

Wilmington. He was born in this city on the 1st of March, 1807, and at the time of his death was the oldest native citizen of Wilmington.

@1 521.

He graduated at Chapel Hill, and with distinction, in a class that numbered among its members many who have since attained national reputa-L tions, and embracing the profession of the law, sprang at once into a large and lucrative practice. Of a modest and retiring disposition, he shrank from the turmoils of political lifethey were repugnant to his tastes and temperament-and devoted him self entirely to the laborious duties of his profession. He possessed great powers of application and untiring industry, which enabled him to master any subject to which his faculties were directed. His mind was more solid than brilliant-more practical than imaginative-hence he was a better counsellor than advocate.

Though making no pretensions to oratory, yet his efforts before a jury were always able and effective. He was the Nestor of the Wilmington bar, so universally respected by his brethren that his advice was asked not only by the young and inexperienced, but also by the old and grave, who valued most highly his wisdom and learning.

He was for many years Chairman of the County Court under the old regime, and upon the death of his brother, the late Dr. Thomas H. Wright, was elected President of the Bank of Cape Fear, in which position he displayed great ability not only as a financier, but also as a prudent and sagacious man of business.

While others sought fame on the hustings, or, in the halls of legislation, he found his pleasure in the discharge appointed by North Carolina, his of his professional duties, and could native State, a special commissioner not be induced to enter the stormy to the exposition. not be induced to enter the stormy sea of politics. While absent from the city, he was elected, in 1865, @ member of the Convention which was called immediately after the promulgation of the Provisional Government of North Carolina, and few members of that body exercised a more wholesome influence in its deliberations than he. This was the only occasion that he ever Extremiet Views. Washington Special to Baltimore Sun, May 13th.

Some of the more extreme mem bers who have from the first been clamoring for an investigation are already saying that if the next House s carried on the issues to grow out of the investigation when Congress comes back in December, the present House will refuse to recognize Mr. Haves or his administration, and will notify him to get out without ceremony, or, in the words of Judge Blair, to take his hat and walk. There is one thing, however, which it is well for the extreme Democrats not to forget. It is of course competent for the Democratic majority of the House to conduct an investigation of the frauds of the presidential election in a manner to suit themselves. But as the House orders an investigation into one thing, the Senate may order it into another.

A Negro-Killing Policeman.

A special dispatch to the New York Times says: AND HARTSHEET,

Last Saturday night Edward Hamilton, a colored boy, aged twenty years, was whipping a negro woman on the streets of Rome, Ga., and policemen Stewart and Stroud attempted to quell the disturbance by arresting Hamilton, when he seized the club of policeman Stewart and knocked both officers down. Stewart arose, drew his pistol and fired three times at Hamilton, the balls taking effect, twice in the head and once in the stomach. Hamilton survived but a few minutes. Both policemen were seriously hurt. Stewart killed a negro in Rome in 1876 for resisting ar-

STATE POLITICS.

- If the following is not beautifully mixed, then we "gub it up." It is from the pen of a correspondent in the Danbury Reporter : "Nothing occurred more interesting than the grandeur and sublimity of its general phenomena, as it bore away fences, and demolished in its pathway the massive forests, filling the air with the revolving trunks and branches of their primitive growth." - Reidsville Times: A negro called "old Martin" tried to hang himsel this morning at the poor-house near Wentworth: he was stretched up, and in the last gasp, when Jim Luster a white boy rushed up and cut him down. — We like P. B. M., but really he ought to let Schenck alone. Three times buried the Judge has been, he now sleeps well in the dusk of e'en, stop the shrill trumpet ! its loud notes hush! the Judge is asleep under the wild rose bush.

- Raleigh Observer: The ladies of the Memorial Association have written to Mr. A. M. McPheeters, asking him to use his kind offices in getting flowers from the ladies of the city to send to Portsmouth to decorate the graves of the soldiers. For the past years Raleigh ladies have been particularly generous to their sisters of Virginia, and we ask that they will continue

This Synod embraces the whole of the State, and has twenty-four ordained ministers, nearly all of whom were in attendance. There were about twenty-five lay delegates pre-sent. The Rev. G. D. Bernheim, D. D., of Wilmington, is President of the Synod, and the Rev. L. A. Bikle, D. D., of Con-cord, is Secretary. On the Sabbath there was an immense congregation of people from almost all sections of Guilford and Alamance, and other countles. There were not less than twenty five hundred souls present.

To-morrow is Memorial Day, and Oakdale will be visited by Wilmington almost en masse, for the city mourns an undue proportion of its gallant youth, 'dead on the field of honor,' and reposing, in honored memory, in the beautiful seclusion of Oakdale." Inhuman Treatment of a Child.

A colored woman, by the name of Patience Burnett, had a hearing before Justice Wagner, yesterday morning, on the charge of maltreating a little colored child, about two years of age; a daughter of one Frank Jones. It seems that the mother of the little girl died at the poor house some months since from injuries received from an accidental burning, since which time the child has been in charge of the woman referred to. The evidence was to the effect that she not only beat the child unmercifully for one so young, but was in the habit of tying it up and leaving, it for hours at a time, and sometimes for an entire day, suspended from the joist by a rope attached to its body, so that it could just touch the floor, the little one being so weak and exhausted for a portion of the time that she would oscillate backwards and forth like a pendulum, the woman frequently chastising the child because it would not, or could not, keep on its feet. Patience Burnett was ordered to give a justified bond in the sum of $100 for her appearance at the nex term of the Criminal Court, in default of which she was committed to jail. .

County Executive Committee. According to announcement the committee met at the office of DuBrutz Cutlar. Esq., yesterday, at 4 p; m., all the members being present except those from Masonboro; Harnett and Federal Point Townships (the latter not having made an appointment). The meeting was called to order by calling DuBrutz Cutlar, Esq., to the chair, and requesting Jas. W. Collins to act as Secretary.

The chairman stated that the busines before the committee was the election of nermanent officers, and in accordance herewith the following selections were made.
