of rich embroidery; Mrs. Ward, of Henderson, fresh and life-like. One of the prettiest pieces of patch-work in the Hall was a block quilt exhibited by Miss Sophia Partridge, of Raleigh. The same lady exhibited twelve beautiful oil paintings and a number of pencil drawings of high merit.

Mr. Fries had on exhibition several bolts of cassimeres of superior quality, from the Salem Factory; also a quantity of wool rolls from the same establishment. The crayon pictures of Governors Vance and Hampton, and some others, executed from photographs by Mr. Eugene L. Harris, of Sassafras Fork, Granville county, elicited universal admiration for their correctness and beauty of finish.

The space for jellies, preserves, cakes, bread &c., was not very full, but what was on hand was very good. In this, as well as in several other departments, Mrs. Wilson, of Granville. occupied considerable space and took many premiums. This lady has taken premiums enough at fairs for the last ten or twelve years to buy a fine farm.

Among the many beautiful specimens of ladies' handiwork, we noticed a frame of the most beautiful tatting we ever saw; if fairies ever engage in such useful and ornamental work as weaving tatting setts, we think they would not exceed this. It is the work of Mrs. J. M. Atkinson, of this city, and was admired by all who appreciate this sort of work.

In the line of home manufactures the display of turn-out and top buggies by Mr. N. S. Harp, of Raleigh, was noted for the beautiful shape and fine finish of his vehicles. The track wagon contributed by Mr. Harp as a special premium at the Fair was also on exhibition.

Tyson & Jones, of Carthage, had on exhibition a number of very fine open buggies and rockaways that were very much admired.

- The Cape Light Artillery arrived home on the Carolina Central Railroad via Hamlet, between 10 and 11 o'clock on Friday night, and the members express A Citizen Waylaid and Assaulted with a Deadly Weapon.

On Friday evening, between 6 and 7 o'clock, as Mr. William Richardson, a white stevedore, was passing through the alley just north of the railroad and east of Fourth street, on his way home, he was suddenly approached from behind and received a blow on the back of the head from some unseen adversary, which felled him to the ground, and for a minute or so rendered him unconscious. Coming to his senses he attempted to rise, when he was struck a second blow, which fell upon one of his shoulders, and his assailant then fled, thinking, probably, that he had finished him. The last blow, however, did not have the effect which was doubtless intended, and Mr. R. immediately commenced shouting "murder," "thleves," &c., at the top of his voice. The would-be murderer started to run through the alley to Fourth street, but upon hearing the cries of his intended victim, and fearing instant pursuit, he jumped an intervening fence and slid down the railroad embankment to the track. Mr. C. M. Yopp and a colored man named Ellis White, hearing the cries of Mr. Richardson, and the former having also heard the blows as they were stricken, were now in hot pursuit of the rapidly fleeing stran-name of Richard Hooper, was taken to the guard house and locked up. Yesterday morning Hooper was taken before Mayor Dawson's Court, when His Honor, upon hearing the statement of Mr. Richardson, who swore to the identity of the man and also to the stick used in the assault upon him, which was exhibited in Court, announced that the offence appeared to be of such a grave and serious nature, requiring its reference to a higher Court, that he should turn it over to a Magistrate for investigation. The case was thereupon ger, who made his way up the south em-urned over to Justice E. D. Hall Shortly after 11 o'clock the case came up before Justice Hall in the Court House, a large number of colored stevedores and other friends of the prisoner being among the spectators. Upon the case being called, Mr. Marsden Bellamy, counsel for the defendant, demanded a jury for his client, which was objected to by John L. Holmes, Esq., for the prosecution, on the ground that such a proceeding would be manifestly illegal, as the offence was of such a character, a deadly weapon having been used, that His Worship could not have final jurisdiction in the matter, and read from Battle's Revisal to sustain his position. Mr. Bellamy, however, still insisted upon his point, and, after considerable argument on both sides, the case was finally postponed until Tuesday morning next, in order to give the presiding justice an opportunity of securing legal advice as to the question at issue. The prisoner was required to give bond in the sum of $500 for his appearance at the time specified, in default of which he was committed to jail. The stick exhibited in court was a piece of fire wood, about four feet in length and give or six inches in circumference. It will be remembered that the house in which Mr. Richardson resided was set fire to and destroyed only a week or two ago

Rose and Harry Watkins. These ever popular artists and favorites, with Miss Amy Lee, will appear at the Opera House in this city on Wednesday and Thursday evenings next. They have been playing in Raleigh during the past week to immense houses. The News of Friday says: "Harry Watkins' new comedy drama, 'Marriage, or Our Daisy,' is one of the most interesting of modern plays, with a well defined plot interpreted in language sparkling with humor, and forcible in sentiment. 'Our Daisy' possesses a vitality which ensures it a long life as a stand ard drama. Mr. Watkins, as Miles, wins new honors in a new character, an honest Yorkshire lad, whose brotherly devotion in defending a sister's honor, commands the full sympathies of an audience. To night, however, Mr. Watkins appears in his great character as Fergus McCarthy, in 'Trodden Down, or Under Two Flags.' Miss Amy Lee also has a part in the play. She has grown up in sight, as it were, of the Southern people, who have seen her emerge from a precious childhood to a graceful and accomplished young lady, with a future before her as bright as she chooses to make it by the application necessary to insure success. She certainly has our best wishes."

The failure to form the Second Battalion, N. C. S. G., into a regiment and elect officers for the same, which was expected to take place during the presence of the Battalion in Raleigh, was owing to the fact that both the First and Second Battalions claim o have the requisite number of comp to form a regiment, and the question as to which is to be the First Regiment is now under advisement by the Adjutant General.

- Several fine showers fell in this city and vicinity yesterday morning.

- Abram Williamson was the name of the gentleman whose house, near Wrightsville Sound, was broken open and robbed on Wednesday last, not Williams, as it was incorrectly reported. There is no clue to the thief as yet.

- There were four interments in Oakdale Cemetery during the week closing yesterday, all children, their respective ages being 3, 9 and 14 years, and the disthemselves as having been delighted with cases congestion of the brain, malarial fewer and diphtheria. One was still-born.

Shooting of a Prisoner.

We learn from a party from Florence, S. C., that Gilbert Telfair, formerly a well known colored plasterer of this city, was acting very disorderly in that place, on Thursday afternoon last, when a policeman by the name of Fields attempted to arrest him. Telfair, who is a powerful man, as many of our police officers here have occasion to know, resisted the officer, knocking him down twice, when the latter drew his pistol and shot him in the thigh, by which he was disabled and then taken to the guard house. The officer took deliberate aim at his legs, not wishing to kill him. The Last Perjury Case.

The case of J. W. Whitney, colored charged with perjury, came up for a hearing before Justice Harriss, yesterday morning, at 8 o'clock, upon the affidavit of Thomas Brown. The evidence was not of a character to warrant the magistrate in binding the defendant over for trial, and the case was therefore dismissed.

C.; Mrs. Mary Robinson, care Mr. Keenan, 80 Charter street, Boston, Mass; Messrs. Shipley, Hoover & Co. There is a small black valise in the office unmailable.
