OUTLINES.

Gen. Todleben is in command of the Russian army at Rustchuk. -- British Cabinet has decided that mediation is inopportune. - The Porte will lay the whole subject of intervention before the Parliament. -- The wife of King Victor Immanuel, of Italy, is dead. - A large hotel at Portsmouth, N. H., burned. -Mr. Evarts reported favoring subsidizing a mail service to Brazil from an Atlantic port. -- Rev. Dr. Harris declines the Bishopric of the Quincy Diocese. -More failures in Chicago. - A writ of quo warranto issued against the Western Union Telegraph Co. - A banking house at Chester, Pa., gone up. -Forty loaded cars wrecked in Pennsylvania by a broken rail. --- New dissensions in the British Cabinet over the foreign policy. --- London Times is strong for peace. — The French Ambassador to London will be removed. — Sitting Bull is again on the war path with a large force. — It is reported that the burning of Greenfield's candy establishment in New York caused the death of 180 girls. Only 20 escaped. - New York markets: Money 4 per cent; gold quiet at 102#; cotton steady at 111@111 cents; flour without decided change, Southern $5 50@8 25; wheat unsettled; corn a shade firmer, Southern 56@59c; spirits turpentine quiet at 324 cts: rosin firm at $1 724@1 774.

Sitting Bull has put on his war paint. He has crossed the line with a large force of Sioux and Nez Perces, and now look out for warm work. He appears implacable, and trouble is ahead.

England having failed to obtain common diplomatic action on the part of the Powers looking to mediation, now decides that it is inopporhave to treat with Russia or take additional mauling. The Porte will. however, leave the matter of negotiation to the Parliament. In the meantime Russia is moving on to its appointed destination.

There is great division in the British Cabinet, and it is thought Lord Derby may retire. The London Times does not believe that the Ministry will advise war when the Parliament assembles. The Times says there is no occasion for war, and that Great Britain is not going to bind up her interests with the maintenance of the Ottoman Empire. Per contra, it is stated that Parliament will be called upon to decide peace or war, and to consider the purchase of the Turkish fleet. The London News thinks that Parliament is summoned "to approve war preparations." The sense of the English people is clearly against war. As long as Mr. Gladstone opposes the war policy of Beaconsfield, he will be able to prevent its adoption, unless the interests of England should become seriously endangered, which the Times says is not the case now.

"THE SOUTH ATLANTIC,"

The January number of this highly creditable Southern magazine is upon our table literally filled with inviting and entertaining matter. The editor really deserves great credit for the pluck, energy and enthusiasm she is displaying. There is no other lady of our acquaintance who could have accomplished what she has under the circumstances. We should have sat down in despair at the very threshold. We do trust most sincerely that she is meeting with such liberal responses all over the South as give her constant cheer and hope. Let her be sustained in her "labor of love," for she is doing a noble workone that appeals to the taste, culture and pride of our people.

We have just received our copy, and have only had time to glance at the table of contents. There is steady improvement. There is a critical paper an James Clarence Mangan, by J. H. Ingram, author of a life of Edgar Poe, and on English writer of rising fame. Another London writer, E. M. Clerke, contributes a poem entitled "The Trial Trip." Among the Southern contributors are poems by Paul H. Havne, Mrs. Margaret J. Preston and W. H. Babcock. We are pleased to see a biographical sketch of that admirable soldier and gentleman, Gen. Pender, written by his son. He is well worthy of an extended biography, and we hope to see such a work prepared. Under the head of "Thought and Movement" are editorial comments and reflections. There are several serial stories. Price $3 a year. Address Mrs. Cicero W. Harris, Editor and Proprietor, Wilmington, N. C.

From Washington. [Special to Richmond Whig.] WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.

The President's special message on ivil service reforms will be sent into Congress shortly after recess. It will stoutly insist upon the right of the President to originate nominations, and will contend that the policy of reform to be carried out by the Administration is but in response to the demands made by the people of all parties in their conventions. Mr. Woods, proprietor of the Washington Hotel, at Bladensburg, was killed this morning at the Branchville crossing, on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, between Bettsville and Bladensburg, by the express train -he attempting to drive rapidly across the track as the train was approaching. The buggy was smashed to pieces, and Mr. Woods and horse were horribly mangled and killed. The body of the horse was thrown one hundred feet, and the body of Mr. Woods a much greater distance.

