Insane Asylum.

The Board of Directors of the Insane Asylum met at Raleigh on last Wednesday. The following members were present, as we learn from the Raleigh Observer:

Dr. E. Burke Haywood, Chairman; Dr. J. T. Leach, Julius Lewis, A. M. McPheeters, Dr. S. G. Ward, Rev. Dr. B. Craven, Col. Jas. G.

Burr, Major C. Dowd, and Col. J. S. The Superintendent's report was submitted, and one thousand copies ordered to be printed. The report of the Treasurer, E. B.

Haywood, was submitted, and adopted as satisfactory. The special attention of the Board was called to the imperfect ventillation of the institution and the necessity of having it remedied, as the health and comfort of the patients depended upon it. Dr. E. Burke Haywood was re-elected President of the Board of Directors for the next twelve months. A. W. Haywood was elected Secre, veral robberies have been committed in the affidavits of plaintiffs to the suit.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The President's Views as to the Southern Outrages-His Information to be Called for-Michigan made Solid Republican by Fraud. [Special dispatch to Baltimore Sun.]

Washington, December 6.-Very few Southern members of Congress have so far called at the White House. To such as have made their appearance there the President has intimated that he entertains the most kindly feeling for the South, and has a lively interest in its prosperity. He considers that the language which he used in his message, as appplied to Southern politics, was very mild under all the circumstances, and that he was only fulfiling his constitutional duty in calling the attention of pants in one way or another. Congress to what he can only look upon as violations of the constitution and the laws. He says that he could not be expected to remain silent when in his belief the laws which he was sworn to execute have been disregarded. He says, as he has several times before remarked, he does not impute any want of good faith to either Governor Nicholls or Governor Hampton. Some of the Southern members have intimated to the President that it would be proper for him to furnish a detailed statement of the information on which he bases his views, and the probability is that a resolution will be introduced into one or both houses asking him to do so. It is believed to be absolutely true, as has been several times stated, that the only basis for the charges against the States of Louisiana and South Carolina rests upon the unsupported declarations of men who have long since forfeited all claims to respect, upon anonymous letters, and upon the manufactured dispatches which have been sent from this point by partisan correspondents. HOW MICHIGAN WAS SOLIDIFIED. Gen. A. S. Williams, the only Democratic member from Michigan, was, as will be recollected, defeated for re-election. Mr. Zachariah Chandler, who left here in the summer with the boast that he intended to send a solid Republican delegation from Michigan, made a most tremendous fight against Gen. Williams. Money was used without stint, as were all other means available to able and unscrupulous politicians. The Republican plan of campaign in his and other districts in Michigan will be brought to the attention of Mr. Blaine's investigating committee when its gets to work. Proof is said to be ready of the intimidation of 2,-500 voters in Gen. Williams' district alone. It is said, by the way, that Gen. Williams will be a candidate for Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate.

Vinegar. Mr. J. E. Flowers, of Fayetteville, who arrived here from Point Caswell on the steamer North East, last night, brought for our inspection a huge snake-skin, which he says was found a few days since in the bottom of a vinegar barrel. The vinegar was purchased in this city about three or four years ago by Mr. James Shoard, and subsequently sold, with the balance of his stock. to Mr. Jno. W. Tippitt, at Beattey's Bridge, about ten miles above Point Caswell. In a country neighborhood a barrel of vinegar lasts a long time, and the one in question never gave out until a few days ago, as above stated. The barrel was then purchased by Mr. J. B. Gaylor, who wanted it to put beer in, and upon knocking out the head of the barrel the snake skin was discovered in the bottom of it, together with a kind of jelly, about three inches in depth, in which upon examination, was found some of the bones of the snake. The vinegar, as it got towards the bottom of the barrel, had to be strained before it could be used. The skin, as it appeared to us, being in several pieces, was about six feet in length and four inches in diameter, but Mr. Flowers said a portion of it was missing. The vinegar is said to have "soured" on some of the residents at the bridge since they have found out about the "seasoning" it contained, which certainly could not have added materially to the pleasantness of the flavor. The question is, how did the snake get into the barrel? Dr. Simpson and several other gentlemen have advanced their various theories on Another Case of Burglary and Rob-Yesterday morning, about half past 2 o'clock, the residence of Mr. A. V. Sikes, on Seventh, between Market and Dock streets, was burglariously entered. It appears, judging from the tracks, that the thief entered the premises through the gate and first went to the bed-room window, which happened to be fastened down so that he could not move the sash. He next tried the dining-room window, where he was more successful, and was enabled to remove the sash, which was taken out entirely and placed upon the ground. He then effected an entrance, opened a door leading into the passage, and from thence passed into the bed-room, where he got a pair of pants belonging to Mr. Sikes, the pockets of which contained a pocket-book, with about seventy cents in money therein, a foot-rule and a bunch of keys, including Mr. S.'s trunk and tool chest keys. About the time he secured the pants the house dog discovered and made a furious assault upon the thief, who made his escape in short order, closely pursued by Mr. Sikes, who had been aroused by the noise made by the dog, but who was unable to get a shot at the fellow with the revolver which he hastily

During vesterday intelligence was lodged at police headquarters that a pair of pants, containing an empty pocket-book and a foot-rule, had been found in the yard of a gentleman living on Dock, between Seventh and Eighth streets, who had not heard of the theft. A messenger was immediately dispatched for the pants, but they had in the meantime disappeared, and the gentleman alluded to could give no further information about them. The thief was no doubt disappointed in the contents of the pocket-book.

