

OUTLINES.

The remainder of the Russian army at home will be mobilized. — MacMahon sought the idea of a coup d'etat; none of the new Cabinet will belong to either House. — Servia will not engage in war as now believed; the Sultan is in favor of peace movements; the brave Gen. Skobloff was slightly wounded but is in command; Kara would have been assaulted but for bad weather. — Two more savings banks have gone up. — Gale, the pedestrian, will complete his great feat of walking 4,000 quarter miles in 4,000 consecutive periods of ten minutes. — Borden City Mills, Mass., burned; insured for $400,000. — Judiciary committee of House has sent court records in case of Congressman Small. — The army bill as it passed the House authorized 25,000 men. — Mr. Stephens, of Georgia, introduced a bill for the financial relief of the country. — New York markets: Money 3/4 @ per cent; gold quiet at 102; cotton quiet at 11 1/4 @ 11 1/2 cents; flour without decided change; corn active and firm; spirits turpentine steady at 24 1/2 @ 25 cents; rosin steady at $1 70 @ 1 71 1/4 for strained.

The Sultan talks peace and the Muscovite is preparing to mobilize the remainder of the Russian army so it may be ready for a vigorous campaign on an enlarged plan of operation.

President MacMahon is moderating. He scents the idea of coup d'etat, and in this we can but hope that he is sincere. A new Cabinet will be formed at once, but no member of either House will belong to it. It will only be provisional.

The Senate has gained a triumph in regard to the army bill. The House has agreed to 25,000 as being the limit to which it may be increased. Fifteen Democrats voted with the Republicans. We believe such an army to be very dangerous to the peace of the country and the stability of our institutions. There is no danger with a Constitutional abiding President like Mr. Hayes, but if Grant should be re-elected, what then? His foreign travels will not increase his love for Republican institutions or strengthen his law-abiding determination. It was a bad set for Democrats to be guilty of.

For sometime the Wilmington & Weldon road, and the other roads on this route to New Orleans, have been making unusual good time, and have altogether surpassed the route by Charlotte, which is competing with it. It seems from a bill reported by Gen. Vance that the other line is to be fostered by Congress at the expense of our road. We trust Congressmen Waddell and Brogden will see to it that no unfair legislation is entailed upon the detriment of Wilmington and the section of the State through which the Wilmington & Weldon and Wilmington & Columbia roads pass. With a good showing this route is bound to be the quickest and safest. We heard a railroad man from Indiana say not long ago that the Weldon & Wilmington road was the best he had ever seen for fast running. This was owing to its being so straight and the country being so level.

FROM WASHINGTON.
The Senate and the President, &c. [Special Dispatch to the Baltimore Sun.]
WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.
The Senate Committee on Commerce passed a resolution yesterday instructing the chairman of the committee in the case of nominations or removals made by the President, where there is any controversy, to ask for all the papers bearing on the case. Through a misapprehension of the purport of this resolution a significant article was attached to it in political circles to-day of much greater importance than the facts justify. It was merely doing, as remarked in conversation by members of the committee to-day, what has invariably been the custom in all cases where there is objection to a nomination.
MR. CONKLING AND THE COMMITTEE.
It was stated in some quarters to-day that Mr. Conkling had obtained a victory in the committee yesterday, and the majority which he had secured against the President included a Democratic Senator on the committee, whose name was given. This Senator, on being informed of such statement pronounced it to be utterly unfounded. He said that there was no division in the committee of the character alleged. It is learned that so far from Mr. Conkling securing anything like a personal triumph, that some members of the committee were as kindly disposed toward listening to his grievances as a proper duty of courtesy should have dictated.
Opponents of resumption repeal in the House are discussing the best course to pursue when voting on the bill amendments shall begin, which is expected will be on Saturday. Whether they can defeat repeal is doubtful, but it is believed that under good leadership and with concert of action they could compel the repeaters to take the bill in a form which could do them no good, and which would amount to nothing. Neither the course of debate nor of previous business in the House this session has, however, developed among the hard-money men any member with conspicuous qualities of leadership to seize advantage of the present opportunity, and by uniting all the forces which might be gathered, successfully oppose the bill.

Stoughton Hits Back.
Hon. E. W. Stoughton has addressed a letter to the editor of the New York World in regard to Judge Black's recent "scoring" of him on the subject of the electoral commission, &c. Mr. Stoughton claims that Judge Black has failed to disprove his statements that just before the beginning of the late war President Buchanan and Judge Black, then Attorney General, "united in officially declaring that the government had no constitutional power to suppress the revolt by force. He also claims that Judge Black has failed to disprove that the highest court of Louisiana had determined that the decision of the returning board of that State was conclusive and could not be revived or reversed by its courts. Mr. Stoughton concludes with a reminder to Judge Black, "that with his excellent constitution and a right use of his remarkable talents, guided by an improved taste, he may yet hope to retrieve a reputation not enviable for patriotism, or for purity of style as a controversialist." Whether Judge Black will be heard from again depends whether he attaches any importance to Mr. Stoughton's letter.

Spirits Turpentine.