Charges have been preferred against Collector Ferrall, of the Fourth Virginia district, by James Wood, his first deputy for several years. Commissioner Raum will investigate them. Ex-Congressman McKenzie brought these charges to the attention of the President, who promises that they shall be fully looked into.

The Gordon-Conkling Affair. [Special to Baltimore Sun, Dec. 17.]

It is understood that the illustrated papers are already making great preparations to caricature the different phases of the late trouble between Senators Gordon and Conkling. Some gentlemen who affect to be au fast in the code are rather loud in expressing their dissatisfaction, at the termination of the affair. They say that after the expression of Gen. Gordon, "This will be settled outside," and the reply made by Mr. Conkling, there could be but one proper outcome, an exchange of shots. It is hoped that the disappointment experienced by these gentlemen will not impair their health. As already said, it is not believed that Gen. Gordon would have sent a challenge, as else, would have interfered to prevent it. Some Georgia gentlemen say that Mr. Toombs will take hold of the subject and endeavor to make capital against Gen. Gordon in Georgia so as to defeat his re-election to the Senate. But if Mr. Toombs has no better material than this to work on, his efforts cannot amount to much. The task of arranging the difficulty between the two Senators was found to be somewhat embarrassed on account of statements made in the sensational papers. Mr. Conkling particularly was restive under the position in which he had been placed by one of the publications,

Charge Not Sustained.

Eliza Jones, colored, was arrested by Constable Bunting, yesterday, on the charge of stealing a butter knife and a silver spoon and fork, the property of Laura Williams, also colored. A search warrant was issued by Justice Hall, at the instance of the said Laura Williams, armed with which the officer proceeded to search the premises of Eliza Jones, but was unable to discover any of the missing articles. The charge was investigated by Justice Hall, however, and resulted in the prosecutor being required to pay the costs.

The Proposed Duplin Branch Canal | Mayor's Court. -A Map of the Route, Together with the Country Traversed by the North East River and Its Tributarles alquis

We examined yesterday a large map or igram of the section embracing the North East River and its tributaries, and through on of which the proposed Duplin nch Canal is expected to be run. This men was gotten up by A. R. Black, Esq., of this county, at the instance of certalh gentlemen of this city, is about six feet in length to three feet in width, and is a faithful representation of the country intended to be brought to the attention of the public in connection with the proposed

We see from the map that the canal commences at Peggy's Island, about two miles below Bannerman's Bridge. The line sketched runs up the North East River on the west side, crosses the river and a double in Holly Shelter Creek, and continues by s course nearly direct along the eastern margin of Angola Bay, across the head of Gum Swamp to "Burton's Old Field," thence across the North East River and along the western margin of the river to the mouth of Goshen, a distance by the line marked out for the canal of 31 miles, but by the meanderings of the river 144 miles; shortening the distance now traversed by the course of the river 113 miles. We learn that a good deal of ton timber comes all the way to Wilmington by the river from the mouth of Goshen.

We were forcibly struck with the representations of the country given on the map, and with the descriptions by Mr. Black The swamps are shaded in their exact proportions and constitute a marked feature They are described as very rich. It is estimated that if the rich swamps of Duplin county were layed down in one body, they would constitute a belt of swamp one mile wide by seventy miles long. The growth in the swamps is mostly cypress, black | ceived information that Hall was the pergum, sweet gum, white oak and ash. It petrator of the robbery on that occasion. is contended that the Duplin Canal will aid the drainage of all the swamps in Duplin county, except two small ones west of the

The uplands of Duplin are generally clay subsoils, and produce fine crops. No lands in the State are better adapted to improvement, and, with the abundance of muck and marl interspersed throughout the county, almost every foot of them may be made rich. The canal, when construct ed, if it accomplishes what is claimed for it, and we believe it will, will enable the people of Duplin to drain their swamps. We can see no reason why a perfect "tidal wave" of prosperity may not follow immediately upon the completion of the canal. There are still large bodies of piney lands in all this region, and naval stores will contribute a large proportion of freight for

Wilmington ought to feel deeply interested in this enterprise. We know of no region of country of such varied and wonderful resources whose commercial advantages can be commanded with so small an outlay of means. Just think of what 31 miles of canal through a level country will accomplish for Wilmington. We find Goldsboro 30 miles from the upper end of the canal, Kinston 25, and Newbern

56. Wilmington, then, by means of the canal, might expect to divide trade with these places, at 15 miles to Goldsboro, 12 to Kinston, and 25 to Newbern. The trade from this scope of country will come to Wilmington just as sure as the waters of Northeast river flow towards the ocean.

