A mistake. Jeemes has never been Governor, but would like to be, or words to that effect. He is a "rouser" on the stump though.

The New York trade outlook is thus described on September 16: The week opens with quiet markets and without noticeable change in values. The merchants generally report a fair degree of activity in the leading lines of merchandise, and that the fall trade thus far is pulling up to reasonable anticipations.

The Demecratic Committee of the Second Congressional District met at Goldsboro on Tuesday. It was determined to hold a District Convention at Goldsboro on October 1st, 1878, and the Executive Committee of each county is requested to call a mass meeting for each county to select delegates. That really looks like business.

To show something of the importance of Wilmington as a commercial city, we mention that sixteen vessels and steamers arrived on Monday. ability, his plan being to combine in There are now lying in the river no less than forty-two barques and brigs. A very noticeable feature is the number of large vessels among them. Such a number of vessels of such large tonnage is unusual at this season. The commercial importance of Wilmington is steadily increasing. North Carolinians ought to take more interest in its growth than is manifested. The Legislators of the State should do all they can to foster the commerce of our little city.

It also sanctions the suggestion of the STAR, that Gov. Vance appoint a day of fasting and prayer.

An Alleged Mad Dog. Mr. Richard Price, corner of Front and Queen streets, says he killed a veritable mad dog on Tuesday afternoon. The animal, which was frothing at the mouth with his eyes as green as a cucumber, dashed backward and forth through the house, chasing the children, who succeeded in getting out of the way, and seizing Mrs. Price by the skirts of her dress and giving them a shake, but luckily not reaching her person, when he was finally dispatched by Mr. Price with an axe handle. The dog was a large one, and his carcass was removed yesterday morning at the instance of Health Officer James.

Of this troupe, which gives a performance in this city on Saturday evening next, the 21st instant, at the Opera House, the Richmond Dispatch says:

"Emerson's California Minstrels made their first appearance in Richmond last night before a splendid audience, many of whom were ladies. Taken as a whole, the company is, perhaps, the best troupe of travelling minstrels that has ever visited the city. Signor Abecco's harp solo was very fine, and he was compelled to respond to an encore. Smith, Waldron, Morton and Martin-the original "Big Four"- in their songs, dances, and sketches, delighted the audience. They surpass anything of the kind ever seen here before. Billy Emerson s all that his friends claim him to be. He has few equals as a character delineator. In short, it is a first-class company, and deserves the patronage of our people.

Grand Concert-Benefit Yellow Fever

Rarely have we seen so large an audience assembled in Wilmington as was at the Opera House last evening. The object to which the proceeds of the entertainment were to be devoted, as well as the reputation of the director and several of those taking part, combined to draw an unusually large crowd, which was quite demonstrative in its expressions of approval.

The absence from the city of several of Wilmington's most distinguished lady vocalists was offset by the presence of Mrs. J. W. Cameron, of Savannah, the fortunate pos sessor of a charming mezzo-soprano voice, which completely captivated her auditors upon her first appearance. Under Prof. Van Laer's skilled and experienced direction it is needless to say that everything passed off evenly and smoothly, reflecting great credit on all concerned in its undertaking and realizing a handsome sum towards relieving the suffering in the cities infected with the plague.

The Concert was opened with a lively selection by the Cornet Concert Club, which was given in a manner becoming its previous reputation, followed by the brillian rendition of Mendelsohn's celebrated "Wedding March," by Misses L. and J. Atkinson, Empie and Hahr. The blending of the harmony in "Drifting With the Tide" was perfect. Its rendition by Messrs. Bradley, Myers (R. C.), Welsh and Rankin so pleased the audience that they were compelled to reappear.

The solos, the "Old Sexton," by Mr. Geo. Myers, and "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," by Mr. M. F. Manning, were well rendered and heartily applauded by the audience. Mr. Nathan Mayer's solo, "Good Bye Sweetheart," drew forth well merited applause on account of its pleasing rendi-

The duo "Radiense," by the Misses At kinson, was well received and skilfully performed.

The comic solos of Messrs. Myers and Welsh were enthusiastically received, both eliciting prolonged applause and being compelled to respond to hearty encores. Mr. Welsh has certainly a fine talent in the comic line, and richly deserved the demon stration he received.

The quartette, consisting of Messrs. Robinson, Welsh, Tilley and Manning, sang "Moonlight on the Lake" in perfect harmony, well sustained throughout, enchanting the audience with the delicious concord of sweet sounds.

Miss Hahr played her solo with her accustomed case. She is a talented pianiste and great favorite with concert goers.

Mr. and Mrs. Juo. E. Lippitt are, and have been, always great favorites, and we hope the warm reception given them last night will induce them to favor us oftener in such entertainments. Certainly no pieces on the programme were better received than the duets given by them. The last mention, but by no means the least, that we are permitted to make, is of the prima donna of the evening, Mrs. J. W. Cameron, of Savannah. Her voice is certainly remarkable, the whole register being perfectly equalized. She takes the highest notes with perfect ease, and her people at the Opera House this (Thursday) singing is absolutely grand. She puts her whole soul into the music, and sings with feeling and expression unsurpassable. We cannot praise too highly her artistic and brilliant music. We trust we may ere long again have an opportunity of hearing her. She will always be enthusiastically welcomed by a Wilmington audience.

Owing to the lateness of the hour at which the performance closed, no adequate idea could be formed as to the net receipts. but judging by the crowd in attendance they can not fall far short of three hundred dollars, which successful result we feel assured will amply repay all concerned for the trouble and labor expended.

The pianos used were kindly loaned by Mr. P. Heinsberger.

Considering the numerous difficulties attending the project, and its successful carrying out, the result should be extremely gratifying to those originating and ditition would be pleasing to the public.
