

New York mercantile and shipping men will oppose the proposition to establish a National Sanitary Bureau, which is to control quarantine. Memonals are already circulating.

John Blaine Scribner, of the well known firm of Charles Scribner's Sons, died in New York of pneumonia. The publishers have held a meeting and passed resolutions conceruing the deceased.

Here is what the New York Herald says of Judge Settle. It would be hard to find those "ex-rebel soldiers" unless you take Mosby, Longstreet and "sich:"

"Several ex-rebel soldiers say that Grant can carry Georgia, Florida, Louisiana and both the Carolinas in 1890 if Tom Settle, of North Carolina, is on the ticket with him. They have a growing respect for Grant."

That Wisconsin Bragg caused Representative Ellis, of La., to retort in a manner that Democrats do not approve of. Bragg made an insolent speech that was well calculated "to rile" sensitive men of the South. Blackburn, of Ky., and Gen. Chal. mers, of Miss., also went for Bragg. It is enough to be goaded by Conger and such horn-tooters of the Radical camp, without being insulted by uoisy Democrats.

Minnie Hauck, the gifted prima donna, is a child of the South. She was born in New Orleans. And bright little Genevieve Rogers is Southern born, too, and Louisville is the place of her nativity. Mary Anderson was not exactly born in Louisville (but California), but she came to Louisville when only six months old, and has lived there ever since. Her father was a Confederate captain, and died for the Lost Cause. And then there is Bangs. But we will be hanged if we put him in such good company.

Savannah, thought Bangs a great actor. We are glad to know that Wilmington did not. Keene is incomparably his superior. -WIL. STAR. We think like Savannah. Bangs is undoubtedly a second Forrest in Virginius, anyhow.—Portsmouth Daily

More Thieving.

The devil seems to have beec turned oose in the neighborhood of Farmer's Turnout, and our Columbus county friends should endeavor to harness him. A few days ago-last Sunday-some rogues stole two shotes; about twenty yards of jeans, broke into a bank of potatoes and carried off a quantity-all the property of Mr. Lawson K. Skipper, who resides within one mile of the point indicated. Thursday night, between dark and bedtime, fourteen yaids of jeans were cut from the loom, and a few dozen eggs, a number of small household articles, and one hundred and twentyfive pounds of bacon were spirited away from the residence and smoke-house of the same gentleman.
