Another so-called savings bank (a wild-cat concern) has gone after the other scores that preceded it. in New Hampshire.

According to recent war news the presence of the entire department, to tide of success has changed. The Russians have met with reverses near Tirnova, where they are reported to have lost 3,000 men; and at Kamarli, where they assaulted the Turkish position, and were repulsed, losing considerably. It is also reported that Suleiman Pasha is endeavoring to cut the Russian communications on the northern slope of the Balkan mountains. If he succeeds he will be able to unite his forces with those of Osman Pasha at Plevna.

The country will be glad to learn that there is a good prospect of repealing the iron-clad and test oaths, that are a disgrace to our Republican government. The Judiciary committee have agreed to report in favor of their repeal.

P. S. Since the above was in type the telegraph informs us that the test oath has been repealed, and also the act disqualifying jurors on account of participating in the "rebellion." How those Yankees love to stigmatize their hetters! Rebellion is a bright word in American history. Washington, Henry, Robt. E. Lee, were all "rebels."

The French news still continues to be greatly mixed. Nothing definite in the way of a settlement has occurred. There are plenty of rumors and speculations, but it is impossible to perceive, as yet, a way of escape out of the serious complications. The most significant occurrence is the visit of the merchants and manufacturers to the Elysee, for the purpose of presenting an address to the President, and their rebuff. The message they sent may mean a good deal. "Inform the President," said the indignant visitors, "that we are the vanguard of an imposing demonstration, which to-day numbered a thousand, to morrow will number a hundred thousand, and the next day a million

Manning, Nov. 30. Hoffman's "Balloon Show" exhibiled here on vesterday. A balloon as cension constituted a part of the programme; the balloon ascended about 5 o'clock P. M., a young man aged, apparently, about twenty years going up with it, astride of a trapeze bar attached to the balloon by ropes. The main rope, several hundred yards long, attached to the balloon for the purpose of pulling it down when it had reached a sufficient altitude, broke, and the balloon shot up like an arrow to a dizzy height, and drifted rapidly eastward to the distance of half a mile, where it seemed to have encountered a stronger current, as it gyrated a few moments, and bore northeast for half a mile, when

Mr. Hagan, of Rock Hill, followed him, being assisted by Mr. Callahan, and the latter raised the body and it was taken ashore. The gentlemen who were on the bank shuddered as they looked upon the venture of the courageous Irishman, and scarcely expected him to return to shore alive.

The Festival Last Night. The festival given last night by the ladies of the Front Street M. E. Church, like all of their public entertainments of this character, was a grand success, financially and otherwise. The room was literally surfeited with delecacies, including some of the finest New River oysters we have seen this season, done up in a style to tempt the most fastidious appetite, and everything went off like hot cakes. We speak knowingly when we award all praise to the fair caterers for their success in furnishing such a palatable and tempting array of delicacies for the gratification of their patrons and friends.

Protracted Meeting.

The series of meetings at the First Baptist Church, in this city, which are being conducted by the Rev. F. M. Jordan, assisted by the pastor, Rev. J. B. Taylor, are increasing in interest. At the meeting on Monday night about twenty persons manifested a desire for an interest in the prayers of the congregation. Those who have had the pleasure of listening to the discourses of the Rev. Mr. Jordan can readily see wherein lies the foundation of his great success as an evangelist, and our Baptist friends confidently look forward to a refreshing season during his visit here.
