The duty of every Democrat at this time is plain: to stand by the nominees, to work for them early and late, and then to vote.

The news from Indiana is that Senator Voorhees will be his own successor. Everything is serene. Next to Hendricks he is about the best man the Democrats could send.

How the papers do get things mixed. Rev. Dr. Pritchard, of Raleigh, advocated educational barbecues. The STAR endorsed the idea, and now they will have it that Dr. P. lives in Wilmington.

The New York City Greenbackers are split up. Two sets of delegates have gone to Syracuse. Old Ben Butler declined an invitation to attend the Convention. Ben at present is going but one eye on the movement. He has the other optic fixed on the Massachusetts Democrats. He can look two ways at the same time any day The Philadelphia Press is probably slandering the Washington Post. It says Jim Anderson, the tall swearer, has become connected with that Democratic paper. If the statement is true, then how connected? We suspect he will be put on the interviewers' staff. We have seen some things in the Post that Jim might have written. Be it known that Jim got his newspaper training in a Republi-

The Military and Other Excursionists from Charlotte.

The regular train on the Carolina Central Railway, yesterday morning, brought down quite a large number of excursionial from Charlotte. It was found at the last moment that many of the military, who were expecting to join in the excursion which was given under the auspices of the Charlotte Grays, were unable to leave their business just at this time, and consequently very few-some twelve or fifteen of the Grays, and two or three of the Hornets' Nest Riflemen-were enabled to visit us on this occasion. A goodly number of citizens, however, swelled the crowd of excursionists to respectable dimensions. Many of these visited the different sounds yesterday in carriages and ambulances, while others luxuristed in the pleasant and invigorating breezes of the city, little less agreeable and healthful than those inhaled on the banks which are lapped by the waves of the ocean at Wrightsville and Masonboro'.

To-day the excursionists take a trip down the river on the steamer Passnort, which they had previously chartered for the occasion, and expect to visit Smithville, the forts and other points of interest at the F WORL BEICE

The Tuscaloosa (Ala.) Gazette has the following: "The Commencement Sermon at the University of Alabama was preached in the Presbyterian Church by Rev. Joseph R. Wilson, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Wilmiggton, N. C., on the 30th ult. We congratulate the many hearers of this noble sermon, which all must have enjoyed, and from which many, we trust, have derived profit. The admirable clearness and simplicity of the style, which left nothing to be desired in that direction, had nothing bald or jejune about it. Rich in thought, rich in seasonable reference to the men and the facts of the times, the discourse was a frank and most kindly presensation to our young men of that which is worth aspiring after in life."