The canal is not a work of doubtful expediency for Wilmington. It will not run the products of the country away from her, but it will pour all the treasures of this fine section into her lap.

We are pleased to see that some of our enterprising citizens are putting the ball in motion and we hope to see it suon roll on to abundant success.

Store Robbery. Thieves made a raid Wednesday night upon the store of Mr. Wessell, on North Water street, having through some means effected an entrance through the rear door, which was found open vesterday morning. Mr. W. states that the robbers succeeded in carrying off about $100 worth of groceries of various descriptions, and about $25 in money, which had been left in the drawer. No clue to the perpetrators of the theft, who no doubt embraced the occasion to furnish themselves with the requisites for a good old-fashioned Christ-Pender Superior Court, Pender Superior Court was engaged yesterday in trying the case of Joe Williams, colored, charged with firing a crib, removed from Duplin. Solicitor Norment, who had arrived from Robeson, prosecuted for the State, assisted by Mr. Stallings, while the Messrs. Kerr, of Sampson, Kornegay, of Duplin, and Col. W. S. Devane, of this city, appeared for the defence. The case had not been concluded when our informant left. The case of the State vs. Moore, removed from this county, has been continued for the term.

Gen. M. P. Taylor has received a letter from Adjutant General Jones, stating that the order for the officers of the Second Regiment N. C. State Guard to meet at Goldsboro was a misprint, Wadesboro being intended as the place of meeting, and January 10th the time. We gave the correction in our State column a few days since, but repeat it here in order that there may be no misapprehension in reference to the matter. The meeting is for the election of officers, rendered necessary by the recent promotion of Gen. Taylor.

Henry Hall, a dilapidated colored individual, was next called up on the charge of attempting to steal cetton from the British barque North Carolina, lying at anchor in the stream. The evidence was to the effect that he went out to the ship in a canoe about half past 10 o'clock on Wednesday night, and passed up five empty bags to a white boy on the vessel; that the hatch was then opened by the two, the bags filled with loose cotton, and Hall was in the act of taking it ashore, when he was arrested by Capt. Buchan and handed over to the police, who locked him up in the guard house. Capt. B. stated that he had a lot of cotton stolen from him on the night of the 25th of November, and he has since re-The case was finally continued over, at the instance of the defendant, until this morning, in order to allow him the opportunity to procure the attendance of certain wit-

MR. EDITOR: Will you allow me space in your paper to correct an error into which your "Spirits Turpentine" has inadvertently fallen regarding the Oxford Orphan Asylum, and which is calculated in its present shape to work the institution harm? The article clipped from the Orphan's Friend is as follows: "The Superintend the Orphan Asylum was released by did Orphan Asylum was re-elected, but did not accept the office, and so prompfly noti-fied the Grand Master. Mr. Moore gets his place, with salary reduced, but an easy place." It is true Mr. Mills did not accept the Superintendency for the current year, but he is still (at our solicitation) holding the position, and probably will continue so to do till an equally competent person can be found to fill the place. Mr. Moore has not, to our knowledge, succeeded him. If he has been installed in the place, it has been done without any authority and upon a responsibility I know Mr. Mills would not personally assume. I therefore conclude that the last paragraph of your quotation has by the typo of the Orphan's Friend been transferred from some other article intend-

Mayor Dawson had him before yesterday morning a young colored man by the name of Lewis Green, who acts in the capacity of a clerk for a colored man who keeps an eating saloon at the foot of the market. It Ladies' and Gents' Linen Hdk'fs. appears that it is the custom for parties to call at the saloon at an early hour in the morning to get hot coffee, etc., before they go to their work. Yesterday morning, about 5 o'clock, two or three men called for that purpose, and aroused Green, who was asleep inside the saloon, when he opened upon them with a tirade of abuse, cursing the men and threatening to cut their hearts out, make daylight shine through them, make mince meat of them, and go through other such performances, talking and acting in such a boisterous manner that policeman G. W. Davis, who was on his beat near the Manning House, heard the disturbance, and went and arrested Green, and took him to the guard house. Several witnesses testified to the facts as detailed above, and policeman Davis stated that Green was generally disorderly and obstreperous upon the least occasion, and the officers had a good deal of trouble with him. The Mayor sentenced him to be confined in a cell on bread and water until the 3rd day of January, 1878.