Meeting of the Wilmington Bar. Shortly after the Superior Court convened, yesterday morning, Hon. George Davis suggested to His Honor, Judge Mc-Koy, the propriety of adjourning the Court in order to afford the members of the bar present an opportunity of taking suitable proceedings in regard to the death of the late Hon, Hugh Waddell.

The Court was thereupon adjourned whereupon, on motion of Mr. Davis, Hon. R. S. French was called to the chair, and DuBrutz Cutler, Esq., appointed Secretary.

On motion, the Chairman appointed a committee of five members of the bar ,viz: M. London, Esq., Hon. Ed. Cantwell, Maj. D. J. Devane, Maj. C. M. Stedman and Hon. D. K. McRae, to draft resolutions touching the death of Mr. Waddell, and to report to an adjourned meeting of the bar, to be held on Friday morning next, at 10 o'clock.

It | ing to colder northwesterly winds, and fallwas found to be in the Fifth fire district, ing, followed by rising barometer. the flames issueing from the roof of the residence of Mr. H. Marcus, on Second. between Dock and Orange streets. The engines got to work as soon as possible after the alarm was given, having to get water from the river, and soon had the fire under control, although it had seemed almost impossible to save the building before they got their streams upon it. The fire originated in the roof of the house, which was covered with tin, and is thought to have been caused either by a defect in the chimney, or by a spark finding its way through some slight opening in the tin. Only two of the younger members of Mr. Marcus family were in the house, the rest being absent from the city, including Mr. M. himself. They were awakened by some one attempting to burst the door open. The house was a large frame building, and was insured for $4,000 in the Hamburg-Bremen, represented by Messrs. J. W. Gordon & Bro. The furniture, which was all saved, though much of it in a damaged condition, was insured in the same company for $800. The upper part of the building on the west side was badly damaged by fire, and the remainder of it was much injured by water. The exarrived at just now.

The fire department deserve great credit for their successful efforts in stopping the fire and for the perfect manner in which everything was managed.

Fortunately, soon after the fire broke out the wind lulled somewhat.

Life's Vicissitudes-Facts and Reminiscenses. There is an invalid lady in this city, be ween seventy and eighty years of age, who has never seen a railroad, although living almost in sight of one. The last time she was down the street "shopping" the Court House stood in the centre of the thoroughfare at the intersection of Front and Marintersection of Second and Market streets, in the vicinity of what was then called "Mud Market." She purchased her goods of old Mr. "Sandy" Anderson, otherwise Alexander Anderson, the father of our esteemed fellow-townsmen, Dr. A. E. Anderson and Mr. James Anderson, now among our oldest and most prominent citizens, whose store was on the north side of Market, between Front and Water streets. The only other store she remembers as being in existence at that time, which was in the neighborhood of forty years ago, was the one kept by Mr. John Dawson, on the northeast corner of Front and Market streets. For about twenty-five years during this interval she was confined to her bed. and is now unable to leave her room. It would be impossible to give even a faint idea of the many changes that have taken place during the period that has elapsed since our lady friend went on that shopping expedition, and if she could now be enabled to thread our busy thorough fares a strange land."

Still Another Robbery. Yesterday morning, at 2 o'clock, the in mates of Captain Jesse Fulcher's residence. on Castle, between Front and Second streets, were aroused by one of the members of the family giving alarm of the presence of a colored man in one of the bed rooms. The discovery of the intruder caused his instant retreat down one of the stairways, and, we regret to say, he escaped through the front door without the least difficulty. If known he has not been identified, though steps are in progress which may lead to his capture.

It is almost certain that the robber entered the premises by a rear door, on the first floor, which was not locked, and he must have been in the house some time before the sleepers awoke and discovered him His early but unceremonious adventure resulted in the capture of $8 or $10 in money, which he extracted from the pockets of two gentlemen, though the dusky invader had partially arranged for a much more successfulfeat. Pantaloons, coats, vests, etc., were discovered in different parts of the residence, folded as carefully as if the thief expected to make his fortune by establishing a country clothing store. It was his misfortune to be discovered too soon for full success, and he should by all means return and complete the raid.

Burglary and Attempted Robbery. On Sunday morning, between 6 and o'clock, a burglarious entrance was made into the residence of Mr. J. W. Rowell, on Fifth, between Dock and Orange streets. Mr. R. (her husband being absent) heard the thief when he entered a window opening intofthe parlor from an alley, and the noise she made caused him to beat a precipitate retreat. Upon going into the parlor she found the window raised, and a "saw-horse" standing under it, upon which the burglar had stood to conduct his operations and effect an entrance. Nothing was missing, as the thief had no time to discovered.
