One of the most fearful catastrophes we ever read of has just happened in a mine near Glasgow, Scotland, by which four hundred men were killed. It is simply awful. We have not heart to dwell upon such a visitation.

The news from Balgaria indicates a retrograde movement on the part of Suleiman Pasha. The Roumanians recaptured the Grivitza redoubt at Plevna, we suppose. In the recent eighteen thousand Turks and forty Contradictory Reports About the Resignation of the Ministry. [By Cable to the News and Courier.] Paris, Oct. 21.

Le Gaulois and Le Rappel maintain in spite of denials the truth of the assertion that the ministry will resign on November 5th. They even assert that efforts are being made at the present moment to form a temporary Cabinet with Gen. Berthoul. the present Minister of War, as President of the Council, and the Duke De Cazes as Minister of Foreign Affairs. This Cabinet would be charged with the duty of presenting President MacMahon's message to the Chambers, and asking the Chambers to vote the most important taxes. LeSoleil states that Minister Fourton received twenty prefects on Saturday and assured them that no changes would be made in the existing administrative staff. The prefects subsequently received the same assurance from President MacMahon and the Duke DeBroglie.

The War in the East. London, Oct. 20-9 P. M.

Panieky rumors from Constantinople and sanguine anticipations from Russian sources are the natural results of the great Russian victory in Armenia. A military critic says: "The Russians have before Kars seventy thousand men. Mukhtar Pasha's army, at the time of the battle, did not comprise more than forty thousand men. Among these were fourteen battalions drawn from the garrison of Kars. The Ottoman field army lost at least one-third of its strength in killed, wounded and captured. Thus, after the garrison of Kars has been completed, a few battalions will remain available to retire upon Erzeroum, and there, united with the troops of Kurdismail Pasha and those from Pennek, form the nucleus of a new army for the relief of Kars. Nor is it certain that time will be given for any serious attempt to organize a fresh field army. The Grand Duke Michael can safely leave forty thousand in front of Kars, and with the remainder press forward towards Erzeroum. If the accounts we receive of his numbers are correct, he should be able to make this forward movement even after leaving Kars closely blockaded with at least 25,000 men, and if he pushes on rapidly there is no reason to believe he will find a hostile force even numerically equal to bar his way."

The Rpiscopal Convention.

Boston, Oct. 20. The vote in the Episcopal Convention, this afternoon, showed conclusively the general feeling of the members of the church to be in opposition to any change in its name. A ballot was taken on the report of the committee or Amendments to the Constitution, to whom were referred memorials from diocesan conventions of Wisconsin and Iowa in favor of a change of name to that of "Church of America." The report considered that no change was necessary. The result of the vote was-Clerical deputations: dioceses represented 43, ayes 42, nays 1; lay deputations: dioceses represented 40, ayes 40. Some other matters were discussed, after which the Convention adjourned until Monday. It is expected that the business of the Convention will be completed certainly the coming week. To-morrow many of the Bishops and elergy will deliver sermons in various parts of the State.

The subject of providing for the separation of the services in the prayer book was taken up on the resolution of Dr. Adams, of Wisconsin, to recommit the reported resolution of the committee on canons on the subject. After some debate the whole question was laid on the table by a vote of 116 to 50.

Child Tortured by Flends in Human Form.

[Hendersonville Courier.] A most horrible affair has come to light in Polk county. Early last summer a little orphan girl was taken in charge by Thomas Allen, who lives near Tryon, in the county of Polk. Last Friday, D. Foster, Esq., an uncle of the child, was informed that Allen and his wife were brutally whipping the poor little waif. On learning this he immediately went to the house, and Columbus. On the way she related to her uncle her heart-rending story. She had been tortured and whipped in the most brutal manner, her hair pulled out of her head, and her legs skinned and bruised. She was often tied to a loom and whipped with a double rope, with pieces of timber. splits, etc., and time and again they threatened to kill her and secrete her body in a large hole near the house. She related that the woman was more brutal towards her than the man. Upon reaching his home, Mr. Foster had a physician, Dr. J. G. Waldrop, summoned, who examined the child and found her in a most critical condition. Her little body was a mass of bruises, and from the suffering, fear and excitement she had experienced the child was in a state of delirium. It will take the utmost care and attention to restore

There is, in Watauga county, N. C., near the dwelling house of Frederick Shook, on Dutch Creek, a flourishing oak tree of vigorous growth, the leaves of which, when they first burst forth from the bud in the spring, are of a bright golden yellow color, and retain this color during their whole growth and maturity. In autumn, when the coming frost dies the other forest leaves in the wavy brilliant hues, which give such wonderful beauty to the mountain sides, the leaves on this remarkable tree begin at length to turn green, adopting as its own the fresh tint which is just departing from the others.

It will be remembered that at the time there was a great freshet in the Cape Fear river, the water rarely reaching cape Fear river, the water rarely reaching so high a point, and the tides on the coast unusually high, rivalling the great storm tides of April last. as also warnings in former reports. It will be observed that there has been no appro priation of money by Congress for prose-cuting this work for the present fiscal year, ending the 1st of July, 1878, and but the half of an appropriation for last year ending July, 1877, consequently the only appropriate use that could be made of this half appropriation was to fill stone on the apron across New Inlet as far as it would go, and take the chances of losing it, by leaving it in this unfinished and precarious condition until Congress should think proper to make another appropriation. In the meantime serious damage at least is likely to occur at any moment. The present status of the improvements has been maintained, mainly through the most active and energetic management of the Engineer in charge, who has been obliged to use much of the money in hand for prosecuting the work, in repairing damages from time to time, and in cautionary measures to pre-by dredging. The success of the work, thus far, may be attributed as much to great good manage-ment as to great good luck, or both com-bined; but the fact is patent, and cannot be disguised, that the whole fabric of the work is now in a critical position and in imminent danger of failure from delay in securing its completion; and fail it must if not properly sustained. If it fails, the hope of Wilmington goes with it; also the hope of North Carolina, and of all South Atlantic harbor improvements, and of a good and second and of a good and second and improvements, and of a good and safe harbor of refuge, repair and supply for the general commerce of the country, for the next quarter of a century at least. Hence, it sppears a matter of grave impor-tance, that the most active measures be adopted at once for procuring by some means or other from the present extra session of Congress a sufficient sum of money to proceed with the work and save it from the danger of failure and utter destruction which now threatens it so alarmingly. Sprunt's Millinery—where I will be pleased to receive a share of their patronage. Fresh Goods a specialty.
