What the Governor of North Carolina Said to the Governor of South Carolina.

The only amusing thing connected with the whole performance was the remark of "Old Zeb" to Governor Hampton, as he sat looking at the Georgians drill. "I think, Governor," said Vance, "that we can bet on old George; they are a mighty good people, especially in the northern part of the State; but that section of the State was settled by people who came originally from North Carolina."

WASHINGTON.

The President and his Party—Caucus of Republican Senators—Report on the Recent Interview at the White House.

[Special Dispatch to Baltimore Sun.] WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. The Senate Republicans held another caucus yesterday to hear the report of the committee which waited upon the President. Neither the case of Kellogg nor of any of the Senatorial contestants was alluded to in any manner, as the sole object of the caucus was to discuss the relations between the President and Senators.

Senator Edmunds stated his opinion that the conversation of the President was extremely courteous and conciliatory, but did not warrant the declaration that he proposed changing his policy. The President thought that Senators had criticised his acts and appointments on insufficient information, and sometimes a false construction had been placed upon what he had done, even after such construction had been shown to be entirely erroneous.

After the Senators who saw the President had made their different statements the discussion continued for some time in a conversational way, and the opinions expressed were of an amicable nature rather than otherwise.

Adjournment and Resumption Repeal—The Silver Bill—The Vacant Judgeship.

It has been expected that the final adjournment of the extra session would take place this week. This is now doubtful. The supporters of the anti-resumption bill say that they are determined to have a vote and to pass the bill through the House before agreeing to any adjournment resolutions.

It is expected that another meeting of the Senate finance committee will be held to-morrow for the consideration of the silver bill. Senator Jones, of Nevada, and other prominent advocates of the bill are demanding that the finance committee shall report it to the Senate without further delay, as they claim that a large majority of that body is for the bill.

The Senate Judiciary committee has had some consideration of the case of Mr. John Baxter, nominated for the circuit judgeship of the Sixth judicial circuit. By request of Mr. Edmunds, chairman of the Judiciary committee, Gov. J. C. Brown and Attorney General Heiskell, of Tennessee, appeared in the committee room. The friends of Mr. Baxter had represented to the committee that the opposition to him arose from the fact of his being a consistent Union man during and since the war.

Cotton and Naval Stores. A business man on the wharf writes to Capt. Savage, the City Clerk and Treasurer, as follows:

"I am credibly informed that there is a widespread belief, and it has existed for years past, among the farmers of many of the counties adjacent to Wilmington, that there is an ordinance of the city prohibiting them from selling their produce, such as cotton and naval stores, in this market, except through commission merchants or brokers. Now, will you please state for their information if there is now existing, or has existed, any such ordinance (except that taxing market carts ten cents) within the past twenty-five years, and oblige."

In reply to the above, we are requested by Capt. Savage to say that there is no ordinance of the city to prevent farmers or producers from bringing to this market and selling their own produce from their own hands. As to the placing of cotton, naval stores or any other articles of their own production into the hands of commission merchants or brokers, is a matter altogether for their own discretion or convenience. At least, there is no ordinance of the city affecting the same.

Shooting by Daylight. The unusual phenomenon of a brilliant meteor in broad daylight, was witnessed by a gentleman near this city yesterday afternoon, about half-past 4 o'clock. This is no doubt one of the November meteors of which the astronomers have been talking, but it is somewhat remarkable that it should manifest its propensity for "shooting" before sundown.

Wilmington and New River Steam Navigation Company.

The incorporators of this company, consisting of George Harris, Esq., Col. B. R. Moore and Dr. T. B. Carr, met at the office of the latter gentleman yesterday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, when Dr. Carr made an interesting report of his recent reconnoitering trip.

The Doctor, who returned from his trip on Monday evening, stated that he left Messinger's last Thursday afternoon, and arrived at New River on the following Saturday afternoon, making the entire trip in a small canoe with two colored hands, neither of whom were any more familiar with the route than he was himself.

Returning he made the trip from New River to Sloop Point in six hours, and from New River to Masonboro' in nineteen hours, the entire distance being made through sounds, thus showing by practical experience the incorrectness of the theory advanced in the report of a survey of the inland Atlantic waters, made in 1875, to the effect that these sounds "are for the most part occupied by an intricate net work of channels through which a canoe cannot pass."

Dr. Carr stated that from Topsail to Masonboro he kept the channel straight through, making the distance in three hours, while the balance of the way he followed the channel next to the banks, which, from Topsail to New River, are high and heavily timbered, except where the lands are under cultivation. The Doctor left the impression that there will be no danger of storms interfering with navigation above Topsail.

The report was received with much pleasure, as indicating the feasibility of the enterprise to open a canal, with a tide-lock, from the Cape Fear River to the Sound, about six miles below the city, and thence to open up communication through the sounds to New River, and it was determined to meet again this afternoon to organize a company and appoint a time and place to open books for subscription to the capital stock.

Dr. Carr brought home with him some very fine New River oysters, which he distributed among his friends as souvenirs of his trip.

Sold Recovered. We learn from Mr. E. Gause, one of the Smithville pilots, that the body of a drowned white man was found washed up on Snow's Marsh, on the Brunswick side of the river, abreast of Federal Point and about four miles this side of Smithville, on Saturday afternoon last. There were eight dollars in money in one of the pockets of the deceased, together with a number of orders bearing the name of Thaddeus Moore, the unfortunate gentleman from Point Caswell, Fender county, who was drowned off one of the wharves of this city two weeks ago yesterday. Coroner Leonard, of Brunswick, subsequently held an inquest over the body, the jury returning a verdict of accidental drowning, after which it was interred on the Island, where it can easily be found by the family or friends of the deceased, who will no doubt wish to have it removed to Point Caswell.

The body drifted with the current full twenty-five miles, and Mr. Gause says that during his long experience as a pilot up and down the Cape Fear river he has never before known one to be carried such a distance. It looked fresh when first discovered and had suffered little or no mutilation.