The Elizabeth City Fair was a creditable exhibition.
— John Tarkinton, an esteemed citizen of Tyrrell, is dead.
— The diphtheria is again prevailing in Newbern. Several children have died.
— Raleigh handled 2,264 bales cotton last week; since September 11, 17,397 bales.
— Sixteen persons professed religion in the Tryon street M. E. Church revival, Charlotte.
— Gov. Vance made a fine speech at Columbia, and his reception was extremely enthusiastic.
— Rocky Mount Mail: We are pained to learn that T. V. Arent, Esq., of Griffin's township, had his gin burned on Tuesday last. Caught from matches in cotton while ginning. We learn there were about fifteen bales of cotton in the gin, which were all consumed. The loss cannot be less than $1,500 or $2,000.
— Wilson Advance: On Wednesday last an old negro woman, the wife of Minor Neal, living on the plantation of Mr. Gardner, was severely burned that she died in a few hours. — We heartily second the proposition of the Torchlight that all the churches holding services on the 20th of this month give up the day to take up a collection for the benefit of the Oxford Orphan Asylum. "He that giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord," and by casting your bread upon the waters it will return to you after many days.
— Newbern Nut Shell: We are pleased to note that some Mary Ward Clarke, who has been sojourning in Chicago several months, has returned to Newbern. While in Chicago Mrs. Clarke was a regular contributor to several of the leading papers in the United States, and won for herself that popularity which she so commendably deserves as a fine writer. Her late poem, published in the Galaxy, "Cleopatra's Soliloquy," received the highest commendations from some of the best critics.

— Winston Sentinel: Thaddeus Davis, convicted and sentenced to be hung for burglary at the spring term of our court, and the judgment affirmed by the Supreme Court, will be resuspended to-day (Thursday). We regret to learn that William Campbell, Esq., of Germantown, lost his dwelling house and kitchen by fire on last Monday. Loss about $8,000; insured for $1,000. — Col. Forney George and family, of Columbus county, who have been spending the winter with relations in Stokes, left on last Monday for their home. — Benjamin Hester, an old and worthy citizen of our county, died on last Sunday morning, aged 78 years. — Seven persons were confirmed by Bishop Atkinson, at Germantown, on last Thursday, and two at Winston on Friday.
— Salem Press: It is reported here that in a density which occurred between Frank Jones and William Griffith, in Yadkin county, Saturday, the latter received, it is feared, a serious blow on the head. — Bishop Atkinson delivered one of his highly instructive and edifying sermons in Tise's Hall, last Friday. One person was baptized and two confirmed. No fear of any one freezing about here, with fire wood at only two dollars a cord.
— Forty-one lamps dispense light on our streets. — Davie county items: There is some complaint through the county of the tobacco crop. The yellow does not cure with that bright yellow color which makes it valuable to the producer, and eagerly sought after by the purchaser. — The corn has been gathered and the larger portion of it husked and cribbed. The freshets have inflicted some damage, but the yield is better than it was at the time supposed. Residents along the river are very much interested in the efforts making to restock the river with fish. The ice which passed down at the breaking up of last winter, is supposed to have swept the finny inhabitants along with it.
— Charlotte Observer: Rev. J. L. Hemphill, the long expected pastor of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church of this city, has written to a member of the congregation that he may be expected here this evening. — It is universally agreed that Charlotte's wholesale trade has not been so good since 1873 as it has been this season. — The middle of November is here and still many people are wearing summer clothes, the forests are in a measure green, and fires are not needed except late at night. — The first telegram, as we understand, ever sent direct to this city from Liverpool, was received here a few days ago by a cotton firm, which has just filed an order for a thousand bales of cotton to be shipped to Liverpool, and which is now being loaded at Wilmington. A few days ago at Casser's mill on Rocky creek, on the Mckenburg and Cabarrus line, a white boy by the name of Hagler was killed by a negro man named Blair. The two had met near the mill and had high words about some matter or other, when Hagler drew a knife and advanced upon the negro. As he did so Blair seized a rock and hurled it at his assailant, striking him on the head, just behind the ear. Hagler fell to the ground and expired in short time, the force of the blow having crushed the skull in upon his brain. Blair fled and has not been captured.

Deal Tenderly with the Little Ones.

It cannot be too strongly impressed upon the minds of children to avoid all manner of roughness towards each other in play. It is too often the case, especially among school children, where there are quite a large number of them together, for the larger boys to impose upon the smaller ones and in some instances to treat them very harshly. It is the duty of every parent to do it, and to see that the view of the admiration and respect of their companions at their skill and dexterity in handling the little fellows. It is equally as important in a spirit of unkindness, or with any intention of inflicting injury, and it may be said that any serious injury will result, but there are exceptions to almost every rule. Some children are much more delicately constituted than others, and more susceptible of injury from the rude buffeting to which they are subjected than their more sturdy companions. This fact should be impressed upon the minds of children by their parents and teachers, and the larger children should be taught to deal tenderly with the little ones with whom they come in daily contact, as what is done in a merry spirit of sport and frolic some times results disastrously, causing remorse and sorrow in the future for the unintentional harm. We are, told that a family in this city now mourn the loss of one of the precious treasures of its household through the rough treatment inflicted upon him by his thoughtless school mates, and we hope that in this instance, so pregnant with grief and sorrow to this family, may have its effect upon teachers, parents and children, in inducing them to endeavor to bring about some reform in this particular.

Let all who love the cause and a good time generally be on hand.

Railroad Accident—One Man Killed.

The accident was caused by some obstruction being placed on the track. The train was expected to clear last night.
